

RICHARDSON TO START WORK ON

DUPLICATE AT ONCE

No Humane, Progressive, Educational Functions to Be Harmed, He Says.

Governor-elect Friend W. Richardson left San Francisco for Sacramento yesterday to start work on the budget, without, he said, inflicting any humane, progressive or educational state functions.

Next week he will go to Los Angeles, where a big reception will be held in his honor.

"State employees doing necessary and useful work need have no fear, but political parasites have great cause for alarm," he said.

Before leaving for Sacramento the governor-elect said in a formal statement:

The result of the election yesterday proves that the people of California want a business administration of state affairs and that they are tired of extravagance, waste and machine politics.

I made my campaign solely on the issue of economy with efficiency and refused to be sidetracked by minor issues.

The attempt to raise a religious issue was futile as the people of this state are free from religious bigotry and hatred and refused to be led astray by politicians seeking to hold their jobs.

My campaign was a clean one, free from any personalities. I presented my candidacy to the people on my record in office and on the issue.

The women of California rallied to my support because they stand for economy in government, for law respect and law enforcement, and because they are always right when a moral issue is involved.

Those who would nullify the constitution have been defeated as have those who believe in government for the office-holding class.

As the Republican nominee I received the support of Republicans generally and am grateful for that support. I am also grateful to many Democrats and non-partisans who supported me.

But the election is over and I propose to set to work at once to make good on my pledges. I can and will save the people millions of dollars without in the least said, inflicting any humane, progressive or educational state functions.

State employees doing necessary and useful work need have no fear, but political parasites have great cause for alarm. I will have no need for a political machine as I have no concern as to my own political future. The governor is the business executive of the state and I propose to do my best to give the people a just, economical, efficient, progressive and business administration.

I propose to surround myself with men and women who are competent regardless of political influence.

I am grateful to the loyal friends who supported me and to the thousands of voters who did not know me personally, but had confidence in me, approved my issue and voted for me.

San Benito Returns

Are Sent in Early

HOLLISTER, Nov. 9.—Complete returns from the twenty-eight precincts in San Benito county gave a majority of votes to Richardson, Senator Johnson, Lieutenant Governor Young and the county elementary vote to Unopposed county officials. The election was the quietest in the history of the district. There were only two contested local offices, Frank McLaughlin, war veteran, defeating

Results Throughout Nation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(C. D. Hill, Democrat, seemed assured of Miles Polinder's seat in the United States Senate. Latest returns from 3247 precincts out of 3280. Further reports are not likely to reduce Hill's lead materially.

ALASKA. JUNEAU, Nov. 9.—(United Press).—Sufficient election returns are in to assure the re-election of Dan Sutherland, Republican candidate for delegate to congress over his Democratic opponent, Z. J. White, by a large majority. Republicans are leading in the races for the state territorial legislature.

DELAWARE. WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 9.—The Republican state committee of Delaware today was expected to ask for a recount in the contest for the United States Senate because of the small margin of vote.

THOMAS F. BAYARD, Democrat held over the Republican incumbent, T. Coleman Dupont. With the complete but unofficial returns showing a majority of only 563 votes for Bayard, the Dupont forces last night refused to concede the election.

PENNSYLVANIA. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—(United Press).—Pennsylvania's Republican governor-elect planned to slip out of the city for a few days rest and to study plans for a new budget and for a state government reorganization scheme to be presented to the legislature.

Late returns indicated Pinchot's plurality, was increasing as remote regions of the state were heard from. Figures received from 75% of the 921 districts in the state gave him 795,069 votes to 733,577 for John A. McSparran his Democratic opponent, a lead of 255,492.

Major David A. Reed, Republican, elected to the United States Senate, for the full term beginning next March, led his Democratic opponent, Judge Samuel E. Shull, by 359,049 votes in 1299 of the districts. The figures were: Reed, 747,729; Shull, 388,680.

George Wharton Pepper, Republican present United States Senator, who was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Boies Penrose, had a lead of 331,221 over Fred R. Kerr, the Democratic candidate in returns from 734 districts. The figures were: Pepper, 733,477; Kerr, 402,256.

Unofficial returns indicated that the Democrats gained six congressional seats in Pennsylvania, giving them a delegation of seven and the loss of one seat and increased their representation in the legislature.

MINNESOTA. ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 9.—Rev. O. J. Kvale of Benson, Minn., elected over Congressman Volstead in the Seventh district, is pastor of a Norwegian Lutheran church in that town. He received the endorsement of the Farmer-Labor and Democratic district conventions. Prohibition was not an issue.

Only one congressional seat in Minnesota was undecided today—that in the Eighth district, where Representative Oscar C. Larson, Republican, was leading William L. Carsen, Democrat, with slightly more than half the district heard from.

MICHIGAN. DETROIT, Nov. 9.—The Democratic successes in Michigan appeared even more pronounced today, belated returns showing that, in addition to electing a senator, a member of the House of Representatives and five members of the legislature, the party had gained ground in numerous counties of the state. In several instances the majority of the county electors went to Democrats for the first time in history.

The big fight, however, was centered in the senatorial contest and the victory by 15,000 votes of Woodbridge N. Ferris, former governor, over Senator Charles E. Townsend, was looked upon by Democratic leaders as the outstanding result.

Throughout the campaign Ferris brought the Newberry matter to the fore, declaring it was the "big issue in Michigan" and that in his election Michigan voters could purge themselves of Newberryism. Whether the party elected planned to raise the issue in Washington was not definitely known today. He had been quoted as saying that if elected he might repeat the Newberry case in the Senate.

OKLAHOMA. OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press).—

OKlahoma will send seven Democrats and one Republican to Congress, it was indicated today. Democrats wrested four congressional seats from Republicans.

OHIO. COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press).—The complete unofficial vote for the United States senator as tabulated by the Associated Press at 1:15 p. m. showed Congressman Simon D. Pess, republican, of Yellow Springs, to have defeated Senator Atlee Pomerene, democrat, of Canton, by 52,018 votes.

A. V. Donahay, democrat, of New Philadelphia, was elected governor of Ohio by a majority of 16,230 votes over Carl A. Thompson, republican, of Cleveland. The complete unofficial vote for governor, was:

Thompson 800,734
Donahay 816,964
The complete unofficial vote for senator was:

Pess 789,388
Donahay 737,359
The returns showed a majority of 161,029 against the proposed constitutional amendment to legalize the sale of light wines and beer.

NORTH DAKOTA. FARGO, N. D., Nov. 9.—With the election of Lynn J. Frazier, republican, non-partisan League governor of North Dakota, to the United States Senate, claimed by the Fargo Courier-News, J. F. T. O'Connor, Democrat, his opponent, had a lead of about 7000 votes when tabulation of returns was resumed today.

O'Connor has held a good lead in returns reported from the cities and the eastern part of the state, but this dropped sharply from 15,000 yesterday to 7000 last night and on this basis the Courier-News predicted victory for Frazier with an estimated majority of about 15,000.

Governor R. A. Nestos, republican, whose re-election has been conceded by the league, had a safe lead this morning.

North Dakota will retain its present house members in congress. O. B. Bartness was unopposed and George M. Young and J. H. Sinclair were leading their opponents by margins considered safe on incomplete returns.

UTAH. SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 9.—United States Senator W. H. King has been re-elected over Ernest Bramberger, Republican, on the basis of unofficial returns.

Early this morning King's majority will be between 300 and 400 votes. Only one precinct remains to be heard from, which could not change the final result. Don B. Colton, in the First district, and E. O. Leatherwood, in the Second district, Republicans, have been re-elected to Congress over Milton H. Welby and J. C. Dunbar, Democrats.

The state's representation in the United States senate and the house of representatives at Washington will not be changed as a result of Tuesday's election, for all incumbents were returned to office.

WISCONSIN. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press).—With more than three-fourths of the precincts from Wisconsin reported from Tuesday's election, the available figures indicate that final returns will show United States Senator Robert M. La Follette to have a majority of approximately 250,000 over his opponents, Joseph J. Hooper, independent Democrat and Adolph R. Bucknam, the prohibition candidate. Senator La Follette's vote in 1921 out of 5233 precincts was 257,823; Hooper 62,266 and Bucknam 19,768.

Governor John G. Blaine leads the Republican ticket and was elected by a vote similar to that of Senator La Follette.

KANSAS. KANSAS CITY, Kan., Nov. 9.—Returns today from Tuesday's election in Kansas indicated that Jonathan Davis, Democratic candidate for governor, would maintain his lead over W. F. Morgan. Unofficial returns from about 85 per cent of the state gave Davis a plurality of slightly more than 14,000 votes. In 2171 precincts out of 2336 Davis had 241,428 votes and Morgan 237,210.

The race for representative in Congress from the Third district appeared in doubt. Charles Stephens, Democrat, was leading W. H. Sprout, Republican, by 35 votes in 300 of the 325 precincts.

Republicans carried the other districts for representative except in the Eighth, where W. A. Ayres, Democrat, defeated Richard Bird, Republican.

All of the important state offices except governor were won by Republicans.

COLORADO. DENVER, Col., Nov. 9.—Fourteen hundred and sixty precincts out of 1846 in Colorado complete up to 10 o'clock this morning, gave, for governor, Benjamin Griffith, R., 131,928; William E. Sweet, D., 125,728.

It is very probable the remaining 25 precincts in the state will not count. The missing precincts are in remote districts and are small.

In addition to choosing three republican and one democratic congressional members, Colorado voters decisively defeated a proposal to amend the constitution to prohibit vivisection of animals. The vote was about 6 to 1.

The electors also authorized $6,000,000 of bonds for state highways and rejected a proposal for a constitutional convention.

returns by Thomas F. Bayard, Democrat, refused to concede defeat and his managers said an official recount would be sought.

By LAWRENCE MARTIN, United Press Staff Correspondent, WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Every new compilation of election returns today emphasized the sweeping character of the Democratic overturn which now appears to have equalized the Republican landslide of 1920.

Political historians pointed out today that off-year elections such as occurred Tuesday usually point the way to the political trend of the next presidential year. If that is borne out in this instance, the Democrats stand to win in 1924 by the most stupendous majorities ever polled in this country.

PROGRESSIVES ACCLAIM RESULTS AS VICTORY.

The result in both houses was hailed by progressive leaders as a victory for their principles. Progressive Republican senatorial candidates survived when other Republicans were beaten and will hold control of the Senate.

The new enlarged Progressive block in the next senate which will dictate the senate's legislative trend, will include: Borah, Idaho; Johnson, California; Brookhart, Iowa; Norris, Nebraska; La Follette, Wisconsin; Norbeck, South Dakota; Shipstead, Minnesota; Howell, Nebraska, and Ladd, North Dakota.

Similarly the House will be in the control of a small group of "radicals" representing farm and labor constituencies. Some of these were elected as Republican-Farmer-Labor candidates, some as Democrat-Farmer-Labor and some as straight Farmer-Labor. With House control swinging on a few votes, the Farmer-Labor group will be able to dominate by means of a coalition with either of the other parties.

The confusion in the House will make election of a new majority leader to succeed Representative Mondell, Wyoming, a delicate matter.

STATES DIVIDED ON WET AND DRY ISSUE.

On the wet and dry issue, the election appeared to have afforded no such clear-cut decision as it did in the makeup of Congress. Two states that voted on wet and dry questions, went not definitely—Massachusetts and Illinois. The dries favored in Ohio and the wets in California.

The Illinois vote alone of the four appeared to be a real wet victory, inasmuch as Massachusetts was not voting directly on restoring beer and wine, but merely on enforcement of the prohibition laws. Whether Illinois will actually get wetter as a result of the vote is problematical, as a court fight will follow.

The wets added to their congressional representation but apparently not as largely as they expected.

Veale Re-elected

By 1333 Majority

MARTINEZ, Nov. 9.—Final returns on the vote for sheriff in Contra Costa county show that R. R. Veale has been re-elected over Anthony Reggiardo by a majority of 1333. The vote cast in the 191 precincts was: Veale, 8938; Reggiardo, 7605.

For associate justice the vote in this county was: Kerrigan, 6263; Seawell, 7342; Shurtieff, 5634; Sloane, 3595.

Water, Power Act

Drive Is Renewed

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Rudolph Spreckels, chief sponsor of the Water and Power Act, in a statement today declared that he had abandoned the campaign, despite the defeat recorded for the measure, known as amendment number 19.

"The fight to conserve, develop and control the waters of the state," he said, "There will be no delay. It begins today."

Thank The Tribune

Editor TRIBUNE: On behalf of the Osteopathic State association, I want to register my appreciation for the fair and sure deal your paper—the Oakland TRIBUNE—gave us during this campaign. I can conceive of no paper being fairer.

At this writing I am unable to say just which way Nov. 20 will carry, but that makes no difference in your case. I am thankful, and anything I can do in the future for The Oakland TRIBUNE, command me.

Sincerely yours,

SUIT PLANNED ON OREGON'S SCHOOL ATTENDANCE ACT

Legal Battle to Be Carried to Supreme Court; Exposition Tax Levy Defeated.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 9.—A legal fight, which probably will be carried to the supreme court of the United States, will be launched shortly to test the constitutionality of the compulsory public school attendance, bill passed in Oregon at Tuesday's election.

That the bill infringes upon the private right of a parent to determine where the child will be educated and makes the child a ward of the state, is the contention of opponents of the measure. Two hundred lawyers of the state have declared it unconstitutional.

The measure is looked upon by many as the first step to abolish private elementary schools over the entire country. It was passed by about 19,000 votes. It becomes effective in September, 1923.

Passage of the bill is but one of the many upsets of the bitter religious-political fights which ever swayed the electorate at Oregon.

The upheaval swept Walter Pierce, democrat, into the governor's chair and brought about the election of Elton Watkins, democrat, to the lower house of congress over C. U. McArthur, considered a fixture at Washington.

The proposed Oregon 1927 exposition has been defeated, late returns indicate.

A majority of more than 6000 votes against the measure is shown in the latest count, with remaining upstate precincts expected to increase the negative vote. The measure provided for raising $3,000,000 by taxation of Portland property over a period of three years to hold the exposition.

Johnson and Richardson Both Praise Boynton

SENATOR HIRAM JOHNSON has issued the following statement concerning California Boynton:

"The result in California is more remarkable and gratifying when Eastern results are considered. California remains the premier progressive Republican State of the Union and our very progressivism has enabled us to continue steadfast in the varying political fortunes of other States. The great victory here is due to the ability and far-seeing wisdom of Albert E. Boynton, chairman of the Republican State committee. His poise and calmness in trying situations did much to bring about the final overwhelming result.

"California apparently stands pre-eminent in the politics of the nation today as one steadfast State, and this is due, we think, to California's progressivism.

"For myself, I am more than grateful to all the people. They have again signally honored me, with practical unanimity endorsed me. The future will show my appreciation. For the present I can only inadequately express my thanks."

Governor-elect Friend W. Richardson sent the following telegram yesterday to Albert E. Boynton, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee:

"I sincerely wish to extend to you my thanks for your support and loyalty in the campaign which has just closed so successfully. The people of California have shown by their votes that they want an economical administration and that they resent any attempts to inject a religious issue into politics. Your co-operation throughout the campaign is sincerely appreciated by me."

Vote Called Revolt Against Aristocracy

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Characterizing the result of Tuesday's election as a "revolt against landed aristocracy," Benjamin C. Marsh of Washington, D. C., managing director of the Farmers' National Council, declared here today that "farmers are joining with labor to restore the government to the people and won't stop till they have done this."

"The defeat of scores of reaction-

REED IS A 'MAN WITHOUT PARTY,' WILSON ASSERTS

Repudiated by Democrats and Elected by Republicans, Says Ex-President.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—United States Senator James A. Reed, who was re-elected for his third term in the senate in a democratic victory in Missouri yesterday, after having been repudiated by his party two years ago is "a man without a party," according to a letter from former President Woodrow Wilson made public here.

The letter, dated October 27, ten days before the election, was addressed to former Governor Len V. Stepiens, and stated that if Reed should be elected he would be in the senate "repudiated by democrats and elected above their own by republican vote."

The letter was a reply to one sent to the former president by Governor Stepiens, with the thought of informing him of the outcome of the primary.

Wilson's letter follows: "I do not think I ought to attempt any advice as to the election. I am too far away from what I may call the interior conditions of the situation. I feel besides, that leaders like yourself can be confidently counted upon to guide the loyal democrats of Missouri to the right course of action."

If Reed is returned to the senate he will, of course, be there a man without a party; repudiated by Democrats and elected above their own man by Republican votes. I should think that the usual organization of the senate would be rendered quite impossible.

If Reed is returned to the senate and the substitution of progressivism is largely due to the fury of the farmers of the west, northwest and southwest," he said, "over the criminal conspiracy of deflation carried out by the federal reserve board at the behest of the profiteers who made $2,000,000,000 net profits out of the war, or a million dollars net profit for every three boys who lost their lives during the war."

"The 1920 election was not a farmers' vote. It was a vote of the farmers who were tenants, by 1920 probably half will be tenants."

Registration Plan Beaten in Nebraska

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 9. — A law to require voters in rural districts to register for voting purposes, enacted by the last Nebraska legislature and referred for ratification or rejection in Tuesday's election, was defeated.

National Chairman G.O.P. 'Gratified'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9. (By International News Service). — Pointing out that with very few exceptions the Congress elected in 1922 has been of opposite political faith to the administration, John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee, in the first formal statement he has made since sweeping gains were made by the Democrats in Tuesday's elections, declared this afternoon that the retention of Republican control in both the Senate and House is very "gratifying."

Illinois Woman to Spurn 'Wet' Edict

CHICAGO, Nov. 9. — Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, of Downers Grove, the first and only woman elected to the Illinois legislature, let it be known today that she would not be bound by Tuesday's action of the Illinois voters approving by a large majority an amendment permitting beverages with 2% per cent alcohol. Dry leaders had urged their followers not to vote on the measure either way. She announced she would oppose any legislation attempting to enforce the mandate.

Results Satisfy Democratic Chief

SENATORIAL RACE IN WASHINGTON CLOSE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press). — Late returns from far western states early today showed the results of the vote for several important offices still in doubt. Perhaps chief interest was the close contest for senator from the state of Washington between Senator Miles Poinsett, republican, and C. C. Dill, democrat. Dill maintained a lead all day yesterday, and this morning, with 2141 precincts out of 2446 reported, he was ahead of the incumbent senator by 3126 votes. Republican headquarters refused to concede Poinsett's defeat, though admitting that the outlook was not favorable.

Candidates of the Farmer-Labor party made gains in Washington. In Pierce county, where Tacoma is located, they won six places in the legislature. One Farmer-Laborite state senator holds over.

Last returns showed the adoption of the measure in Oregon requiring children in primary grades to attend the public schools. This bill was sponsored by the Ku Klux Klan and assailed bitterly by its opponents, who said it would destroy private schools.

Pilsudski Backed For Pole President

WARSAW, Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press). — With a probable lineup in the new diet of 170 nationalists against 180 radicals and 90 non-Polish deputies, all the various parties are concentrating on the campaign for the Senate elections Sunday for on the make-up of the Senate will depend which political camp is to name the president of the republic.

The indications seem to favor the radicals, supported by the non-Polish deputies, to nominate General Pilsudski for president.

BRITISH VIEW DIVERSIFIED ON U. S. ELECTIONS

Prohibition and Tariff Generally Accepted As Cause For G. O. P. Reverses.

LONDON, Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press). — The comeback made by the Democrats in the American elections last Tuesday is explained to British readers by their papers in many ways and the speculation which the editorial writers indulge in is quite diversified. Some think the pendulum merely swung back, but others interpret the vote as revealing widespread dissatisfaction with the Harding administration and many of its works, including the tariff and the enforcement of prohibition.

Throughout England, the American elections have attracted more editorial comment than is often the case. PAYS HARDING TRIBUTE. The Times pays a tribute to the Harding administration as one which has achieved successes of which America may well be proud, notably in its eminently skillful handling of the great international congress at Washington last fall. That newspaper thinks that the violence with which the pendulum swung back may derange the Republican party machine and other mechanisms in ways wholly undesirable and unforeseen.

The Chronicle regards the Democratic victory as quite enormous and significant and ascribes the change as partly the result of a natural swing of the pendulum, partly to the "excessive application of prohibition and partly to the dissatisfaction with the supremacy of big business interests and the 'trusts'."

The Westminster Gazette derives from the election results the hope that the Americans are veering somewhat toward co-operation with the League of Nations. It thinks it hardly possible that there will be any considerable change in the attitude of the United States on this question in the immediate future. The Westminster Gazette was surprised that women candidates were so unsuccessful.

The Daily News says the turnover was due "mostly, perhaps, to the general disgust of the electorate with the failure of the Harding administration to do anything at all. It will make the already hard task of that administration still harder."

WET TRIUMPH SEEN. The Graphic sees in the election results in the United States a triumph by the anti-prohibitionists and makes of it a lesson to "the stupidity of extremists."

The Dublin Freeman's Journal says the Americans, when they were sick of Wilson and the treaty of Versailles, voted Republican to get rid of them, but they did not desire to be dosed with republicanism.

"The result has a moral for conservative politicians everywhere," the Dublin paper concludes. "They should not abuse their opportunities; once buried, policies are best left in the graveyard."

CHIROPRACTIC ACT Gains Safe Lead. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9. — The state amendment providing for a board of chiropractic examiners is leading by more than 500,000 votes, according to a statement issued today by the Northern California headquarters of the chiropractors' campaign.

Figures said to be based on returns from all over the state were: Yes, 438,326; No, 124,126. Two years ago the measure lost by 12,000 votes.

NEW DIVORCE LAWS For Nevada Beaten. RENO, Nev., Nov. 9. — Two propositions to change the divorce laws of Nevada, submitted to voters at Tuesday's election, have failed. Proposition number 2, which would have altered the residence requirement to one year, instead of six months, lost by a majority estimated at upward of 3700, and proposition number 4, which in effect ratifies the present divorce laws of the state and forbids its alteration under constitutional amendment for a period of three years is to the fore with a plurality of about 2200 votes.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets. The substitute for "calomel."

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. But what you like, 15c and 50c.—Advertisement.

GERMANY KEEPS HOPES UP STILL.

Dr. William Solf, On Way Back to Tokyo, Sees Hard Winter Ahead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The German mark has decreased in value to such an extent that the purchase of raw materials for the German factories has become very difficult, and many factories have been closed as a result, the German people remain hopeful, and are relying on their energy and spirit to surmount all obstacles. Dr. William Solf, German Ambassador to Japan, declared on his arrival at the Palace Hotel last night. Dr. Solf, who was German Minister of Colonies under Kaiser Wilhelm in 1917, is widely known as an expert on colonial matters. He also has served as minister for foreign affairs in the cabinet of Prince Max of Baden, which was formed upon the abdication of the Hohenzollerns. In November, 1918, Dr. Solf sent out several notes which were soon followed by the armistice. He commenced his official career as German Consul at Calcutta and also has served as governor of Samoa. Though Dr. Solf has just come from Germany, where he conferred with the German President and other government executives, he refused to discuss politics. He is returning to his post at Tokyo on the Tenny Maru tomorrow. Dr. Solf said he feared the coming winter would be a very hard one for the German people.

TWO HIGH-CLASS SINGERS ARE ON

TONIGHT'S LIST
TONIGHT'S LIST

Mme. Gladys Ginaca and Miss Omo Grinwood Are Among Entertainers.

Two high class singers will entertain tonight from The TRIBUNE'S radio tower, KLX, between 7 and 7:30 o'clock. Miss Omo Grinwood, popular vocal teacher at Mills College, will offer three classical numbers. She will be accompanied by Miss Nathalie Wollin. Both are known to radio fans as well as music lovers about the bay. Mme. Gladys Ginaca, coloratura soprano, who sang for The TRIBUNE'S radio audience some months ago, will follow Miss Grinwood on tonight's program with a selection from "La Boheme" and "Sunlight." In honor of Armistice week, she will conclude with the "American Marseillaise," by Felix Schreiber, local composer. This new American song was created during the war and portrays the motives and objects of America's participation and spirit in the world conflict. Mrs. Edelsa Basford, pianist of note, whose name is also well known to radio listeners-in, will accompany Mme. Ginaca. Miss Omo Grinwood will sing the "American Marseillaise" tonight at the American Legion show, Yank-ee-Parade, at the Municipal Auditorium, as one of the special features of the evening's program. Tonight's radio concert promises to be one of the best half-hours of entertainment offered on the air for a long time. The complete program will be found on this page under the "KLX" schedule.

Berkeley Hills Club To Hike Sunday

BERKELEY, Nov. 9.—The Berkeley Hills Hiking Club, the latest outdoor organization to be formed in the Bay area, will hold its first outing on Sunday according to an announcement from the office of George Hjelte, recreational supervisors of Berkeley. A preliminary organization of the club was effected Tuesday evening at a meeting at the city hall. Sunday's walk will see the permanent organization and the discussion of plans for the activities of the club. For Sunday morning's walk the Campanile has been designated as the meeting place and the hour set at 9:30 o'clock. H. C. McDonald, who will lead the club's first walk, has chosen a trail up Strawberry Canyon over the Berkeley Skyline trail to Bierce's Springs where lunch will be served. The distance is about eight miles.

S. P. Steam Trains Will Be Opposed

The operation of steam motive power by the Southern Pacific Company for the handling of freight east of Melrose will be the subject on which City Attorney Leon Gray will address the members of the Melrose Development Association tonight at the W. P. Frick School at 8 o'clock. It is held by local residents that the Southern Pacific is violating its franchise which, it is alleged, stipulates that the company shall operate freight trains with motive power other than steam, and between the hours of 8 p. m. and 5 a. m.

LESSON NO. 207
Heterodyne Reception.
(All rights reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction prohibited.)

In order to render audible, in the receiving telephone, the unmodulated continuous waves employed in radio telegraphy, it is necessary to modulate periodically the oscillations of the incoming radio waves. This is accomplished by use of the "heterodyne" principle of reception which consists in superimposing the received oscillation upon a locally generated oscillation, differing slightly in frequency, with the result that tone variations or "beats" of an audible frequency are produced in the telephone receivers.

If, for example, the incoming

signal, consisting of undamped oscillations, is so adjusted that the coupling is so adjusted that the energy fed back from the plate

having a frequency of 51,000 cycles per second, is combined with a locally generated oscillation will increase to a maximum and decrease to a minimum at the rate of 1000 times per second. In other words, a "beat" note will be produced having a frequency of 1000 cycles per second, which is within the range of frequencies capable of producing audible sounds in the receiving telephone. "Beats" of this same frequency would result if the locally generated oscillation had a frequency of 52,000 cycles per second as the difference between the two frequencies is always equal to the difference between the received and locally generated oscillations.

In the accompanying diagram, Fig. 1 shows the incoming oscillations which have a frequency above audibility and a constant amplitude of comparatively small value. Fig. 2 represents the locally generated oscillations differing slightly in frequency and having a constant amplitude of approximately three times the magnitude of the incoming signal. In Fig. 3 is illustrated the "beats" resulting from superimposing the oscillations of Fig. 1 upon Fig. 2.

These are the methods in general use for producing local oscillations; namely, the "self-heterodyne" method and the "separate heterodyne" method. It is a regenerative circuit employing "tickler"

FIRE HAZARDS IN ALL HOMES SAYS

PREVENTION HEAD
INVENTION HEAD

Jay W. Stephens Surprises Lions by Illustrations of Common Home Perils.

Jay W. Stephens, chief of fire prevention, National Board of Fire Underwriters, gave members of the Oakland Lions club some lessons in fire dangers during his talk at a luncheon at the Hotel Oakland yesterday. His talk was illustrated by a series of stereopticon slides. "I'll bet any man in this audience $100 that I could go through his home and find anywhere from one to five fire hazards," said Stephens. "We are careless because we do not know when we are endangering our homes to the hazard of fire. I dare say there are at least ten men who have put the electric light bulb in bed to warm the babe. You might do that a hundred times without danger, but you are always taking a chance. The other day a bed caught fire and burned a baby to death. DEADLY RATTLE SHOWN. "I am holding in my hand a piece of dynamite—that is, it is not dynamite; it is only a celluloid rattle, but in the hands of a baby it is as bad as a piece of dynamite. A signals can be rendered audible when the power has the value of 0.01 microhertz. This sensitivity permits the reception of signals over a wide range and due to the fact that the audible note may be varied, through adjusting the local oscillator, it is possible to eliminate to a great degree the interference from other stations. In the "Super-Heterodyne" method of reception, developed by Armstrong, the high frequency of the incoming signal is reduced to lower but inaudible frequency suitable for being amplified by a radio-frequency amplifier.

SPEEDER SAYS

"NEVER AGAIN"

"I have been out in the race for speeding the other day. I'll bet he was wild. He is a terror when his temper gets going." "No, the funny thing about it was that he didn't get mad at all. I thought he'd get purple in the face and blow out a million pieces. It didn't, though. He said he deserved it and that it was a good lesson. No more speeding for him. He hasn't driven very long, you know, and he doesn't have a lifelong habit to break." "How long was he in jail, anyway—a day or two?" "Day or two nothing. He was there ten days. And his boss, who is a crusty old bird, heard about it and cut his pay off for the entire time. That made it a doubly hard lesson for Jack to learn." "Well, that's hard luck. But I'm glad he took his medicine like a man. This speeding craze has got to be cut out one way or another. Is Jack back to work?" "Yes. I talked to him yesterday. He told me that the money he lost on his salary was just enough to buy that new suit he was going to get. I gave him a little ray of hope, though, when I told him about Cherry's at 523 Thirteenth street. He went up there and bought a suit right away on credit. Said he needed one quick to bolster up his self-respect after jail. You can buy on credit at Cherry's, you know." Cherry's store for women is at 513 Thirteenth street.—Advertisement.

while the "Westgate" remains at home to cook dinner

A wonderful servant is the Westgate! Never wants a day off! Costs only 2c an hour to operate. Requires little attention: only to be attached to the ordinary electric light socket and to have its clock wound and set. Then at the time you desire the "Westgate" begins to cook—and it cooks without burning, preserving all the flavors, keeping the food piping hot without "drying out."

A boon to housewives and business women!

because it saves time while providing better cooked food. The "Westgate" has four compartments in which may be cooked meat, vegetables and dessert.

"The Westgate" is attractive in appearance, being of Delft blue tile enamel with nickel plated trimmings. It is 30x18x18 inches and easily moved about.

Inexpensive in Cost and Upkeep

The "Westgate," considering its very excellent quality, is inexpensive. And the upkeep, when in use, is only 2c an hour.

Having a frequency of 51,000 cycles per second, is combined with a locally generated oscillation will increase to a maximum and decrease to a minimum at the rate of 1000 times per second. In other words, a "beat" note will be produced having a frequency of 1000 cycles per second, which is within the range of frequencies capable of producing audible sounds in the receiving telephone. "Beats" of this same frequency would result if the locally generated oscillation had a frequency of 52,000 cycles per second as the difference between the two frequencies is always equal to the difference between the received and locally generated oscillations.

In the accompanying diagram, Fig. 1 shows the incoming oscillations which have a frequency above audibility and a constant amplitude of comparatively small value. Fig. 2 represents the locally generated oscillations differing slightly in frequency and having a constant amplitude of approximately three times the magnitude of the incoming signal. In Fig. 3 is illustrated the "beats" resulting from superimposing the oscillations of Fig. 1 upon Fig. 2.

These are the methods in general use for producing local oscillations; namely, the "self-heterodyne" method and the "separate heterodyne" method. It is a regenerative circuit employing "tickler"

GANGES FLOODS PUT THOUSANDS OUT OF HOMES

All Records For Thirty Years
Broken By High Waters of Sacred River.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEAFED WITH TRIBUNE
CANNON, Ind., Nov. 9.—The great rise of the Ganges river, which has broken all records of the past thirty years, led to the flooding of vast districts on the Unao side. Many villages on both sides of the railway line to Unao are under water and hundreds of hamlets have been washed away. The floods are on the decline now, but the rains continue intermittently, making the lot of those rendered homeless still harder. People whose houses have been washed away have taken shelter in neighboring villages, and some have been accommodated in railway cars. Virtually all the villages situated along the banks of the Ramganga river have been inundated. Houses and cattle have been washed away, and standing crops ruined.

In some places, the rise of the river was so sudden that people who were in the fields tending their cattle or crops were cut off. Many were compelled to take refuge in trees until the floods subsided. Others were rescued by relief parties. Planks were tied together and let down from railway bridges on the Ramganga, enabling a number of people struggling in the water to be hoisted to safety.

The railway between Kathgarh and Goh has been washed out for about 700 feet and cannot be repaired for some time. The railway connection with Delhi also has been cut. The Lucknow road is still impassable in many places and no communication is possible with outlying villages.

Large supplies of food sent by the citizens of Cawnpore have helped to relieve the distress.

British Women Are Advised To Smoke Pipes

LONDON, Nov. 9.—English physicians are urging women who are addicted to smoking, to use a pipe and good tobacco instead of the cigarette. The doctors point out that the nicotine found in the cheaper brands of cigarettes is much more injurious to women than to men, and they declare that the perfumes used by the fair sex also are injurious.

Two recent deaths of women have been attributed directly to cigarette smoking. While these cases have been due to excessive smoking, the physicians say that the same amount of pipe smoking probably would not have had fatal results.

Smoking among women in London is now almost universal, and one rarely goes to a theater, dance or restaurant where the majority of the women present are not smoking.

Recently two young women appeared at an athletic meet smoking pipes, and many of the fashionable shops of Bond street have exhibited stocks of pipes designed for the feminine smoker. However, the innovation has made little progress, and cigarettes are still the favorite.

In addition to set papers and discussion growers will have an opportunity to ask questions or any fruit growing problem. These will be answered by University specialists and others.

The Fruit Show which will occupy one floor of Hildard Hall, will be open to those attending the conferences.

Contra Costa Club Arranges Two Hikes

Two trips are announced for Armistice week, and by J. Carl Seuberg, president of the Contra Costa Hills Club. The first will be a field outing of the California Nature Club to study the knocone pines on Moraga ridge above the city. The second, Harold French will lead the three-mile walk and meet the party at Fortieth street and Shafter avenue at 1:30 p. m. Saturday.

On Sunday the Contra Costans will walk from Mantua to Big Lagoon and return through Burr Woods to Mill Valley under the leadership of the Misses Mildred and Inez Logan and Miss Viola Rogers. The start will be on the 15 a. m. Sausalito boat.

Japan May Decide on Lamb Chop Subsidy

TOKYO, Nov. 9.—Mutton as food being almost unknown in Japan, there has been little inducement to the Japanese farmer to raise sheep and as a result practically all the wool and woolen goods used here have to be imported. The government proposed to subsidize the importation of pedigreed rams and ewes from abroad and also the production of wool. There are now only about 10,000 sheep in Japan.

Automobiles Issue Before Secretaries

FRANKFURT, Ky., Nov. 9.—The automobile, with its attending problems of registration and taxation, will be the main topic of discussion at the annual meeting of members of the National Association of Secretaries of State which meets here November 17-18. Round table discussion will occupy the greater part of the sessions of the meeting. Uniform registration in all states will be discussed, as will automobile thefts, a riotous form of taxation and corporation and blue sky laws. A report of a committee appointed by the association's meeting last year relative to the formation of elective officers and heads of motor vehicle registration departments being formed into a single institution, will be made at the first day's session.

Government Forces Down Power Rates

OSAKA, Nov. 9.—Charges for electric power, extensively used by the factories of Japan, gradually are returning to the pre-war rates under pressure from the government, which has power to regulate rates and also because of the decline in the price of coal, the main item in the cost of electric power. The alteration from steam to water power for production of electricity has been of industrial duty, the rate for lighting has been reduced from 52 sen to 63 sen, and that for power from 85 sen to 7 sen. Since 1887, when electric enterprises were started in Japan, more than a billion yen have been invested in the industry.

TRANFUSION OF BLOOD FAILS TO SAVE FILM STAR

Man's Sacrifice Vain in Case of Actress Who Claimed to Have Shot Self.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Ransom's attempt to save the life of the woman he loved by giving his blood failed, and Mrs. Jacqueline Llewellyn, 25, former moving picture actress, is dead today from a bullet wound which she claimed was self-inflicted.

Ransom, who lived with her at 1103 Ellis street, is being held in the city prison.

Captain of Detective, Duncan Matheson today announced that he is not satisfied with the explanation of the shooting and that Ransom, who is 20 years old, could be held on a vagrancy charge until it was cleared up.

He was taken into custody by the police yesterday shortly after the woman was taken to a hospital with a bullet wound in her breast. Last night when her condition became critical, physicians sent word to Ransom in his cell that a blood transfusion operation was necessary.

Ransom volunteered, "I love her," he said, "I'll do anything for her."

The woman died on the operating table, unaware of Ransom's heroic act.

Mrs. Llewellyn came here from Long Beach on October 23 with Ransom. He said that he could give no reason why the woman wanted to end her life. Tuesday they were without funds, he said, and pawned one of the woman's rings. On their way home Ransom said the woman told him she had met a man who had previously known her and might try to separate them.

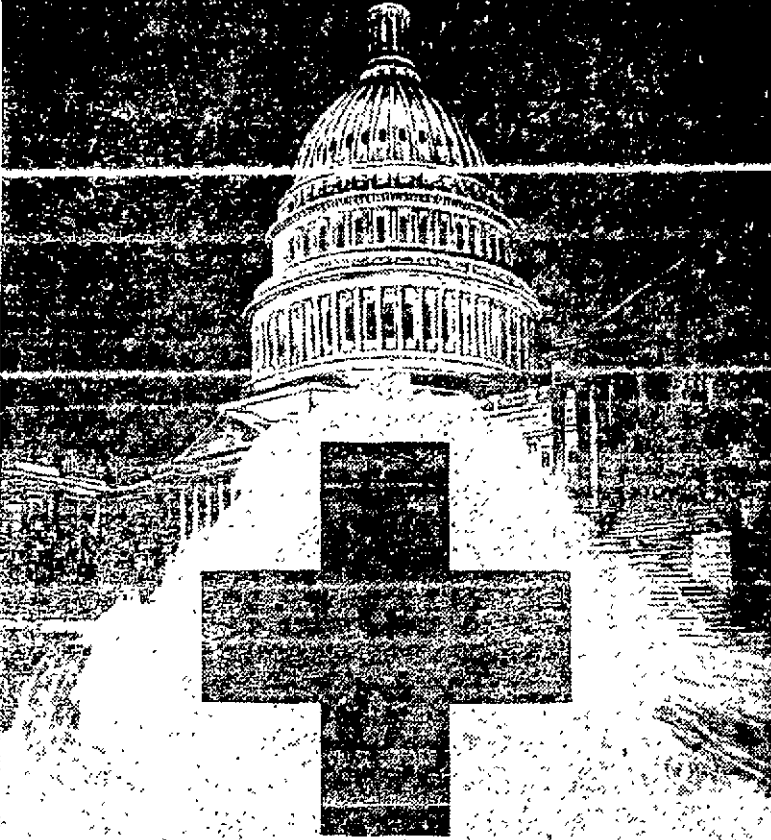

She seemed to worry about this and when they returned home Ransom put a pistol under the pillow.

He was awakened by a shot. Mrs. Llewellyn was holding the pistol in both hands, he said, and asked him for a paper and pencil. Ransom said she attempted to commit suicide, but was unable.

Call for Red Cross Sunday To Meet Enthusiastic Response

Oakland Chapter Prepares for Annual Roll Call to Be Launched on Armistice Day

Alameda county will respond enthusiastically to the call of Governor William D. Stephens in the observance of Red Cross Sunday on November 12. The machinery for the sixth annual roll call, which will be launched on Armistice Day, has already been set in motion by Oakland Chapter, American Red Cross. Churches throughout the Eastbay cities will unite in honoring the patriotic society which stands the friend of the ex-serviceman in all his needs and the leader in public health on the Sunday designated by the governor.

The proclamation of Governor Stephens issued today follows: Whereas, the sixth annual roll call of the American Red Cross will be started November 11 throughout the United States for the enrollment of members and the reviving of interest in the aims and achievements of the American Red Cross during peace and war, and

Whereas, November 12 is to be observed as Red Cross Sunday when it is proposed to hold suitable Red Cross exercises in all churches and places of worship in furtherance of the national movement to maintain the Red Cross as a great, efficient organization to relieve and prevent suffering at home and abroad, and

Whereas, the citizens of California recall with grateful remembrance the heroic work of this beneficent organization during the World War, and the loyal service it has rendered since that great conflict, in bringing comfort and care to disabled veterans in hospitals and safe-guarding the families of these men from worry and privation, as well as the woman service it is performing in the preservation of the public health, and extending relief to victims of disaster at home and abroad.

Now, therefore, I, William D. Stephens, governor of California, having a sincere appreciation of the many-sided service of the American Red Cross and desiring to place California in the front rank of the states in its loyal support of the American Red Cross, do hereby urge all citizens of California to enroll themselves as Red Cross members and to co-operate heartily to the end that its enrollment may be greater and more efficient than ever.

I do hereby further proclaim Sunday, November 12, 1922, as Red Cross Sunday in California and urge all churches and religious organizations to devote that day to the advancement of the American Red Cross by suitable exercises and addresses in connection with the regular religious services.

Tracy Woman's Club Plans Open Meeting

The Tracy women's club will hold an open meeting in the Arlington theater Friday afternoon. The subject will be "Child Welfare," and Mrs. W. D. Hartman, the club county chairman of Child Welfare, has prepared a program.

The school children will give an exhibition of fancy dancing under the direction of Miss Argall. There will be a special two reel picture and addresses by Dr. W. A. Sprague of Tracy and Dr. Minerva Goodman of Stockton, who will speak on "The National Child Welfare Movement."

Constantine Will Escape War Trial

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The revolutionary committee in Greece has tried by ordinary court martial of the former cabinet ministers and generals now under arrest charged with responsibility for the Greek disaster in Asia Minor, says a Reuter despatch from Athens. The decree exempts former King Constantine from trial. It declares that, according to the constitution, Constantine was not responsible for the disaster, but that the accused ministers have to bear his responsibility.

Founder of Colony Sells His Interests

PATTERSON, Nov. 9.—John P. Patterson, founder of the Patterson Colony, has disposed of his large local interests and will leave shortly to make his home in Canada. His holdings here have been taken over by John D. Patterson and sister, Mrs. Blain Rogers, closely related to the colony's founder, and they will henceforth devote themselves to the property's interests. John D. Patterson several years ago built a magnificent country home here and will take up his residence there.

Mrs. G. B. Brobeck Buried Tomorrow

The funeral of Mrs. Gertrude B. Brobeck, of Hayward, will take place tomorrow morning from a home in the Mount View cemetery. Mrs. Brobeck is survived by two sons and a daughter. They are W. V. Brobeck, of the San Francisco law firm of Morrison, Dunn & Brobeck; Hartford T. Brobeck, superintendent of the Key Route system, and Mrs. Mary L. Shappe, of Berkeley. Coming to California in 1874, Mrs. Brobeck has made her home in Hayward for the past 40 years. Her death followed an illness of several weeks. She was 76 years old and the widow of the late Henry Brobeck, a well known building contractor.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache often means you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating too much meat says a well-known authority. An excess of meat may form uric acid, which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed as a result. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scales and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the juice of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder weakness.

RHEUMATISM Leaves You Forever

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen of Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, declares all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. Freight Cars Run Wild, Kill Watchman

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The unexpected and accidental uncoupling of four freight cars on a early today cost the life of John Mullin, 32 years old, a watchman for the McGilvray-Stone company, who lived at 230 Montcalm street. Mullin had arranged for the hauling away of a flat car containing granite from the yards of the concern on Townsend street between Seventh and Eighth. He had opened the gate leading into the yard and was waiting for the switching crew when four cars, which had been accidentally uncoupled from the engine, crashed suddenly in upon him and he was run over, dying instantly. The engineer of the train, John Casey, was arrested on a technical charge.

Santa Clara Valley Fruit For Honolulu Said to Have Been Found Infested.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 9. — Carelessness on the part of Santa Clara valley growers resulted in the condemnation of 3000 boxes of pears shipped to Honolulu, according to the monthly report of Horticultural Commissioner L. R. Cody, which was made public today.

Cody also asked that more room be allotted the county horticultural department for breeding parasites to be released in orchards for fighting the valley's new pests.

Cody declares that the 3000 pear boxes which were shipped to Honolulu led to serious loss because the pears were found, on arrival in the islands, to be infested with mealy bugs, a pest unknown to the Hawaiian islands. The entire shipment was condemned.

During the month of October the commission further reports furnishing information on 122 telephone calls, 108 office calls, and of making 107 orchard calls, while the branch office at Gilroy in the same month made 81 ranch calls and gave information on 88 office calls.

Autos Needed For Veterans Who Can't Walk

THE Armistice Day committee today requested that all automobile owners who have machines they can drive in the parade notify the committee at once. Machines are needed to convey the G. A. Those who will accommodate the committee in this way are asked to notify the chairman of the committee, Bestor Robinson at the Oakland city hall. Phone Lake-side 3600.

$4,500,000 Estimated As Year's Grape Loss

LODI, Nov. 9.—Grape growers in this district will lose $4,500,000 for the year, according to estimates made by prominent growers and shippers, due to the car famine. So far this year 5,919 cars of grapes have been shipped from the district, compared with 5,522 shipped last year. The tonnage shipped is 90,000, leaving, declare men who have checked up carefully, another 90,000 unpicked and rotting on the vines. A basis of only $50 a ton is used in compiling the figures. Many carloads of Tokays are safe under packing shed roofs and will be packed and shipped east as fast as possible, having been picked before the present storm broke. No more grapes will be picked for packing purposes.

BIG ARMISTICE DAY PARADE TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Department Commanders and Staffs of Three Organizations to Participate.

The spectacle of a parade of many organizations, with bands and drill teams in colorful uniforms, marching and counter-marching over Broadway, one column moving north and the other south, will be witnessed in Oakland next Saturday morning during the Armistice Day parade. It will be the first time that a counter march was ever attempted over Oakland streets and a feat attempted but few times in any city.

Arrangements for the parade and literary exercises have been completed, the last meeting of the committee having been held at the city hall last night.

Another feature of Saturday's parade and a circumstance which may never occur again within the next century, will be the presence in Oakland for the parade of the department commanders and their staffs of three veteran organizations—the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the United Spanish War Veterans.

VETERANS TO A HEAD. George A. Marshall, department commander of the United Spanish War Veterans, and his staff, will be in Oakland Saturday for the parade, and will head the United Spanish War Veterans' unit. At the same time Department Commander E. B. Scherle of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and his staff will be present to head the three posts of Veterans of Foreign Wars that will march. Scherle is a resident of Oakland.

Not to be outdone by other veteran organizations, the local Legion posts put in a hurry call for Seth Billington, recently elected department commander of the American Legion of California, who will come from his home in Colusa to head the Legion body in the parade. He will be joined by his staff from San Francisco, providing arrangements can be made to this effect.

Irving Kahn, Charles Frost and Arthur Ruggles were yesterday selected by the Armistice Day committee to serve as judges of the parade. Two cars will be awarded the marching units in the parade adjudged the best appearance in the line of march and a first and second prize will also be awarded for the two best floats.

WILL START AT TEN. The parade will start promptly at 10 a. m. All organizations are requested by the grand marshal to be in line and ready to move off at 9:45, so that no time will be lost. All former service men are requested to wear their uniforms on Armistice Day, and turn out and march with their respective organizations.

The veterans are looking forward to a clear day Saturday. In case of rain the parade will be cancelled and the literary exercises scheduled for Lakeside Park will be held at the Municipal Auditorium instead. The literary exercises will take place promptly at 11:30 o'clock, in either event.

Proceeding the literary exercises, immediately after the head of the parade arrives at Lakeside Park a battery of field pieces will fire a 45-gun salute. The first gun will serve as a signal for a two-minute period of silence, in honor of America's hero dead. During the firing of the first five guns, which will constitute the two-minute period, the public is requested to face the east and remain quiet until the fifth gun sounds.

In the afternoon the public will be invited to attend the "Yankee-Panzer" show at the Municipal Auditorium.

FOR S. F. CELEBRATION. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9. — Armistice Day will be celebrated Saturday by Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Veterans' organizations working in conjunction with each other, it was announced today. Plans for the celebration are being completed by the citizens' committee appointed by Mayor Rolph.

Parades, music and literary exercises will be features of the day's celebration. The statue of General Pershing near the grandstand in Golden Gate Park will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies. Exercises will be conducted at the Exposition Auditorium. In the civic center in the afternoon. The evening program will include a reunion of San Francisco chapter, Military Order of the World War. It will be held in the Commerce Club rooms at 7 o'clock.

Prince Waits as Pope Talks With American Visitor

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—How a

Plus XI was kept waiting outside for half an hour while the Pontiff visited with an American is told in a letter received here today from Gordon L. Barry, European representative of the Near East Relief.

The letter was written to F. J. Michel, executive secretary of the Illinois Near East Committee.

The Prince of Santa Humbly waited in ante room while the Pope talked with Mr. Barry and then donated a half-million lira for Smyrna relief, the letter said. The Pontiff issued the following message of thanks to America:

"It is with truest sincerity and with heartiest gratitude that His Holiness blesses the work of Near East relief in his confidence that with their material food the children will likewise be given spiritual food for hearts and souls."

Two Men Wounded In Wild Auto Chase

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Following an automobile pursuit and a gun battle in the Sunnyside district yesterday two men were arrested. One of them was wounded. A third man, also wounded, escaped. The men arrested are: Wallace McKean, 25, and William Newell, 26, of Los Angeles. McKean received a gunshot wound under the left armpit. The police state that both men have admitted that they were in a stolen machine with a third man when the "shotgun squad" gave chase in an armored car. The stolen car crashed through a fence on Baden street and the three occupants escaped. McKean and Newell were arrested later on the Embarcadero, between Mission and Howard streets.

CONTROL URGED FOR EPIDEMICS

Epidemiology, the science pertaining to epidemics and their control, was the subject of a talk by Dr. Frank Kelly of the State Board of Health last night at the city health department, to an audience composed of city health department employees and representatives from the school health department. The lecture was held at 7:30 p. m. in the city hall.

The spread and control of certain epidemics was demonstrated by charts and by remarks. Smallpox, diphtheria, diseases of contact and diseases from uncleanness, were all touched upon, as well as the present increase of rabies in California, the percentage of which has reached the 100 mark within a year, according to the officials.

The health authorities considered among other things what should be drawn between public education and "scaring the public."

Following the lecture there was a general talk by health authorities on various subjects, though no formal decisions were reached.

Former Oakland Girl Dies at Santa Cruz

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 9.—Miss Maud Marshall, for a number of years a resident of Oakland, after her graduation as a trained nurse from Fabiola hospital, and where she followed her profession for a number of years, died Tuesday after a short illness at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. Seth Ryder. Miss Marshall was born near Sequel, forty years ago, and made her home with her grandmother, Mrs. A. E. Dutton who is now 82 years old. She was a graduate of the Santa Cruz high school and a member of the local Congregational church.

Diamond Demand Blamed Upon War

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The present boom in diamonds in England is attributed partly to recent rumors of war in the Near East. Experts in the trade say that this phenomenon has been noticed before, and that when political troubles are brewing the business in diamonds in England is revived. Not only in London is this activity noticeable, but in Antwerp also diamonds have been changing hands in large numbers, somewhat similarly to the trade which occurred at the time of the first Russian revolution.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF FOODS URGED

Food industry should be controlled by government in the interest of consumers in the opinion of Dr. Carl L. Alsberg, director of Food Research Institute of Stanford University, who addressed Mills College students yesterday. California is ahead of other states in accepting as law federal food recommendation according to the speaker. He commented that conditions particularly in this state are rapidly improving. He said in part: "The food industry is the one fundamental industry which cannot be reduced below a certain minimum, no matter whether this be attempted in the present age or in the stone age. Therefore, it should be controlled by the government. The government should be protected against injurious food, for approximately forty per cent of the family budget is expended for food."

The speaker outlined briefly the Pure Food Law of 1906, in the carrying out of which he served in Washington, D. C., for nine and one-half years, from 1912 to 1921. "This Food and Drug Act is important because first it marked a new interpretation of the national constitution; and secondly, because it was the first legislative act designed to prevent unfair competition. In other words, it is essentially a police law, made possible by the federal interstate commerce clause of the Constitution. It can apply only to foods prepared in one state and sold in another. It covers a whole series of products, types of goods, one for sale outside the state and one for consumption in Maryland. For example, the maple syrup sold in the state contained no maple while the sold in adjoining states was made of genuine maple sugar. Pepper sold in Washington was real, while that purchased in Baltimore was adulterated. "Mislabeling and adulterated food is practically off the market today."

Business, Professional Women Start Fund for New Home

Business Club Works to Purchase Home

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Every member of the Business and Professional Women's Club is turning her ability into cash for the benefit of the organization whose future looks so importantly in the coming year of the city. With a unanimous endorsement to the project of purchasing a fifty-foot building site on Webster street, funds to climb the venture rapidly are being accumulated. The membership has been organized into a calendar, the personality of the conventional general, captain and lieutenant being disguised under the newer titles of months, weeks and days.

A one-day campaign has been inaugurated as a method of meeting the property obligations. The days will be the first to make their return to the weeks, each offering $2.50 as her special gift. In turn the weeks will contribute to the months, who will bear their toll of a penny a day to the year. Before the dawn of 1923 it is expected that fully $1000 will be raised through this method. The women are being asked not to write their checks, but in some way earn the small contribution. One member has volunteered a day's profit in a large downtown store to the property fund. Another group is announcing a theater party at the Fulton on November 23 as a means of raising their quota.

But finance is not all that the Business and Professional Women's Club is interested in. During the summer the members spent a day as the guests of the Eastbay Water Company, inspecting the sewer project. The member who extended hospitality on that occasion are to become the guests of honor at a dinner in the Broadway clubrooms on Monday night. The club section will make its debut at this time. Miss Zanne W. Potter is directing the musical program.

Dr. Amelia Henry, president of Mills College, and Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee will be the speakers before the Oakland League of Women Voters, meeting in Aahmes hall, Thirteenth and Harrison streets, tomorrow at 2 p. m. "Economic Conditions in Europe" will be discussed by the college president. She spent the summer abroad, touring several countries, where she made a special study of conditions. Dr. Coffee will present the plan for a community chest which would take care of all the philanthropies of the city. Mrs. F. H. Boren, who will take over the direction of a study in industrial relations as chairman of a sub-committee of the legislative department, will be chairman of the day.

Mrs. C. E. Wilson, president, will preside at a short business session preceding the program. "Moral Responsibilities of Opera Composers" is announced as the subject which Mrs. Nellie Strong Stevenson will present before the Pacific Coast Women's Press Association on Monday. She will tell the story of the opera "Juggler of Notre Dame" (Masselet) during the afternoon. Henry D. Meyer, president of the San Francisco Community Service Recreation League, will offer intimate comments on the "Aims and Purposes of the Annual Music Week." The music of the hour will be contributed by Mrs. Stevenson, piano, and Mrs. Lucille Bresse Hammon, vocal.

Plans for the annual "Fathers' Dinner" will be perfected at the University High Classes in Health, Charm Campaign

By FRANCES MONTGOMERY.

The road to health is paved with good digestions. The students at University high school are proving it this week by holding a health campaign.

Monday the campaign started off with attractive posters introducing the quest for health in the guise of an armored knight whose gaze is directed over the chasm of ill-health toward the city of Success.

Bulletins call attention to the danger of the health fad and a poster map marks out clearly for prospective travelers the route to the city of Success.

Traveling directly across Carbo-Hydrate county, the flyer for Healthland takes the fresh air line, including stops at Butter, Cereal, Fish and other health food stations over the Drinking Water lake bridge, where it takes on water, cream, chickens, eggs and other fuel, and without disaster reaches its destination. Station officials warn travelers of conflicting side-track detours, where nervous system wires are down and lack of vitality tunnels lead to indigestion Junction and from there direct to the town of Failure.

Wednesday was diet day and the school cafeteria served a special "balance" luncheon, where patrons were requested to invest their quarters in pep and charm, assets sure to result from the healthful food served.

Today score sheets for the charm contest were given to the girls. Sparkling eyes, glow of hair, demureness of the smile, harmony of movement and poise will all be checked off and tallied up, each successful point making for the total 100 mark.

The week's events will take place at a health rally. Contestants will find out if they are as attractive as nature intended them to be and the winning "charmers" will be awarded prizes.

Here are a few beauty hints which will be demonstrated by the girls in their display charm parlors.

The best cold cream comes in milk bottles and is a good vanishing cream. The more it vanishes the better the complexion.

To clear the skin use bovine cream. A good powder to counteract a shiny nose is corn meal (or graham flour) taken internally.

Butter is perfect for filling out the hollow places. For cleansing the pores and preserving that school girl complexion there is no better night pack than a good coating of soap. Rinse and dry with an ordinary towel. It's a skin you love to touch.

For removing wrinkles there's nothing like the rest pack. Try a good sleep.

The juvenile department will stage a brilliant race entitled the "Race of Brulches, and we know before hand that the tooth brush will be the easy winner.

The health campaign and grand rally will come to a close with the health song which has to do with the "Healthy Baby and the Hygienic Pup."

Miss Myrtle Danielson, student instructor in physical education at the University high school, is manager of the campaign and responsible for its many clever ideas.

PARIS WRITERS ASSERT WOMAN ENEMY OF BOOKS

PARIS, Nov. 9.—As the women of Paris recently have been beating the men in competitions for places as librarians, a discussion has arisen over women's attitudes towards books.

Writers in general seem to agree that woman is the avowed enemy of books. The French, which will seem strange to Americans, is accepted by the French as a fact not necessary to discuss. They seek only to show why and how women are hostile to books.

It is quoted as saying in the retail trade women constitute only one per cent of buyers in France. Others dilate upon the difficulty their men friends have in keeping a library of fine books and in aiding to the collection. Men's love of books and women's dislike of them, are cited as having names. M. de Bernaboucourt, author and booklover, holds it to be the duty of a bibliophile to remain a bachelor. He cites the cases of men who have to buy books secretly to avoid outbreaks of wrath from their spouses, and others who keep books hidden.

One Parisian booklover, says M. de Bernaboucourt, struggles home purchases under his coat or in his pocket, meanwhile, disarming his wife by holding out cake or candy to her at the front door in order to gain time to slip the volume on to the shelf unnoticed.

Old Rites Attend Betrothal Ceremonies

TOKYO, Nov. 9.—At the formal engagement ceremonies of the prince regent to Princess Nakako Kuni, which were held in front of the shrine of the Imperial Palace, Shinto rites of Old Japan were renewed.

The prince regent, clad in a yellowish-brown court dress and wearing a "Drooping Cherry Crown" on the head, imparted the news of his engagement to the spirits of his ancestors. As for all great events concerning the imperial family, the emperor and empress were despatched to the Ise shrine, where the mirror of the Sun goddess, ancestress of the imperial family, is kept; to the Naatsuta of Emperor Jimmu, the first ruler of Japan, and to the late Emperor Meiji at Momoyama, for the sole purpose of announcing the event to them officially.

FRENCH WOMEN DISCARD AXE IN ATHLETIC FEUD

PARIS, Nov. 9.—(Associated Press).—Peace has been officially signed between the two warring feminine federations of athletic sports of France. A temporary truce was declared last July in order to hold at Pershing stadium the first feminine Olympic games on record, in which the United States team carried off second honors.

Gaston Vidal, under secretary of state for physical culture and sports, acted as peacemaker. Both federations elected officers to represent them in the Union of French sporting and athletic federations and henceforth they will be known as the Feminine Federation of France.

The new federation comprises 144 feminine clubs and athletic organizations throughout France, with a membership of nearly 15,000 young women and girls.

Native Daughters To Dance Tomorrow

A serpentine dance will be given by a drill team of Fruitvale Park, Native Daughters of the Grange West, on Friday evening in Woodmen's hall on East Fourteenth street. An invitation has been extended to all parlor of the Native Sons and Native Daughters, as well as the public. The proceeds of the evening are to go to the uniform fund of the drill team, which is to participate in the parade on Armistice Day.

BEVERIDGE SPENT $4175

Miss Sellars To Become Bride Tonight

More than two hundred guests will attend the marriage of Miss Mildred Sellars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Sellars, and John Edward Wheeler, which will be solemnized this evening at 8:30 o'clock in the United Presbyterian church on College avenue at Harwood. Rev. E. T. Smith will read the marriage ritual. Quantities of pink and white woodwardia ferns will bank the chancel at the church and chrysanthemums and roses with a color scheme of pink predominating will be used at the altar. The same blossoms and colors will be employed in the decorative ensemble at the bride's home, where a reception for the relatives and intimate friends will follow the ceremony.

The bride will be attired in a gown of white satin and lace embellished with pearl beads. Her veil of tulle will be held in place about the coiffure with a bandeau of French orange blossoms and will fall in graceful folds enveloping the court train of the gown. Lilies-of-the-valley and bridal roses will be combined in the shower bouquet. Mrs. Harold Bishop, a cousin of the bride who will attend her as matron of honor, will wear pink georgette and carry a large bouquet of pink rosebuds. The Misses Clara Hogan and Edna Wheeler—bridesmaids will wear georgette frocks also—Miss Hogan in blue and Miss Wheeler in orchid. Their flowers will be cyclamen to harmonize with their costume. Little Betty Layne, daughter of the Robert Laynes of Claremont, and Lucy Ayre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Ayre of Berkeley, will act as flower maidens. Richard Bishop, son of the Harold Bishops, will be ring bearer. John Crossley will be best man for Wheeler and the ushers will include James Macdonald and John Gibson. Wheeler is the son of the George T. Wheelers of Chabot road. Following a honeymoon trip the young people will take possession of a home in North Berkeley.

MRS. MOORE TO BE HOSTESS.

Cards have been sent out by Mrs. Walton Norwood Moore for a luncheon Tuesday afternoon, November 12, when she will entertain at her home in Piedmont. More than a score of matrons have been included in the guest list.

Miss Flora Edwards, bride-elect of John Edgar Egan, will share the honor with Mrs. Frank Wilson (Betty Burns), a recent bride at a smart bridge tea November 21 to which cards have been issued by Miss Carolyn Rodolph. The Charles T. Rodolph home in Piedmont will be the scene for the affair.

Half a hundred maids and younger matrons will be included in the guest list. Miss Rodolph, who is a member of the Delta Gamma sorority at the University of California, has taken out a leave of absence and with her mother will sail in February for Europe for a six months' trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Wishon have recently returned from their honeymoon, which was spent in Honolulu, and are domiciled at the Hotel Whitecourt in Berkeley.

MISS OWEN IS HOSTESS.

Miss Gladys Owen entertained more than a score of guests at the home of her parents, the Victor Hugo Owens on Longridge Road, this afternoon in compliance with Mrs. Albert Reinke (Katherine Pauly) a recent bride, and Mrs. Elwood Moore Tillson (Helene Suhr) who, with her husband has just returned from an extended visit to the Orient. Miss Owen is a recent graduate of the University of California and a member of the Kappa Delta sorority. Those who accepted the hospitality of the hostess were the Messdames E. R. Mansfield (Phyllis Kott), Estol Ward (Jean Wastel), David Garrett, Robert Robischung, Arthur Northoff, William Ross and the Misses Lorene Johnson, Dorothy Seawell, Joan Felandar, Lois Turner, Agnes Horton Lorraine Bales, Katherine Adams, Mera Meyer, Jewell Hobson and others.

Mrs. Clifford Ernst will assemble a cotillion of friends at her Alameda home Wednesday, November 15, in honor of Mrs. Kent Weaver (Emily Crow). Bridge will be the diversion of the afternoon. Mrs. Thomas Watson has issued cards for a bridge party November 21 complimenting Mrs. Weaver, who is a bride of the autumn.

Miss Margaret Cross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cross of Claremont, will preside as hostess at an informal tea at her home next Saturday afternoon. Miss Alexandra Bernhardt, a junior student at the University of California, who is contemplating a European trip next summer, will be the honoree for the occasion. Miss Bernhardt is the daughter of the William Bernharts of Chabot Road.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED.

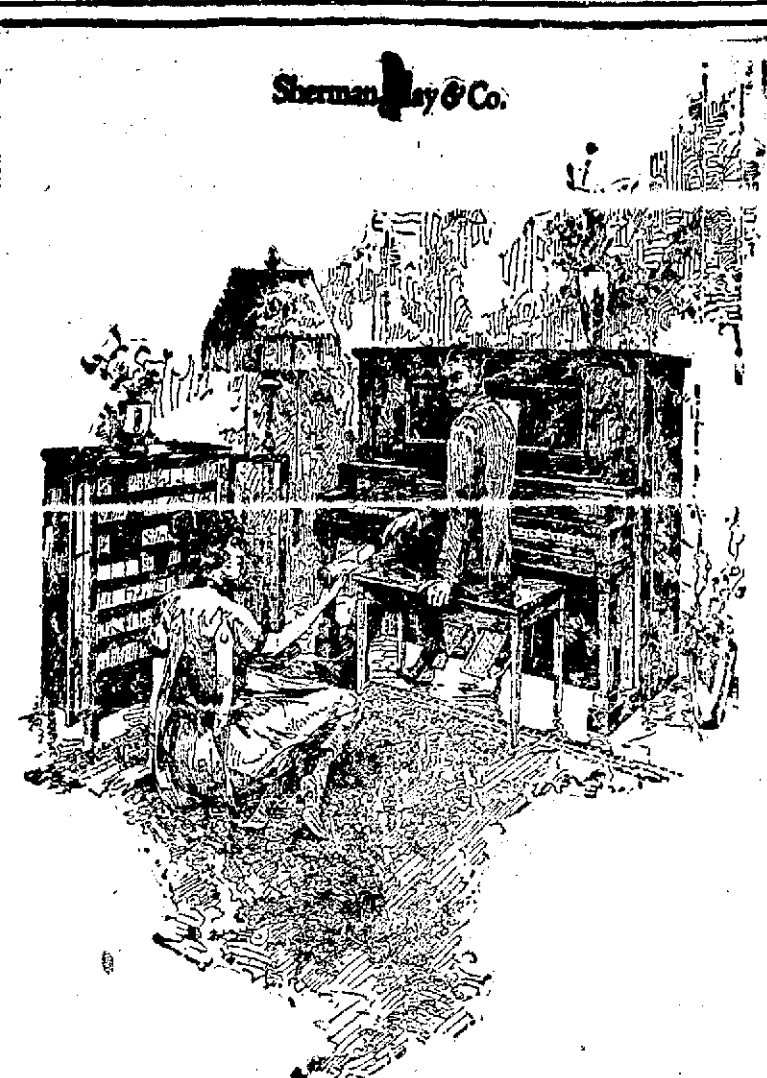

William Dunscombe Moore announced the wedding of his daughter, Miss Mary Dunscombe Moore, to Mr. Witherpoon Sibbett, September 2 in Arizona. The news of the wedding comes as a complete surprise to the friends of the young people who were not apprised of the ceremony until they arrived from Arizona where the bride has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Clarence P. Woodbury, for some time. Mrs. Sibbett is a graduate of Miss Merriman's school and will be the incentive for a number of post-nuptial parties this season. The people will establish their home in Oakland.

QUIST'S SLAYER

IN EARLY PAGES

Time Lessening For Readers to Pick Clever Assassin of Millionaire.

Such an intricate web of circumstances has been woven about the baffling question of "Who Killed Quist" with the publication of the first chapters of The Quist Mystery in The TRIBUNE daily magazine that entrants in the $50 prize contest are encountering great difficulty in picking out the guilty party.

Readers who have pursued the early installments already have been introduced to the clever assassin without being aware of the fact.

The problem which will test the keenest mental faculties is to figure out how Alexander Quist could have been killed in his study before the eyes of his butler, who was unaware of the tragedy being enacted, and despite the many safeguards that had been thrown about the Piedmont millionaire. The Oakland police have discovered the deadly stuff used in the assassination. But they do not know how the venomous material was administered or the name of the slayer.

The solving of this baffling mystery is furnishing much amusement and entertainment to TRIBUNE readers.

For the best solution to The Quist Mystery, a first prize of $25 is offered by The T. and D. theater and the Oakland TRIBUNE. The second prize is $15; third, $10; and 50 additional prizes consists of pairs of tickets to the John Barrymore performance of Sherlock Holmes at the T. and D. theater.

Mail all solutions, not exceeding 100 words in length, to Quist Mystery Editor, Oakland TRIBUNE, before midnight Tuesday, November 14.

Ukraine Shooting Crafters to Death

KHARKOV, Russia, Nov. 9.—The Ukraine soviet government has been making strenuous efforts to break up the practice of graft and bribery among state employees, and, in this connection, a trial ended recently in which the two accused principals, M. Meletensky, director of the state trading department, and his agent, Bakhmoutsky, were sentenced to be shot.

The prosecution charged that Meletensky and Bakhmoutsky, by an ingenious and extensive system of bribery and graft in disposing of state timber from one government department to another, had cleaned up some 20,000,000,000 soviet rubles, amounting at that time to about $50,000.

British Postal Receipts Growing

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The gross revenue collected in postage on correspondence and parcels by the British postoffice for the last fiscal year will be 40,000,000 pounds, according to estimates of the department. This is a substantial increase over the previous year, and a slight increase over the year preceding the war. Estimates for 1921-1922, based on figures of last October, show that the department will handle 3,400,000,000 letters; 500,000,000 postcards; 1,150,000,000 printed papers and 180,000,000 newspapers.

Counterfeiters Are Active in Japan

TOKYO, Nov. 9.—While the Japanese government is doing its utmost to withdraw from circulation the 50 sen notes issued as a war measure, replacing them with silver coins, there are some Japanese adopting an opposite course. The country has been flooded with counterfeit 50 sen notes. Some counterfeit 10 yen bank notes also are in circulation, which, being more cleverly made, are harder to distinguish from those issued by the Bank of Japan. The police also have discovered some counterfeit silver coins.

During the course of his speech Mr. Bruce said: "The estimated revenue for 1922-23, totaling $312,591,250, includes $140,000,000, customs and excise; $76,250,000 income tax, and $43,250,000 post-office, telephone and telegraph

"The estimated expenditure is $310,118,405 showing an estimated surplus of $2,472,785. "Of the accumulated surplus, estimated at $34,514,935, $16,000,000 will be used in the reduction of taxation and the encouragement of agriculture and manufactures.

taxation includes the increase of the general exemption from $520 to $1000 for all taxpayers." Mr. Bruce announced that legislation would be introduced in the near future to reduce the salary of members of the House of Representatives from $5000 to $4000.

On the national debt Mr. Bruce declared: "The gross commonwealth debt totaling $2,080,352,545, shows an increase in the year ended June 30 amounting to $1,752,439. "The total national debt of Australia, including the commonwealth compared with the pre-war debt of only $1,695,000,000.

GERMANY SEEKS INTERNAL LOAN; DROODKAI MADE I NOT COUNCIL MEMBER

Will Proceed With Building in Devastated Areas; Experts For Moratorium.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—The German proposals, delivered by M. Barthou, president of the allied reparations commission, although the text is withheld, are generally believed to be Germany's request for reparations modifications strongly influenced by the findings of the committee of experts.

The Wirth government proposes organization of an international banking syndicate to negotiate control, stabilization and a loan with the co-operation of the Reichsbank. The government also requests temporary exemption from reparations gold payments and deliveries of goods in kind and coal, and will agree to proceed with the work of building up the devastated areas, which enterprise is to be financed with an internal loan.

While the members of the reparations commission decline to discuss the feasibility of the recommendations submitted by the experts, German official circles are less than believe that the entente's representatives are wholly in sympathy with the independent inquiry carried on at the instigation of the German government. It was definitely stated today that the commission would not arrive at any decision in Berlin, but would reply to the German government from Paris after reviewing the results of its Berlin investigations. The bourse continues to view the present reparations situation with contempt, and in utter disregard of the experts' report and the improved appearance of the negotiations sent the dollar rate beyond $100.

The report of the experts who have been investigating conditions in Germany, professors Keynes, Brand, Jenks and Cassel, advocates a two-years' moratorium from reparations payments of cash or in kind and stabilization of the mark on the basis of 3000 to 3500 marks to the dollar by utilizing the Reichsbank's gold reserves. The report contends that the financial problem cannot be solved unless the mark is stabilized, and that stabilization would be impossible without a moratorium.

WEEK SET APART BY FARM BUREAU

ship committee of the Yapa County Farm Bureau has designated the week of November 12 to 18 as "Farm Bureau Week," a week in which to check upon the work of the organization, to invite new members to join and invite old members to renew their obligations. During that time the officials of the organization will try to call the attention of the public to the many benefits of the institution.

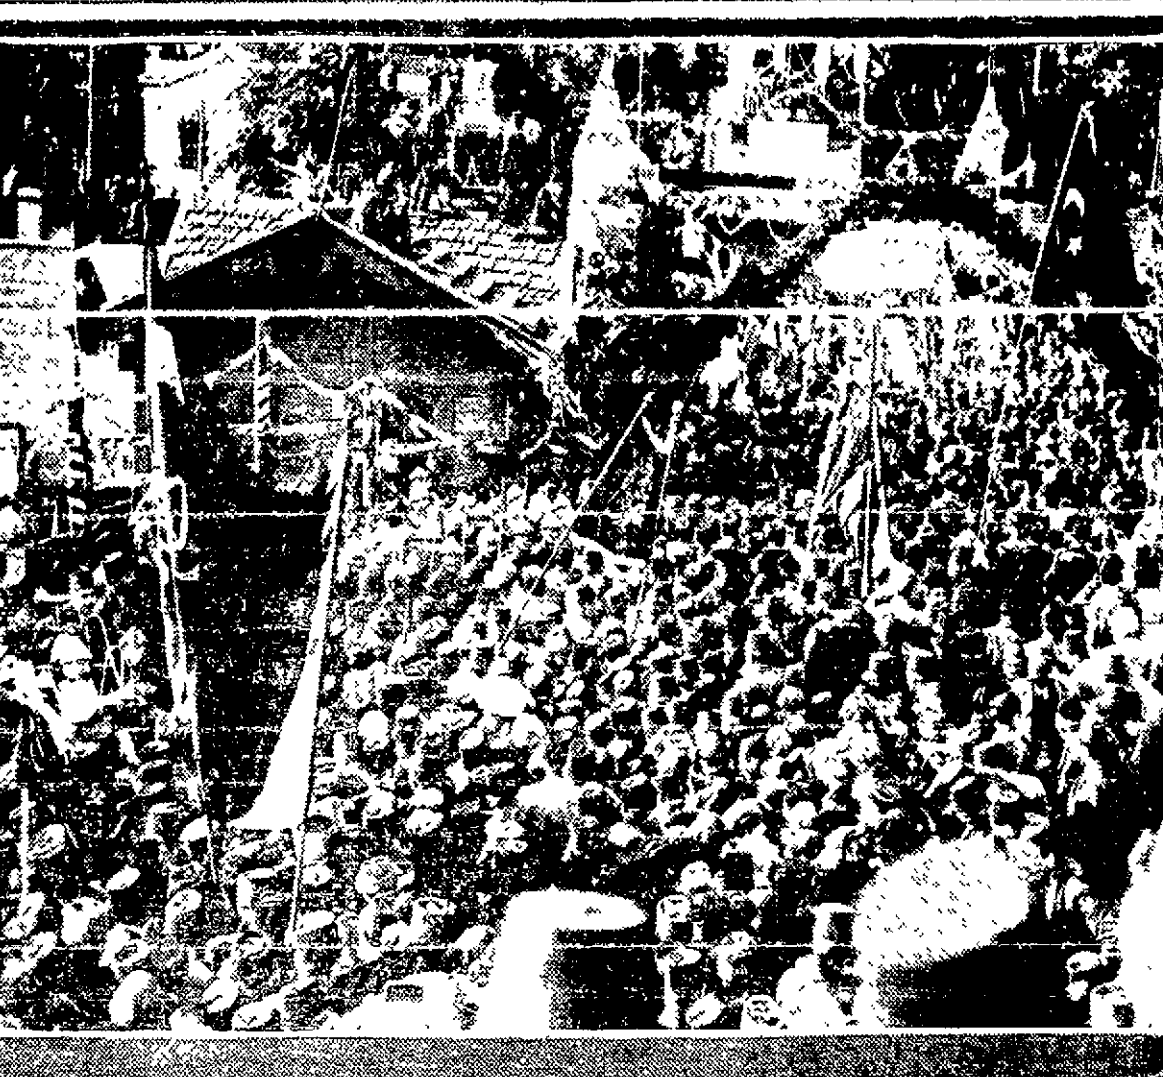

Because of its continued existence and present healthy state the benefit of the Farm Bureau must be good, and it must be accomplishing something worth while. When Secretary A. M. Stanley was asked what he considered the most important accomplishment of the Farm Bureau for the past year, he instantly replied, "Assistance in the car shortage problem."

Continuing, Stanley said: "It was a nation-wide effort started right here in Yapa county. A priority order was issued in regard to the movement of coal following the coal strike which was at a time when we needed cars, and the coal operators were on the job to see that the order was being observed. It naturally fell to the Farm Bureau to see that another priority order regarding the movement of refrigerator cars was made and observed and Yapa county started the ball rolling and kept the State and National Federation on the job."

College Ways Criticized by U. C. Professor

BERKELEY, Nov. 9.—Few college students ever attain their "intellectual majority," declares Prof. R. S. French of the department of education at the University of California.

Power to think clearly cannot be obtained from copying or absorbing, declares the professor in attacking the habit of voluminous note taking which he says militates against serious and adequate thought.

"One cannot help but feel a great potentiality in the overwhelming force of youth," says the professor. "Wise leadership could make the student body the greatest force in our state and student bodies of the nation could bring about a new order." French characterized student activities on the campus as "much ado about nothing," and said that college life is "over-filled and feverish."

WALK-OVER

Once it was "price"
Now it's service

"How much?" used to be the thing you considered first in a pair of shoes.

It's still important, but not the main argument for a shoe.

Good judgment goes beyond the pocketbook. It considers the fit and the wear, and then the price. The most valuable thing in a shoe you cannot see at all.

When you buy a Walk-Over you're getting a shoe that has stood the test for 48 years. It is known for its good, faithful service.

CITY COUNCIL FAVORS REZONE FOR HOSPITAL

Discussion of Granting Franchise Stirs Stormy Session of Board.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 9.—"As surely as the sun will rise tomorrow," does it follow that progress means a change and improvement in a city, such being the nature of the affairs of the city council, a vote for the rezone of a modern sanatorium in Alameda, declared Mayor Frank Otis last night at a meeting of the city council when the councilmen were on record as favoring the rezone of property situated at Willow street and Clinton avenue from a family resident district to a hospital zone.

The remarks of Mayor Otis followed a stormy session of the council at which the discussion centered on the granting of a petition to erect a three-story sanatorium in the present site of the Alameda sanatorium in Clinton avenue.

Physicians Advocate Plan. Many prominent physicians of the bay region appeared in person and advocated the granting of the petition. They all contended that the present sanatorium was antiquated and unsafe. In this they were backed by E. K. Taylor, attorney for Miss Kate Creedon, who heads the project.

Headed by Addison H. Hoover, property owners of sites adjoining the proposed sanatorium, protested against the granting of the petition. They cited among the reasons for objecting to the erection of a large building in a restricted neighborhood would lower property values and that it would be a general nuisance to all concerned.

To Draw Up Plans. Following the overruling of the objections and the vote of the council, Mayor Otis moved that William J. Locke, city attorney, be instructed to draw up a resolution for presentation to the council at its next meeting, granting the changing of the zone and opening the way for the erection of the sanatorium on a site here.

This motion was seconded by Al Latham, councilman, and passed by the council.

Versailles Avenue Will Be Extended
ALAMEDA, Nov. 9.—William J. Locke, city attorney of Alameda, was instructed by the city council last night to take necessary steps for carrying on the work of extending Versailles avenue from Buena Vista avenue to the Fruitvale bridge, thus giving direct access to the bridge.

The extension of Versailles avenue has been under consideration by the city council for more than a year. The present route over East Fourteenth street, Oakland, to Central avenue and the bay in Alameda.

To obviate this it is proposed to extend Versailles avenue north terminating two blocks distance through to the estuary crossing, making a direct roadway from East Fourteenth street, Oakland, to Central avenue and the bay in Alameda.

Boy Scouts Will Initiate Tenderfeet
ALAMEDA, Nov. 9.—Elaborate preparations have been made by the Alameda Boy Scouts and Alameda Post No. 9, American Legion, for the program which they will stage tonight in the Radio theater presenting the showing of "Tenderfeet," the photoplay which has been filmed under the auspices of the Alameda chamber of commerce.

Tonight will be the third showing of the picture. The entertainment will include several selections by a male quartet which has been secured by the post and the conferring of the tenderfoot degree to 25 scouts. The initiation will be held around the campfire under the auspices of Edward Albert, scoutmaster.

Theater Party Will Aid Welfare Work

LLOYD GEORGE IS LAUDED BY POWYS

BERKELEY, Nov. 9.—Lloyd George was last night characterized as the greatest statesman in English history by John Cowper Powys, English author and lecturer.

Giving the last of a series of talks in Wheeler Auditorium on great personalities in history, Powys classified the Welsh leader as "a man of great genius, a tricky politician and the greatest opportunity in the history of the world."

He declared that he is the only living statesman of first rank who temperamentally remains a democrat, not in the political sense of the word but in the larger sense of democracy.

"Lloyd George is the average man's sentimental moral ideal," said Powys. "He has a mania for the average man because he believes in the people, serves the people and is concerned that they have enough to eat and drink and can enjoy themselves by going to the movies."

Despite the fact that it is his native land, Powys classed England as the "snobbiest" nation in the world. Such "snobbery," he declared, has always been distasteful to him.

Alameda Clinic Aids 383 in Month
ALAMEDA, Nov. 9.—Work carried on in the clinic of the Alameda health department is shown in the report for the month of October, which was filed today by Miss Florence.

Patients receiving care numbered 383, of which 212 were adults and 171 were children, the report shows. New patients totaled 51, of which 28 were juveniles.

The Well Babies Conference which is held every Tuesday afternoon under the direction of Miss Lyons, now has 15 babies listed. These children are weighed, examined and measured every week and many helpful suggestions are given the mother regarding the diet for the individual baby, as a means of keeping it in perfect health.

The conference is open to all mothers of the city, according to Miss Lyons.

Mrs. Hester B. Nixon Dies in Berkeley
BERKELEY, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Hester B. Nixon, 74 years old, widow of the late Thomas Nixon, well known Santa Barbara architect, died early today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Oscar B. Hinsdale, 2022 Berkeley avenue, this city. The body will be sent to Santa Barbara, where funeral services will be held.

Mrs. Nixon was born in Canada. She was a resident of Santa Barbara for 15 years, and came to Berkeley in 1907. Besides Mrs. Hinsdale, she is survived by three daughters, Miss Blanche Nixon and Mrs. Charles Loring of Newport, Rhode Island.

WINTER OUTLOOK FOR EMPLOYMENT GOOD IN OAKLAND

Builders' Exchange Bureau Head Predicts Unemployment Fourth of 1921.

The problem of the unemployed is to be easier of solution this year than last.

This is the consensus of opinion expressed by men familiar with the employment situation in the East Bay district and is based on statistics and past performances.

The approaching winter finds demand for men in all lines increasing, according to J. E. Schilling, manager of the Alameda County Builders' Exchange, Employment Agency, at 249 Twelfth street. He said that October was the best month in the agency's history.

A total of 1161 men were given employment in October and in September 1921, 1021 men were placed, said Schilling. "The largest demand was for common laborers of whom 588 were placed. Carpenters were next with 242; plasterers, 42; painters, 41; hod carriers, 40; and electricians, 19."

GOOD WINTER SEEN.
"I feel that the present large demand for workers in all lines is indicative of a good winter and feel that the unemployment problem will not approach the proportions of last year."

Goodrich, superintendent of the Municipal Woodyard, agrees with Schilling in part but said that it is still early to forecast conditions in detail. He did estimate, however, that the number of unemployed this year will not be more than 20 or 25 per cent of last year.

"Up until now all men wanted to work at anything have been fairly successful," said Goodrich. "We have had good fruit picking and it wasn't until the last rains that the pickers of grapes and tomatoes were thrown out of work. They still have the rice to take care of."

"In a short time, however, the rains will eliminate this sort of employment and the power companies and lumber concerns who employ vast numbers of men will start down for the winter and operate on part-force. Then the men will return home and we will be better able to judge conditions."

FEW SEEK JOBS.
"I do not look for the destitution we had last year, nevertheless, because the spring, summer and autumn seasons were quite good. Of course anyone familiar with the employment and living problem know that the two waves run about alike. The first money the laborers get goes to pay back their debts and the second wave, when they are finally paid, is not a great margin of savings."

"So far I have had some requests for employment but these came from men who have just returned from work in the country. They do not want to work here but they wanted to keep working if possible. The situation as a whole looks promising."

Sweet Potato Men Abandon Unity Idea
TURLOCK, Nov. 9.—The sweet potato growers of Stanislaus and Merced counties have fallen down in their attempt to form an association for the protection of their industry.

In the past the growers have been divided into two groups, the Stanislaus growers and the Merced growers. The Stanislaus growers have been endeavoring to form an association for the protection of their industry, but the Merced growers have been opposing the idea.

40,000 Gallons Of Booze Stolen From Warehouse

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 9.—Thou-

have been stolen from the United States Government warehouse here by means of a cleverly constructed and concealed tunnel ten feet under ground, it was discovered today. The tunnel is 70 feet long and large enough for an automobile to be driven into it and up to the side of the warehouse.

Thirty-seven thousand barrels of whiskey had been stored in the warehouse. Officials have been unable to locate the tunnel so far but they believe the robbers got away with about 40,000 gallons of liquor before the tunnel was discovered.

CONTRA COSTA WOMEN RALLY

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—Ninety delegates attended the Contra Costa County Federation of Women's Clubs held at Richmond clubhouse yesterday. The principal speaker of the day was Rabbi R. I. Coffee of Oakland, who spoke on "What's Wrong With America."

Mrs. Nellie Cushing of Martinez urged the various clubs to join her in making a study of the history of California landmarks.

Reports of standing committees were heard during the afternoon session, which was presided over by Mrs. A. Deeds of Antioch, president of the federation. Mrs. W. H. Hamilton of Martinez, chairman of the music committee, spoke of music in connection with club work.

The Richmond group served luncheon at noon. Mrs. Clara Wilson of Richmond was chairman of the afternoon session.

The afternoon program included instrumental solo by Miss Margaret Patterson, and vocal solos by Mrs. M. Slosilo.

The next meeting of the federation will be held in Pittsburg in February.

Grat Hogin Elected Sheriff of Stanislaus

MODESTO, Nov. 9.—Grat Hogin was elected sheriff of Stanislaus county, Nov. 9, in the election held here today. He received 10,000 votes, defeating H. W. Fields, incumbent, who received 9,000 votes.

The official count shows that Eldon P. Mains was defeated by H. W. Keely, incumbent auditor, by less than 100 votes. The same count shows that Carl W. Shannon defeated H. W. Fields for coroner by nearly 75 votes. Shannon is the present coroner.

The defeat of Dallas, who has rigorously enforced the county's "Little Volstead" act and has made the bootleggers his worst enemies, is taken by the voters as an indication that the voters are tired of bootlegging.

Hogin, formerly a saloon-keeper in Modesto county, had the wet element solidly behind him.

Insane Patient To Be Taken East

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—John Hallway, an inmate of an insane asylum, arrested in June, 1921, for stealing $5,000 from the bank of the Superior Judge Ward today requested through counsel to be transferred to a Philadelphia asylum. He has wealthy relatives in the east. Judge Ward made the order when the complaining witness indicated that he did not desire to prosecute, and two physicians stated that Hallway's condition was incurable. The letter, including Dr. Irving E. Charlworth of Berkeley, an official of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, and Dr. Donald Smith of the Ukiah institution.

PAYING TELLER IS STAR WITNESS AGAINST ANDRADE

A. E. Bateman Testifies As to Defendant's Delayed Resignation.

A. E. Bateman, former paying teller in the Oakland branch of the Bank of Italy, and regarded as the prosecution's "star witness," took the stand today in the trial of Jesse Andrade, former assistant cashier of the bank, charged with falsifying public records.

In a deliberate manner Bateman answered questions propounded to him by Chief Deputy District Attorney Earl Warren, who, with Deputy District Attorney Ralph Hoyt, is conducting the case.

Bateman told of plans laid by Andrade and himself to leave the Bank of Italy to take employment with the Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, where Andrade was to be cashier and himself assistant cashier. He said that S. E. Biddle, David Perkins, Andrade and himself had several meetings at which it was sought to fix a definite date for the two to leave the Bank of Italy. Biddle insisted that Andrade resign at once, that being during June, and the date of July 15 was finally decided upon.

On that date Bateman asked Andrade, he testified, as to what was said as to his leaving and that Andrade replied: "This is Saturday and I am too busy to resign."

Bateman, when he first took the stand, identified numerous records as being in the handwriting of Andrade. It is these records upon which the prosecution relies to prove its charge, and it is their contention that Andrade's failure to resign, as testified to by Bateman, was a circumstance tending to show that the charge is true.

Bateman's testimony along this line was introduced over many objections on the part of the defense attorneys, Peter Crosby and George Naus.

Castor Check Case To Be Set Friday

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Arthur Castor, chief witness against the murder of his wife, Anna, was before Superior Judge Ward today in connection with a charge of passing fictitious checks. His case was continued until tomorrow to be set, at which time also the second trial date of the Wilkens case will also be fixed.

Alfred Markley, alleged to have written a letter to Wilkens' counsel, Frank Murphy, as to some of Castor's revelations, was brought into court with Castor. Markley was never called as a witness. He and Harold Letner pleaded guilty today to the theft of two automobiles.

Request Made for Return of Prisoner

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Leo Brennan, who made a sensational escape from San Quentin and was subsequently arrested here for robbery and burglary, was before Superior Judge Ward today. Assistant District Attorney Milton U'ren voiced a request from Warden James Johnston for his return to the penitentiary, where he still has 12 years of a 15-year term to serve. The court said he would have to have a requisition from the warden or the sheriff before he could consider such an order.

Captain Arrested on Bad Check Charge

Captain Carey Harrison was arrested today by the Oakland police at his home on Walker avenue on charges received from the San Francisco police that he is wanted there on a felony charge. According to Detective Sergeant David Murphy, who holds the warrant, Captain Harrison is accused by R. L. Shirle, an official of the Anglo-London-Paris National bank of passing a check on a bank in which he had no funds. According to Shirle, Captain Harrison purchased bonds at the bank, tending a check for $200 as payment. This it is alleged, was returned with the claim that there were no funds to meet it. Detective Murphy is expected to take Captain Harrison to the San Francisco city prison late today.

FORMER ENGLISH PREMIER EXTOLS QUALITY RULE

Lloyd George Opens Whirlwind Campaign in Home-land in Wales.

CARDIFF, Wales, Nov. 9.—(By International News Service.)—Premier Lloyd George today, opening a whirlwind political campaign in his Welsh homeland, extolled the former coalition government as one of the greatest benefactors of mankind since the war.

"I am not ashamed of my government of the past six years," said Lloyd George. "It organized a great victory for peace and humanity. It carried through the League of Nations. Also, it made possible the disarmament conference at Washington, which has permanently reduced the cost and perils of armaments."

Referring to Premier Law's "policy of tranquility," the former premier said: "Three weeks of the policy of ease—tranquility—has resulted in a falling exchange. Through the Premier's coalition government's downfall, France has come into the worst position she has occupied in many months."

Shower Given for Prospective Bride

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 9.—Miss Margaret Madden, to be married on November 15 at Holy Cross church, was again honored when Mrs. William Hanahan and Mrs. George Tait were the hostesses at a personal shower at the home of Mrs. Tait. In the center of the dining table, was a pink and white umbrella and suspended from each rib was a gift in keeping with the nature of the shower.

The decorations were in keeping, and were the pink cosmos and blue hydrangeas.

Write In Candidate Wins Napa Position

NAPA, Nov. 9.—Miss Eva Jones, write-in candidate, judging from available returns, has defeated Lena Jackson, incumbent, for superintendent of schools, by at least a 4 to 1 ratio.

Miss Holmes was prevailed upon to allow her name to be written in, four days before the primary election and made such a strong run that she carried on an earnest campaign for the final election.

Miss Holmes was born and educated in this community and has for the past few years taught in the primary school in the rural district.

Help for the business man

One of the most trying periods in any business comes when it grows beyond the capacity of the working force. There may be so much work to do that there is a lot of overtime, and dissatisfaction, and yet not enough to justify adding another employee.

Why not take some of the pressure off your business by calling in part-time help for your stenography, typing, and accounting until business slackens or until you can afford to get a full-time employee?

You can get your work done well at a reasonable figure by the public stenographers and accountants who advertise in the Classified Columns under 7C—ACCOUNTANTS.

P. S. Did you remember to save the artistic home plan which appeared at the top of Class 44—LOTS FOR SALE—yesterday (Wednesday)? A complete set of plans for anyone of a number of beautiful homes is given away free by the OAKLAND TRIBUNE to anybody who buys a lot advertised in this paper. A year's subscription to the HOME DESIGNER MAGAZINE is also included in this offer. All that a person needs to do is bring a note from the seller of his lot to the OAKLAND TRIBUNE office.

POLICE DRAWING TOILS AROUND SLAYING SUSPECT

Jack Allen, Held For Quiz in Dabulich Case, in L. A. At Time of Murder.

The Oakland police announced today that they have requested Mrs. Mary Dabulich, wife of Nick Dabulich, who was murdered in Los Angeles, to go to Los Angeles at once and answer to a warrant for the arrest of Jack Allen, now held by the Oakland police for investigation, charging him with the murder of her husband. The police are in possession of sufficient evidence, they say, to justify a murder charge being placed against Allen.

Mrs. Dabulich will leave tomorrow.

Jack Allen, arrested here and held for investigation in the murder of Nick Dabulich in Los Angeles, was in Los Angeles at the time of the murder in the Oakland restaurant man, according to inspectors Eddie Wallman and Tim Flynn, who have investigated Allen's movements since he left his place of employment in Oakland October 3.

This information was secured yesterday by the Los Angeles police at the request of the local authorities. It was learned from a woman, whose name was found on some personal effects in Allen's possession at the time of arrest, that Allen paid her a visit in Los Angeles. She would not admit that the man was Allen, declaring that the man answered Allen's description.

ANOTHER SUSPECT HUNTED.

The police began search late yesterday for another man believed to be implicated in the case, but have been unable to locate him as yet. It is believed that upon learning of Allen's arrest he left town.

Another feature of the murder of Nick Dabulich in Los Angeles that points to the theory that Dabulich was slain elsewhere than where the body was found was the finding of Dabulich's hat, rolled up in an automobile robe. The robe was found about three miles from where the body was discovered.

DIAMOND DISAPPEARS.

The diamond Allen is alleged to have attempted to sell in Oakland the day following Dabulich's disappearance has not been located. The gem was described by a local jeweler, to whom Allen is alleged to have attempted to sell it, as a Queen Anne type, the stone containing a ring missing from Dabulich's finger.

Allen, at the time of his arrest, was employed by a local furniture company.

Speaker Chosen for Lodi Armistice Day

LODI, Nov. 9.—Lieutenant Colonel William A. Covington has been chosen by Lodi Post, No. 22, American Legion, to make the address at the Armistice Day celebration. Following the parade, in which lodges, clubs, school children, high school pupils and the Post will take part, Major Walter E. Garrison will make a brief address, followed by Major J. W. Shurtz and J. M. Steele and a solo by James Girard. Lodi and Sacramento high schools football teams meet in the afternoon.

Sunnyvale C. of C. Names New Officers

SUNNYVALE, Nov. 9.—The Sunnyvale chamber of commerce has elected the following new officers for the year 1923: H. S. Rexworthy, president; J. Peter, first vice-president; G. W. Parkman, second vice-president; W. K. Roberts, secretary-treasurer. Reports of the treasurer show a balance of $144.66 after all expenses for the current year have been paid.

Giant Oak Blocks Glenwood Highway

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 9.—An oak tree, three and a half feet in diameter fell on the Glenwood highway Tuesday night at Lookout point and blocked traffic for about three hours. A crew was sent from Glenwood and at half-past twelve in the morning the road was again open for travel.

Stanford Will Have Milestone In Victory Line

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 9.—Stanford students accepted through their executive committee last night on invitation from the Republic of France to erect one of 240 milestones on the line of victory in commemoration of Stanford's achievements in the world war.

At the instance of the Minute Women of the State of Washington, these milestones are to be erected by the Allies at the farthest point of the enemy advance in 1919. Each of the forty-eight States has been given an opportunity to erect through popular subscription one of these milestones. In order to bring the United States quota of sixty, or one-fourth, up to normal, twelve American universities were added to the list. Stanford was numbered among these and received notification through the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, the American headquarters for the registration of subscriptions. In accepting the committee of the associated students of Stanford and Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of that university, placed a sum of fifty cents on each subscription in order that all might have an opportunity to contribute toward the monument.

Girl Hikers From Chicago Deny Records, Wagers, Film Ambitions

VIVIAN NYBERG (left), and her sister, HULDA NYBERG, who arrived in Oakland yesterday, having hiked here from Chicago. They will hike back East in the Spring.

Sisters, Wanting to See America, Save Money, Grease Boots, Start Walking.

Office work palled on Hulda and Vivian Nyberg of Chicago, so they started out from the windy city on foot on June 28, arriving in Oakland yesterday. Hulda is 24 and Vivian is 20. The two sisters plan to go to Los Angeles, where they will remain until next spring. They intend to hike back by a different route.

They expressed no ambition to go into the movies, they are not walking on a wager, and they are not trying to hang up any record for long distance, short distance, fast or slow hiking.

"We just wanted to see the country," they said yesterday. "We were born in Sweden and came to America three years ago. We have been working in Chicago most of the time since then. We decided that if we ever wanted to see America the only way to do it would be to save our money, grease our hiking boots and hit the trail."

News Notes of Vallejo And the U. S. Navy Yard

VALLEJO, Nov. 9.—Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Gaston will arrive in Vallejo tomorrow from Lincoln, Neb., for a visit with relatives. Rev. Gaston was the one-time pastor of the First Baptist church of Vallejo.

Men from the public works department are working shifts at the reinforced concrete pile casting plant. The piles to be turned out this fall and winter will be used in making repairs to the Mare Island seawall.

Dr. D. H. Castro has been assigned to duty with the Mare Island military hospital. He is attached to the Mare Island dispensary.

Warrant machinist A. F. Blake has been ordered detached from the yard power plant and will be assigned to one of the ships of the Pacific fleet.

Forty-four marines, 134 sailors and 18 hospital patients are expected to arrive at the navy yard Saturday. They will come to San Francisco on the U. S. S. Logan and will be brought here on one of the navy yard tugs.

The Nitro will sail Saturday for the Bremerton navy yard. The ship is one of the Pacific-Atlantic run and will be docked at the coast before the holiday season.

The Decatur will leave the yard on November 13. The craft is to be docked this week and repairs will be made to her propeller, which was damaged by recent collision with the Procyon.

The yard-built destroyers Perry and Trever have arrived at San Diego. The boats left the station Monday and will be decommissioned as soon as their stores are removed by the crew.

CITY COUNCIL AT MODESTO ADOPTS MANAGER REGIME

City Engineer and Electrician of Former Administration Quit Positions.

MODESTO, Nov. 9.—Resignations of George Freitas and W. L. Carpenter, city engineer and city electrician, were accepted at last night's meeting of the city council, and the council committed itself to a quasi city manager form of government.

In one meeting three of the main purposes of Sol P. Elias, the new mayor, were accomplished. A. J. Carlson, the city attorney, was instructed to draw up an ordinance placing the public works, water, street, sewers, electrical and engineer departments under the supervision of a city manager, who will probably be the city engineer to succeed Freitas.

The council will retain direct supervision of the police and fire departments, the city clerk's office, the legal department and the health department.

Commissioners were assigned as follows: Commissioner of Finance and Revenue to E. J. Doudy, Commissioner of Public Supplies to R. S. Marshall, Commissioner of Health and Safety to Albert Oswald, Commissioner of Public Works to T. H. Fowler.

It is apparent that no further shakeups will come in the other departments at least for the present, despite previous statements to that effect by various councilmen.

Under the prediction of Oswald that a radical change would come in the police department, the councilmen are not disposed to do so, and Oswald himself is now thinking they were a pair of run-always. They were released when they established their identity.

Wife's Charge Leads To Seizure of Still

SANTA CLARA, Nov. 9.—Tuesday a warrant was handed to Marshal George Z. Fallon for the arrest of George Z. Simonovich, a charge of disturbing the peace preferred by Simonovich's wife, who claimed that her husband swears at her and generally upsets her peace and quiet. Fallon, proceeding to serve the warrant arrived at Simonovich's residence on the Lawrence Road just out of Santa Clara, and found no one home.

But strange officers attracted Marshall's attention, and snooping around he discovered a modern sized Jackass brandy plant, still and everything. Around the place were also discovered several pounds of prunes, pears and old fruit. Fallon notified the Sheriff's office and later on a squad composed of Fallon, County Detective William Dreishmeier and Deputy Sheriff Hopping conducted a raid on Simonovich's plant, confiscating his implements and mash. Simonovich, when arrested, faces a charge of violating the County "Volstead act" together with the charges preferred by his wife.

Lodi Post Arranges Celebration at Home

LODI, Nov. 9.—Explaining why Lodi Post, No. 22, American Legion, declined to participate in the Armistice Day parade in Stockton, Major W. E. Garrison, formerly of the 31st division, states: "It is impossible for the day to be celebrated in the city of Lodi. We believe that Stockton is making an attraction of the day and not a celebration." When the Stockton business men declined to close their doors all day on November 11, Lodi Post announced it would celebrate at home, and as the result, is arranging a parade and exercises. Most of the secret orders announce that they will parade and 1,000 school children will also be in line. Speaking and music will follow in the municipal park, if the day be fair. Otherwise a hall will be procured. Football and other sports will round out the afternoon and a dance will be enjoyed at night.

Santa Clara Walks May Be Widened

SANTA CLARA, Nov. 9.—The Board of Town Trustees of Santa Clara met here in regular session Monday evening and at the meeting it was decided to surmount all the property owners on Washington street to appear before the board at a special meeting to be held on November 13, in order that the board may ascertain the opinion of the property owners toward the widening of the sidewalks on Washington Street from 10 to 14 feet. A letter was also sent from the board to the Laurewood Farm, ordering the Town to immediately cease using the farm for the sewerage disposal.

action means that Santa Clara will have to make a bond issue of $60,000 to enable the disposal of the sewage system to be had at Alviso. It is understood that Agnew will cooperate with Santa Clara and share the expenses of the project.

Officers Raid Camp In Search of Drugs

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 9.—Upon complaints from residents of Green Valley, officers of the local sheriff's office made a raid on the Chinese camp on a high ridge near the town for drugs and liquor but found no drugs to any extent and made no arrests.

Inhabitants of the valley complain that the Chinese camp is a rendezvous for drug addicts, both white and yellow, and owing to the many addicts about the valley of late asked that the raid be made.

Los Gatos Picked for Librarians' Meeting

LOS GATOS, Nov. 9.—The spring meeting of the second district of the California Librarians' association will undoubtedly be held in this city early next year, according to Mrs. Caroline D. public librarian of Los Gatos. About 60 delegates are expected. The district embraces all librarians in Contra Costa, Alameda, Monterey, San Benito, Santa Clara and adjacent counties.

Mayor Issues Proclamation on Armistice Day

A proclamation reminding the people of the import of Armistice Day was issued today by Mayor Davis as follows:

TO THE PEOPLE OF OAKLAND:

Saturday, November 11, is Armistice Day, the fourth anniversary of the eventful morning when the greatest war that the world has yet seen was brought to a close.

Each year as Armistice Day approaches every American citizen feels a sense of relief and a sense of anxiety and to the time when millions of our men were overseas or preparing to go overseas. The millions of our young men who were actually in the service of our country at that time consider Armistice Day as one of the most significant holidays of the entire year. Armistice Day is for them not only an anniversary of the date on which the awful carnage ceased, but it brings home anew the memory of their comrades who made the supreme sacrifice in the cause of their country.

Oakland's ex-service men are celebrating at the Auditorium this week with a carnival which bears the title of "Yankee Parade." For Armistice Day itself, a committee of our veterans has planned a formal observance commencing with a parade, including appropriate exercises in memory of those men from Oakland who gave up their lives and terminating at the Auditorium. Many of our civic organizations and fraternal societies, our schools, and patriotic organizations, are planning to take part in the Armistice Day program.

Armistice Day is one worthy of observance by every person in America, and I am sure that the people of our city will welcome the opportunity to join with the veterans of Oakland in their observance of the day.

Alleged Turkey Coop Thieves Await Trial

STOCKTON, Nov. 9.—Elmer Willets, E. L. McDougall and Charles Lewis, captured with eighteen live turkeys in their hands, are in jail here awaiting trial. They were arrested shortly after the roosts of a rancher near Ripon had been looted. Officers notified by telephone, awaited their coming.

At an old house on the Pacific road the officers found fifteen more turkeys, which were identified by John Baker, who declared they were stolen from his ranch recently.

The men under arrest are suspected of many other poultry thefts in the county. Willets was recently acquitted by a Modesto jury on a charge of having stolen turkeys from a local farmer. McDougall, arrested on a similar charge, was dismissed for lack of evidence. The men, declare the officers, all carried I. W. W. cards when arrested.

Memorial to Hill Will Be Dedicated

SAN JOSE, Nov. 9.—The San Joaquin Club will unveil a memorial to their late president, Andrew D. Hill, in the California Redwood park, Big Basin, on Saturday at 1 p. m. Autos will leave the Chamber of Commerce at 9 a. m.

The program will include addresses by Judge John P. Richards, who introduced Hill to the Big Basin; Father Z. T. Maher, a park commissioner; Mrs. Louise Jones, a charter member of the club; Rev. Charles Pence and Mrs. Kate Kennedy. The tablet will be presented to the park by the San Joaquin Club, and will be received by Colonel C. B. Wing on behalf of the Governor. Poetic tributes will be offered by Mrs. Edith Daley. Music will be rendered by the College of the Pacific Quartet.

Justice Elected By Seven Vote Margin

NILES, Nov. 8.—By a margin of seven votes, E. C. Mickle was elected Justice of the Peace of Washington township over his opponent, J. S. Furtado, according to the counts completed at the precincts. Furtado, who was defeated, received a large enough majority at the primary election to elect him, received 1361 votes.

John L. Russell won the race for constable of the township over Joseph Bodley, by 119 to 99. Thomas Silva, elected at the primaries, received 1330 at Tuesday's election.

Man Thought Insane Taken to County Jail

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 9.—An alleged insane man has been lodged in the county jail by the constable of Tremont township. He was found wandering about a farm house in the soaking rain with no apparent destination in view.

He had $100 on his person, but would not speak or divulge his name or where he was from. From his effects it was learned that his name is Felix McCaffrey.

He will be kept for examination by doctors unless he improves in the immediate future.

Suspect Admits Theft Of Pair of Socks

SAN JOSE, Nov. 9.—In the police court yesterday J. M. Lutens was arraigned after having been arrested for stealing two pairs of woolen socks.

Lutens is a trucker in the local Southern Pacific yards. Winter is coming on, I saw the socks hanging out of a broken crate. I thought I could get away with it. That's all," was Lutens' simple story.

The judge let him off with a 90-day suspended sentence.

Elephants As Engines

MILAN.—When all switching engines were crippled by communists here, circus elephants were used to shift trains in the railroad yards.

STANFORD AVENUE EYESORE TO GO

The old spur-track maintained by the Heidecker Brick Company for many years on Stanford Avenue was ordered eliminated today by the city council, effective January 1.

The elimination of the track is the result of a long battle in North Oakland by the Golden Gate Improvement Club, which not only fought against the track, with its jangling trains and its interruptions to street traffic, but battled against the brick dust in the vicinity and made a few tart remarks about the architectural beauty of the house and sheds of the brick company.

The California Marble Company bought out the property and the brick company quit. The marble company asserted that present conditions are not its fault and promised to clean up the place. The council thereupon cancelled the old permit, with the understanding that the marble company will get a new spur track privilege, via Lowell street.

The council adopted a resolution giving a holiday to all city employees on Armistice Day.

On recommendation of Commissioner W. J. Baccus, the board of education's request for the narrowing of Nineteenth avenue from East Nineteenth to Twentieth was turned down. The school board wants this street narrowed to give better space to the new Theodore Roosevelt High school, which will be on both sides of the street. Baccus, however, asserted that the narrowing of this traffic artery to East Oakland is unjustified.

MATE HURLED PLASTER, WIFE GETS DECREE

When Mrs. Myrtle Stahl went to the movies and saw Charlie Chaplin throw a custard pie in some one's face, she laughed heartily. But when some one threw a mustard plaster in her face, it was a different story.

A court Superior Judge Kotard about the plaster episode today when testifying in her suit for divorce against William Stahl. She said that once when she made him a mustard plaster, he applied it to his back and it hurt him. He threw it at her, striking her in the face. The mustard plaster hurt her badly she said. She won her decree.

Change in Subway Law Is Proposed

A bill to amend the present subway act of 1911 will be introduced in the next legislature at the suggestion of District Attorney Ezra Decoto and City Attorney W. J. Locke. It was announced today by Decoto following a conference with Locke on the status of the tube and bridge question.

Recently Decoto rendered an opinion that the provisions of the law which provides that the construction of a tube must be done under the direction of a commission composed of the mayors of the two cities and the board of supervisors of the county, acted as an effective bar against further procedure as far as this county is concerned. This law is contrary to the state constitution, which provides that the city and county boards of supervisors have the right to construct and maintain a subway.

Alleged Cruelty To Children Probed

Assistant District Attorney James Walsh today advised District Attorney E. W. Garhart, of Fresno County, of the results of an investigation conducted by the local probation office, into charges made of the maltreatment of two little children.

According to the report the children, Elizabeth and Richard Hood, children of Thomas Hood, 2059 Georgia street, were maltreated by their aunt, Mrs. Bertha Eubank, 169 Lincoln street, Oakland, recently. In his letter Walsh suggests that the facts in the case indicate that the woman is in need of medical treatment rather than punishment.

The children allege that they were beaten with a strap, while the boy says his aunt forced him to hold a hot curling iron as punishment for not doing as she bid.

Jealous of Boys, Says Wife in Suit

That her husband's jealousy of her extended to youths young enough to be her sons, was the testimony of Yvonne F. Gilman, in a suit for divorce against Dr. Charles D. Gilman, Oakland dentist.

Mrs. Gilman said that on one occasion when they had gone to Sacramento to visit friends of her husband caused her so much embarrassment by his jealousy of two sons of their host and hostess that she had to leave and come home.

The couple were married in March 23, 1912, and separated August 20, 1922.

Court Closes Case Of Stanford Student

SAN JOSE, Nov. 9.—Police Judge T. R. Dougherty yesterday dismissed the case of L. Bettencourt, Stanford medical student, charged with distributing handbills throughout the city in violation of a city ordinance. Bettencourt was arrested while distributing handbills against the water-power act in parked autos of the city and following suit not knowing it was a violation of city law. Three other men, charged with distributing handbills, two working for the act of the water-power act, failed to answer to their names and their $10 bail was declared forfeited.

He Swamped Rival CUFFORD PINCHOT, who has been elected Governor of Pennsylvania by an overwhelming majority.

Terrible, Asserts Lady Astor About Defeat of Women

(Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.)

PLYMOUTH, England, Nov. 9.—"Terrible news," exclaimed Viscountess Astor, American born peeress and one of the two women members of the British House of Commons, when informed by International News Service today that virtually all the women candidates had been defeated in the American congressional election. The Viscountess is a candidate for reelection upon the Conservative ticket, and is conducting an aggressive campaign, one of the chief planks of which is temperance and limit on the sale of alcoholic drinks.

"Yes, it is terrible," she added. "But I have too high an opinion of the intelligence of the men and women voters in the United States to believe American women candidates were defeated because of their sex. Their qualities must have been weak. If they had had a good program, I am sure that they would have won some seats. I regret the defeat of Miss Abbie Robertson (formerly congresswoman from Oklahoma), but I am not surprised to hear of it. She was too reactionary. Women candidates must make a progressive stand in order to win victories."

"Miss Robertson and the other women candidates should have come out strong for the league of nations and a slogan of 'No more war.'"

Santa Clara Valley Advertised in East

SAN JOSE, Nov. 9.—Advertisement of this valley in the East is sought still further by the local Chamber of Commerce, which yesterday at the regular directors' meeting authorized President Crothers to appoint an advertising committee for the furtherance of knowledge of Central California back east. Distribution by local merchants of 250 copies of an advertisement of this part of the state which is sent to appear in an eastern publication, will be made by the local chamber through the agency of the local Boy Scouts. The chamber's advertising committee was named to include F. L. Fehren, chairman; A. J. Hart, Warren B. Kelly, Elton R. Shaw and C. O. Van Vleet.

Heavy Rain Falls in East Alameda County

LIVERMORE, Nov. 9.—The first rain storm of the season is now in progress in Eastern Alameda county. It started Monday, cleared up in time to let the voters cast their ballots and commenced again after the polls closed Tuesday night. 1.2 inches have fallen since Monday morning.

BATTERY CHARGE WARRANT SOUGHT

Legal action is being conducted by Deputy District Attorney James Walsh here, following a recent request by M. Paria, of Ashland, for the arrest of George Caldera on an alleged charge of battery. An argument arising at the Ashland poolroom recently, stated Paria, precipitated an attack on him by Caldera, resulting in severe facial and body injury. Paria, on his appearance before Cannon, bore out the general nature of a hearing. The result of Walsh's investigation will determine whether a warrant will be issued for the arrest of Caldera.

Free Examination of Children Is Arranged

CLIP AND MAIL
I wish to enroll..... age..... years, at the School Health Service Section of the International Health and Safety Exposition, Nov. 17-26, inclusive.
Signed.....
Address.....
Mail to Ethel Moore Memorial Building, Room 206, before Nov. 14, and you will be given appointment.

Is your school-age child healthy? Alvin Powell, head of the Public Health Center, will mail you an appointment card and tell you at what hour during one day of the exposition you are to take your child to the School Health Service booth.
Don't you think that if you knew of this defect you would take immediate steps to correct it?
It is to answer these questions and to direct the parent or guardian's attention to any defect in the physical well-being of the children of Oakland that the School Health Service will maintain a special division of four booths in the International Health and Safety Exposition, which opens at the Oakland Municipal Auditorium, Friday, November 17, for ten days.
In order to further prove its value to the community at large and to every mother and father or guardian of a child of school age, the School Health Service of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda has united to give free examination of all children who register with the School Health Service on or before Wednesday, November 14.
Just sign the coupon printed in this issue of THE TRIBUNE and enroll your little boy or little girl in the School Health Service. Dr.

Millions are now using this simple treatment to stop pain. Sloan's, applied without rubbing, penetrates and produces a warming sensation. It stimulates new, fresh blood to and through the aching part. This breaks up the congestion, and since congestion has caused the pain—quick, grateful relief follows.
The world over, Sloan's stops rheumatic twinges and muscular aches. It eases aching backs and sharp, neuritic pains. Good, too, for colds in chest.

Club to Stage Playlets.
RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—Because of inclement weather conditions, the session of the Richmond Community Dramatic Club in Pythian Castle Monday night was poorly attended. It was decided, however, that the next entertainment to be staged by the club should take place in January. It was also decided to stage a playlet as a feature of the next entertainment.

You Can Now Try This Newer Form Of Iron At My Expense

I First Compounded This Remarkable Remedy For My Own Neighbors And Their Praise Of It Has Spread So Rapidly That Now Over Four Million People Use It Annually—Read My Unusual Offer Below.

Years ago I began to wonder at the great number of my own friends and neighbors who were complaining, wailing, complaining, and doctoring, with out ever seeming to get any better. Both working men and their wives were frequently all tired out in the evening, and a great many were weak, nervous and run-down. One had pains in the back and thought he had kidney trouble. Another had pains around the heart, palpitations and dizziness, and was sure he was suffering from heart disease. Still others had severe headaches, floating spots before the eyes, tender spots along the spine and a great variety of alarming symptoms.
For years I made a special study of this condition, consulting a great number of physicians and chemists. An immense number of investigations by physicians all over the country showed that three people out of every four you, druggist and get your first trial pack.

meet lack 100% iron in their blood. Lack of iron in the blood is the greatest of all devitalizing weaknesses. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron, nothing you eat does you any good. Your heart, lungs and kidneys and all your vital organs get their nourishment from the blood stream, and when the blood lacks iron and is thin, pale and watery, you may suffer from the symptoms of a great number of diseases when the real and true cause of all your trouble is a lack of iron in the blood.
In the old days people often took metallic iron, which some physicians claim is not absorbed at all. In compounding this newer form of iron which I call Nuxated Iron, I employed a special form of iron, which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, leaflets and apples. Unlike the older forms of iron, it will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach, and it is ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood. It is the people whose blood is rich in iron who possess great strength, force and energy. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test:

Counter-Attack Is Launched by Eastbay

Factors in Milk War Against S. F. Cream

Price Cut to 10 Cents From 13 By Creamery Backed By Local Factors.

ARTICLE III.
By HAROLD J. FITZGERALD.

In the two articles of this series that already have been printed, the creamery men have been given by the leaders of the local milk industry for their belief that the San Francisco association of dairymen is trying to control the dairy industry on this side of the bay, and, second, the means by which they assert, the association is attempting to carry out that plan through precipitating the milk war that has raged between local retailers for the last two months.

If the existing price war has the significance attached to it by these local dairymen—namely, that it is the crux of a plan to draw the Eastbay milk industry into a huge milk combination—it becomes important to consider the present status of the fight, and what the situation may be as tending to indicate victory for one side or the other. Before proceeding with a consideration of what the dairymen say would be the effects upon local consumers of milk of a victory by the San Francisco association, the present article will be devoted to a consideration of the present status of the fight.

Lines Are Drawn.

On the one side, it will be remembered, is said to be the San Francisco association, backing three local dairymen in the cut-rate sale of milk at ten cents a quart, and protecting these three dairies from financial loss by itself absorbing the deficit caused by the price war.

On the other side are the remaining creameries of the Eastbay, each losing as much money as any one of their three opponent creameries, and yet each having to stand its own loss in full.

The result of this situation is, that while the three creameries that are said to be aiding the San Francisco association are presumably in as profitable a financial position as they were at the beginning of the price war, the creameries that are fighting this attempt, although they greatly outnumber the others, are losing money.

Estimates made by men prominent in the local milk industry are that more than $50,000 has been lost by the creameries of Oakland and Berkeley since the price war began.

These figures are cited by the local dairy and creamery men in answer to the assertions made by heads of the three creameries that first cut prices, which were to the effect that ten cents a quart was a fair price for retail milk and under present costs of production, represented a reasonable profit to the retailers.

Obviously such a situation as this could not continue intact, being it would mean that sooner or later the local creameries would be forced either into bankruptcy or into surrendering to the San Francisco association.

Mitigating Circumstance.

There is a mitigating circumstance in the situation, however, from the point of view of the local creamerymen. Although the three creameries that are fighting them are doing so presumably without loss to themselves, the losses inevitable in a price-cutting war are nevertheless being escaped entirely by the opposite side; in this case they are falling upon the individual members of the San Francisco association, who even before the milk war began, say that they were in many cases barely able to exist, under the prices they received from the San Francisco association.

Present Status Of 'Milk War' Is Set Forth

THE "milk war," involving, it is claimed, the San Francisco creamerymen or not the Eastbay milk industry shall be drawn into a trust controlled by the Associated Milk Producers of San Francisco, has now been under way in the Eastbay cities for more than two months. What is its present status? How do the opposing forces line up, and what are the principal resources that each is using, or can use, in the struggle? What are the tactical maneuvers that are being employed?

The answers to these questions form the subject today of the third article in the series of four in which THE TRIBUNE is setting forth the results of an investigation into the milk war, and the issues which are alleged to be involved in it.

Some of these dairymen, it is claimed, have already been forced out of business by the taxes levied upon them by the San Francisco association for the purpose of carrying on the price war. Under this situation, then, the problem would be, which can last the longer under the steady financial drain—the local creamerymen, or the dairymen belonging to the San Francisco producers' association?

But in this connection must be considered an important advantage that is held by the San Francisco association. Instead of having to throw the full loss due to the price war upon its members, it is able to unload a large part of it upon the creameries to which it sells its milk. These it has been regularly charging, even before the milk war began, a price of from three to four cents a gallon higher than that charged by the Eastbay producers to the local creameries. This means that while the fight against the San Francisco association is having to be maintained by the Eastbay dairymen alone, the association's side of the fight is being borne by the San Francisco wholesalers and retailers both.

Attack Launched.

At least, that was the case until yesterday. At that time the Eastbay dairymen and the Eastbay creamerymen launched an attack against the San Francisco creameries that may remove them completely as allies of the San Francisco producers' association, and throw the full cost of the milk war upon the members of the latter organization.

This attack, which was in reality a counter attack, consisted in breaking the retail price of milk in San Francisco to ten cents a quart, through a creamery in that city which is controlled by the Eastbay dairymen and distributors. This creamery, recently established in San Francisco under the name of Pleasant Ranch company, immediately began charging only ten cents a quart for milk instead of the thirteen cents which the other San Francisco creameries were charging. The others, of course, had to come down, too, or lose their business.

Now a thirteen-cent price for a quart of milk has been the only means by which the San Francisco creameries could afford to pay the prices charged by the San Francisco Producers' Association which, as has been pointed out, has been several cents higher than the price charged by the Eastbay association. Consequently, the San Francisco creameries can no longer, it is expected, afford to pay the higher wholesale prices, but will demand that these be lowered to conform to the ten-cent price. If this is done, it will mean that they will cease contributing funds to carry on the San Francisco association's milk war, and that the full cost of the expensive struggle will then be thrown fully upon the San Francisco association itself.

WAR'S END SEEN.

It is expected by leaders in the

Dairymen Plan to Join Forces With Distributors Against Alleged "Trust."

Eastbay milk industry that as the result of this, the San Francisco association will admit defeat, and that the entire price war may come to an end in a few days—and with it the alleged "tempt of the San Francisco association to draw the Eastbay dairymen into a combination."

But if it does not end the war, they declare, another move is in readiness to be made by the Eastbay men. The Eastbay dairymen who so far have gone unscathed in the fight, although they were actually the objects of the San Francisco association's alleged attack on the local creameries, will in all probability enter the fight as allies of the creamerymen. What is to say, they will relieve the creameries of part of the financial strain of selling milk for ten cents a quart which they have bought at a wholesale price of normally eight cents a quart. They will, it is planned, temporarily accept a lower wholesale price from the creameries.

With the San Francisco creameries out of the fight, this will leave the Eastbay creameries and the Eastbay dairymen standing together to resist the attack of the San Francisco dairymen's association. The chances for victory, the Eastbay men say, look good.

But why should they bother to put up such a fight against being drawn into the combination which, it is claimed, is projected by the San Francisco association? Why is it worth while for the local creamerymen, and the local dairymen to lose money over an extended period to keep out of it? And why does the fight, and the chances of victory or defeat for either side, really mean to the Eastbay residents—the ultimate consumer of the milk that is being fought over? What those who are conducting the fight have to say in answer to these questions will be presented in tomorrow's article, the concluding one of the present series of four.

MEAFEE LECTURE POSTPONED

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—There will be no meeting to hear Dr. J. A. McFee, Berkeley minister, tonight at the First Baptist church, because of the injury sustained by Dr. McFee in an automobile accident yesterday. His lecture on "The Holy Land" has been indefinitely postponed.

Of this number, 22 paid fines, two forfeited bail, four commitments were issued, three sentences were suspended, one commitment withheld, two were reprimanded, one was dismissed and six cases were pending at the close of the month.

According to the report of the fire department, there were ten alarms during the month. Loss to buildings and contents totaled $1720. The report of the city auditor shows a balance of $116,629.26 on October 31. The city tax collector reports $26,074.78 taxes collected during the month.

Episcopals Form St. Andrew's Chapter

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—A chapter of St. Andrew's Brotherhood was organized at a men's meeting on Monday evening at St. Edmund's Episcopal church. H. Morris of St. John's church, Oakland, and director of the Eastbay assembly of the order, assisted by representatives of Trinity church, Oakland, and Christ church, Alameda, installed the officers.

G. Harlow was elected director of the local chapter, and G. Babcock secretary-treasurer for the district. The year's program will be arranged at the next meeting of the chapter, which will be held on Monday evening at 7:30 at the church.

Church Roll Call Is Well Attended

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—In spite of the heavy rain last night, the annual roll call of the First Christian church was well attended.

Brief reports of the work undertaken by the church were made, and there was discussion of work for the coming year. On the program were humorous stunts and musical selections. A cafeteria lunch was a feature.

The affair was in charge of members of the Sunday school, the Twentieth Century club, Organized Women's club, Rev. T. A. Boyer and Miss Blanche Fehely, secretary of the church.

Grant P. T. A. Gives Babies Souvenirs

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—The Grant P. T. A. will honor babies at its regular meeting tomorrow afternoon in the school auditorium. Souvenirs will be given each baby attending the session. Following the reading of papers by Mrs. Robert Zumwalt, Mrs. Bessie Cole and Mrs. Robert Carlson on Dr. Holt's Care of Babies, the program will be held. Girls of the eighth grade will sing a lullaby song. Mrs. Hazel Waldorf will preside.

Sheriff Veale Has 966 Majority

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—Official reports from the 24 Richmond precincts give R. R. Veale, incumbent, 2869 against Regardio, 1993, in the sheriff race, or a majority of 966. With the returns from one precinct here missing the unofficial count gives Richardson 2876 to Veale, 1666.

DEATHBED VISIT ENDED

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—Lincoln has returned from San Jose, where she went two weeks ago to be by the bedside of her father, Edgar F. Manning. Her father died last Sunday at the family home, 615 South Fifth street. He was well known in Richmond, where he frequently visited his daughter.

NEW BAY BRIDGE

PLAN REFERRED TO SUPERVISORS

Endorsement of Span From San Mateo County Put Up to Civic Bodies.

A request upon the Board of Supervisors for an endorsement of a proposed $5,000,000 bridge across the bay from Coyote Point, San Mateo County, to a point near Alvarado, was today referred by that body to District Attorney Ezra Decoto, and the sentiment of civic bodies and commercial organizations will be obtained in the meantime.

The request for an endorsement of the bridge project was made in a communication from William H. Metson, San Francisco attorney, who was requested by the financial ability and integrity of Colonel Frank Eldridge Webb, the proposed builder of the bridge.

The communication also pointed out that seventeen out of eighteen San Francisco supervisors, as well as the city councils of the cities of San Mateo and Burlingame had already endorsed the bridge by resolutions.

WILL BE TOLL BRIDGE.

The letter pointed out that the bridge was to be a toll bridge while it remained in private hands with permission to the counties affected to purchase at any time. The letter said that application for a permit to construct the bridge will be made to the San Mateo county supervisors on December 18.

This application will be made in compliance with the law, the letter declared, that requires application be made to the county on the left bank of a descending stream or body of water. In this connection Supervisor Redmond G. Stoddard declared his belief that the law allowed condemnation of property on the other side of the stream once the permit had been granted. This would mean that Alameda county would have no authority to prevent the proposed bridge from having one terminus in this county.

VIEWERS ARE SOUGHT.

Due to the magnitude of the project and its interest to the public in general, Chairman William J. Hamilton proposed that civic bodies, chambers of commerce in Alameda county cities and other commercial organizations be invited to make known their views regarding the proposed bridge before the supervisors put themselves on record as endorsing the project.

It is probable that this plan will be carried out when a legal opinion has been secured from the district attorney.

County Supervisor George A. Posey presented plans to the supervisors for the widening of the San Leandro bridge on East Fourteenth street, which shows that the work can be done for approximately $21,000, which is considerably under the original estimate of $35,000. The plans were worked out by Posey so as to make as much saving as possible.

Despondent Woman Attempts Suicide

BERKELEY, Nov. 9.—For the second time within recent months, Mrs. Elizabeth Arnerger, 38 years old, attempted to commit suicide last night at her home, 1403 Sacramento street. She was found, writhing in agony from the effects of poison, by her father, E. A. Westmore, 1611 Rose street, who went to the house to visit her shortly after 6 o'clock.

Events Leading Up to the Tragedy

DOWN IN AUTO; IS BADLY HURT

Berkeley Police Trying to Fix Responsibility For Accident in Train.

BERKELEY, Nov. 9.—James Peterson, 65-year-old flagman of the Southern Pacific company, is in a serious condition at the Southern Pacific hospital in San Francisco today as the result of being run down last night at Adelina and Woolsey streets. He was found lying in the street by passing automobiles.

Peterson was at his post of duty at the time he was injured, and was attempting to warn motorists of the approach of a train. According to information which the police obtained, G. H. Slack of 555 Ventura street, who was driving north on the east side of Adelina street, stopped on the south side of Woolsey street to let a train pass, which he supposed was an Elginworth train. Seeing the car was a Shattuck electric, he started up again, according to his statement. A machine driven by Fred Linn, 1412 Audison street, was the last car to pass Slack, according to the latter's statement, and according to Slack, Linn's automobile ran over Peterson, who was lying in the street. It was raining hard at the time and neither Slack nor Linn saw Peterson, they declare, until the latter's car passed over the injured man to Temple hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a compound fracture of the collarbone, severe bruises and lacerations and shock. He was later taken to the Southern Pacific hospital in San Francisco.

Linn admitted to the police that he ran over Peterson, but declared he did not knock him down. The police are conducting a further investigation today into the responsibility for the accident.

Legion Auxiliary Postpones Meeting

STANFORD, Nov. 9.—The monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, American Legion, of this city in the Legion hall has been postponed from Tuesday night, November 14, to the following night, Wednesday, November 15, according to an announcement made today by the president, Mrs. Fred Baker.

The meeting is considered one of the most important of the year, including the appointment of a chaplain and a sergeant-at-arms. In order to raise funds for a needy ex-service man the auxiliary has arranged a benefit whist party in the Legion hall in Park street, Friday afternoon, November 18, from 2 to 4 o'clock. The following is the committee: Mesdames Fred Baker, Joseph Kearney, Al Latham, E. White, Clark Spence, E. Sperbeck, G. Nohman, Agnes Houch and Elmer Johnson.

RICHMOND ELKS' CIRCUS OPENED DESPITE RAINS

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—Undaunted by two postponed openings due to heavy rains Monday and Tuesday evenings, the management of the Elks' Charity Circus and Industrial Exposition opened last night in the heaviest downpour of the week so far. Despite adverse conditions, the tent was crowded.

ELECTED CONSTABLE.

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—M. G. Moltona will be the new constable of San Pablo township as a result of the Tuesday election. Moltona won over the incumbent, Ben Montoya, by 276 to 240. San Pablo township takes in San Pablo and Giant.

"The Quist Mystery"—In today's program.

The show was started officially by Mayor E. J. Garrard, who delivered the opening address at 10 o'clock. He was followed by a program including trapeze stunts, dancing by Carrie Ellsworth, light-wire performances, and music by the orchestra. County concerns were represented at the forty booths installed under a big tent.

Rural Costumes To Feature Dance

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—The committee in charge of the country dance to be held tomorrow evening at Washington school urges that all attending appear in rural costumes. While future dancers appear in costume will not be the dancers from the floor, it is desired that the spirit of the occasion be emulated in the garments worn.

CLASS PLANS EXTENSION.

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—The Twentieth Century Class held a meeting at the church parlor Monday evening when plans for increasing the class were discussed. Because of the resignations of Miss Jane Curnow as president and Carson Wright, vice president, who has gone east for an extended stay, a committee was appointed to nominate officers to fill these vacancies.

Grant P. T. A. Gives Babies Souvenirs

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—The Grant P. T. A. will honor babies at its regular meeting tomorrow afternoon in the school auditorium. Souvenirs will be given each baby attending the session. Following the reading of papers by Mrs. Robert Zumwalt, Mrs. Bessie Cole and Mrs. Robert Carlson on Dr. Holt's Care of Babies, the program will be held. Girls of the eighth grade will sing a lullaby song. Mrs. Hazel Waldorf will preside.

Sheriff Veale Has 966 Majority

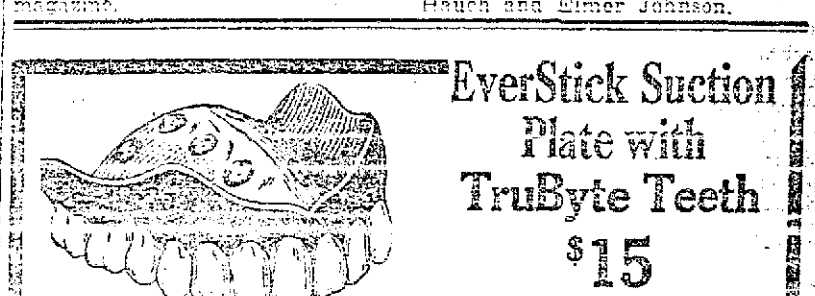

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—Official reports from the 24 Richmond precincts give R. R. Veale, incumbent, 2869 against Regardio, 1993, in the sheriff race, or a majority of 966. With the returns from one precinct here missing the unofficial count gives Richardson 2876 to Veale, 1666.

DEATHBED VISIT ENDED

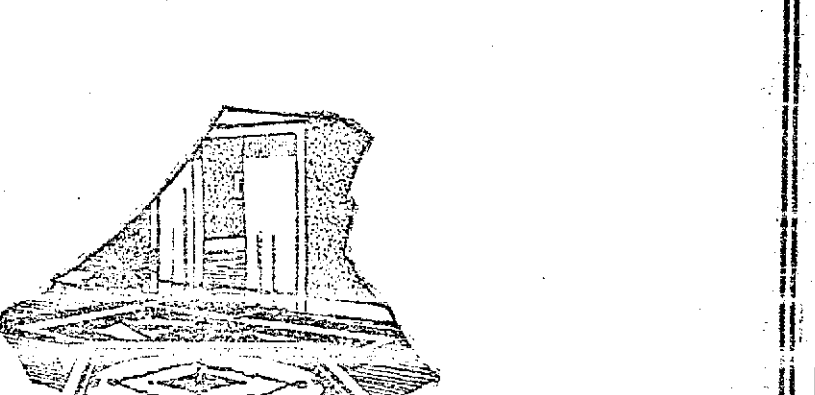

RICHMOND, Nov. 9.—Lincoln has returned from San Jose, where she went two weeks ago to be by the bedside of her father, Edgar F. Manning. Her father died last Sunday at the family home, 615 South Fifth street. He was well known in Richmond, where he frequently visited his daughter.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A few drops of this quickly made. Saves about $2.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but it promptly results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, no children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon gives enough stops entirely. Satisfies for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Glycerin pine extract, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give abundant relief.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

Foresight and preparedness this year saved to the Eastbay thousands of dollars in wooded wealth and proved the worth and effectiveness of the fire patrol system. A season which carried with it more of fire menace than any in years and which saw disastrous fires burning in all parts of the state, has passed in this section with a minimum of loss. The record should mean a perpetuation of the present methods and a constant emphasis to hikers, picnickers and others of the dangers of carelessness.

The snow which covered the hills last winter caused a situation different and more dangerous than any in recent history. Its weight broke limbs from trees and covered the forest floor with brittle fuel. Early in the season the danger was recognized and the warning sent out. Leadership was taken by the Contra Costa Hills Club, money was raised, and a District Fire Ranger was placed on the job. Club members helped in clearing the trails, in posting warnings and were ready to respond to the call to fight fire.

In the season there were fifty four alarms of fire in the hills. Sixteen were false alarms, and four were outside of the Contra Costa Hills District, leaving thirty four blazes on the slopes back of the city. Of these conflagrations but seven damaged trees, the most serious being the burning of 250 pine trees 15 years old. In all, the number of alarms was large and the damage comparatively slight.

It may be set down as certain, had it not been for the preparations which had been made, many of these fires would have occasioned great loss. With a ranger on the job, tool boxes placed at various points, and an alarm system in use, no fire was allowed to make headway, and a season regarded as unusually menacing went into history as one of the smallest losses.

Outside of the cost of the tools, the expenses of the year's work, due largely to volunteer services and the interest taken by the Contra Costa Hills Club and other forest lovers, amounted to but $100. There is $900 left of the original $1000 which is raised.

As soon as the ground becomes soft, work of clearing the trails will be taken up again. For this labor the $900 and possibly more, will be exhausted. It is needed fire prevention work.

The season's record of the directing of intelligent attention to the protection of the forest area has proved it to be one of the most profitable investments the community has ever made. Those who took the initiative are deserving of highest praise.

MUSTAPHA'S DANGEROUS AMBITION.

Mustapha Kemal has one foot on the throne of Turkey. "The sovereignty of the Sultan is assumed by the nation," he said in a recent address and the world is waiting to see how long before he will assume the sultanate.

In more ways than one this newest "bad man" of the Near East is braving collapse. There is as much danger in his plan to separate the church from state and then delegate the house of Osman to the church field alone, as there is in his bold gestures across the Dardanelles.

The Sultan of Turkey has always played the game of diplomacy with a cold up his sleeve. He was regarded with some respect as an adversary because it was in his power to stir up a "religious war" in the East. How is a Sultan-Caliph, a leader not the head of the church, to foment a "holy war" unless the house of Osman is working with him as a partner?

If Kemal becomes Sultan, he will win the hatred of the hereditary line of rulers. He will mount the throne shorn of a great part of his power and will court trouble within his own borders. The despatches indicate Kemal is ambitious to become Sultan and will take the chance. To win he must defeat several other strong contenders and secure the vote of the National Assembly.

Turkey under a double-authority, religious and temporal, will not be fired with the same fanatical zeal. As Sultan, Kemal, to hold his throne, will have to curb his ambitions for the expansion of Turkey.

SOME ELECTION SIDE ISSUES.

Second only in interest to the results in the main contests of Tuesday's elections are some of the side issues. It was a day of peculiar developments.

From Massachusetts where the venerable and faithful servant of New England, Henry Cabot Lodge, was pressed so closely that his victory was that of a scant margin, to Illinois, where a wet proposal was carried, there is to be found in the records of the voting little stories of surprise and human interest.

Nevada stood by her divorce laws when they were assailed, and the business men there were the leaders to see that no change would be made in statutes which annually bring hundreds of wealthy visitors from the rest of the country. For a moment the ballot threatened the divorce industry. The people spoke, and the mills are to continue to grind.

In Iowa the electors voted a bonus to the soldiers and back in Massachusetts the idea of a censor for motion picture shows was routed from consideration by a large vote. It will be noticed that New York elected for its senator Dr. Royal S. Copeland, the man who conducts the department of health on this page of The Tribune.

MUSSOLINI'S CHANCE.

Mussolini, Italy's new "strong man," takes power and, immediately, the lira is strengthened in the foreign exchange. It is thus confidence is registered. Abroad as well as at home there is a feeling that the leader of the Fascisti may bring his country into a new day.

So great are the obstacles this squat man must overcome one may wonder at the effort and sacrifice he put into winning position. The premier who undertakes financial rehabilitation of a country plays with unpopularity. If he succeeds it will be his undoing for the budget of Italy cannot be balanced without increased revenues. Mussolini can effect economies but he must look for new sources and new sources mean the adding of taxes in a country already heavily burdened. It is a thankless task into which the "dictator" has ridden.

There are those in Europe who believe this man is capable of so great a task as straightening out the finances and holding his strong cabinet together. They point to his vigorous entry into office, his sharp reproof of Sforza for resigning as French ambassador, his warning to the radical press that he will safeguard freedom of tolerance on the condition that the press proves worthy of liberty and his statement that his ministry will establish discipline and order, as indicating the spirit and calibre of the man.

In the largest job he has yet to do Mussolini must risk losing his popularity. Europe is waiting to see if he is big enough to take the risk.

Things seem to be happening to suit Lloyd George. No sooner does he let go the British helm than the Turkish eruption and linked troubles break out again, as though it was considered safe with him out of the way to resume world disturbing ructions. What effect this will have on the English elections cannot be foreseen, but it was to be expected that so wily a politician as the late premier would not permit it to pass without calling the attention of his subjects to it.

The radio set a new record in the election of Tuesday. At the August primaries it was used effectively in broadcasting the returns. Three months later it not only performed this service but carried the results from the Atlantic to West had interfered with the wire service the radio proved its worth in a time of need.

The question as to the right of the former kaiser to call himself emperor and king on his wedding day is one which should cause no great amount of concern. Let's wait to see what he calls himself on his anniversary days.

A Dramatic Criticism. (Eagle Point News-Medford Mail Tribune.)

Last Tuesday Carl and Jack Thomas, the Vanderville kids of Chicago, came into our town and announced that they would give an entertainment that night in the opera hall, four acts, taking a room and meals at the Sunnyside. During their stay they gave me the following interesting item: They started in the early part of the season with their knapsacks on their backs with their business printed on them as kid artists in the line of showmen. They reported that they had walked from Chicago to Portland, stopping on their way and giving entertainments on the way to pay expenses, but from Portland they occasionally got a ride, but did not say how so the reader can do as I did, guess as to how they procured them. They made a fine impression on the citizens of our town and the result was that they had a good audience, charging 40 cents for admission, so I was told, for I did not attend, and the next morning they seemed to be well pleased with the result of their undertaking so I asked a lady who boasted for them what kind of an entertainment they had and she exclaimed, rotten, but continued that she had 40 cents worth of fun, and if those kids were smart enough to pull off such a stunt let them go and work their way through the world. They started on their way Wednesday morning headed for Ashland. They were headed for Los Angeles.

Are you likely to fail
For this stuff for some space?
Is Missus Harris a nut,
Also sweet Clementine?
Is Parlin' a nut?
Are you gonna print mine?
Why Oakland? Well, why?
Did he take such a name?
Oh, dear! Oh, my, my.
Does he seek a pal?
Who's the bawdy batter,
A Sneed or a Wop?
And if former or latter,
Is he Archie the Coy?
Is this all you do
To draw down your dough?
Just get a Nut crew,
Then make them all row?
Ain't this a soft graft?
You do day after day?
And why are they daff?
Who want some of your pay?

The Two Lovers.

(Continued story sent to the Aunt Elsie page by a small Oakland girl who is the latest rival to Daisy Ashford)

Chap. 1—The Description.
Once there was a pretty young girl of 15. Her name was Daisy Smith. She had light golden hair, dark brown eyes and rosy cheeks. There was a certain young boy whose name was Robert Charles. He was light hair and brown eyes. He was very handsome.

The Introduction—Chap. 2.
Mrs. Peterson happened to be giving a ball at her beautiful home.

Peterson introduced Isabella to Bob. They were very interested in each other. They talked a great deal. Isabella talked about the wonderful diamonds her father had given her (as he was a millionaire). She said to Bob while they were dancing, "Bob, I am quite worried about them, though they are in the safe." (It happened that some men who were robbers (but did not look like it) heard them. They knew where they lived.)

Bob said, "Isabella, dear, do not worry about them. I know they will be safe." But he was wrong, for they were not safe.

Anyhow they kept on dancing until 1 o'clock. Bob took Isabella home. "If there is any trouble, phone me," said Bob. "My number is Merritt 3438-W. Goodnight, dear."

They were in each other's arms. A dark cloud passed over the moon. Again and again. They had become LOVERS.

THOSE REVERSE MOVIES

IN 1918

NOTES and COMMENT

The Deseret News observes that a gradual change in the attitude of the American people toward the French is noted. Not so long ago folks were singing the Marseillaise, and theater audiences were applauding whenever pictures of the French flag or their military leaders were shown. Now in most instances there is only a foreboding silence.

L. Claire Davis in the Stockton Record: "I call your attention to the fact that the city of Sacramento has had $242 the first month from its municipal hog ranch. The city furnishes the ranch and the garbage. Somebody else furnishes the hogs. They then sell the porkers and the dividend is accurate on the difference in weight between what the pigs weighed when they came to the municipal boarding house and what they weigh when they are sold. One-third of the community sales money goes to the city. It is a novel stunt, as far as I know it is unique, and I wouldn't wonder if it made Sacramento as famous as the whiskers did."

President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University, says: "We have only to look around about us to see by how many enemies American principles are surrounded. Every individual and every group, however numerous and however powerful, that aims to use the government of the United States for its own ends, is an enemy of America. Every individual and every group of individuals that would subvert our whole governmental system in order to get money out of the public treasury, is an enemy of America. Every one who is an enemy of America, is an enemy of the world."

From a Portland Commercial column, this: "There is now keen competition between the glass manufacturers of the east and those of Europe. Glass can be imported and landed at the docks in San Francisco for $3 a ton. This low rate places glass from Europe in a strong position to compete with that manufactured on the Atlantic seaboard, when freights are considered. J. L. Key of San Francisco, registered at the Multnomah, is an importer of steel, iron and glass. He says that there is a great deal of building going on in San Francisco. The possibility of securing glass from Europe cheaper than from the east is a factor that has not been overlooked in building operations."

about YOUR HEALTH

What You Ought to Do If Your Heart "Palpitates"

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Perhaps the surest evidence of health is to be utterly unconscious of your body and its functions. Of course, this statement is not absolutely dependable, because general serious and even fatal maladies may produce no symptoms whatever.

Most persons are more fearful about heart disease than they are of anything else. They turn pale if it is suggested.

If the heart is normal there is no consciousness of its action. But—and please remember this—to become conscious of the heart need not mean disease, nor does it mean death. There are all sorts of symptoms, including palpitation and irregular heart action, which are purely functional and which bear no relation to life.

What we mean by "palpitation" is action of the heart so rapid and forcible as to attract the attention of the victim. He can feel and even hear the powerful contractions.

There is another condition in which the victim has all the subjective symptoms of palpitation—that is, he hears and feels what he believes to be the rapid and strong heart beats—when, as a matter of fact, the heart action is perfectly normal.

The causes are the same for both conditions. They are purely nervous in origin, dependent usually on nervous exhaustion, hysteria, indigestion or the excessive use of some stimulant or other drug.

Women have this symptom more frequently than men. At particular periods and during the change of life it is not an uncommon symptom.

Anything that lowers the vitality pre-disposes to this trouble. A long-continued or serious illness like typhoid fever or influenza may leave the patient weak and nervous. Palpitation of the heart is not uncommon in such cases.

Worry, continual mental excitement, over-work, over-study and chronic fatigue may be followed by fluttering palpitation or a sense of "giddiness."

The excessive use of tea, coffee, tobacco, alcohol or other drugs may produce much lowered nervous vitality. Palpitation is one of the disagreeable symptoms.

Chronic indigestion, especially if associated with constipation and intestinal fermentation is a causal factor in palpitation. All sorts of nervous symptoms are produced by indigestion of this type. Sleeplessness, restlessness, irritability of temper and lowered vitality are all too common results. It is not surprising, therefore, that palpitation is found in such cases.

If you have palpitation and wish to get rid of it, forget all about the symptom itself. Seek out the cause. Find the underlying physical or mental disability responsible for the difficulty. Correct the fault in the manner of life—because in the last analysis there is some fault which must be overcome. When your way of living is made what it should be, the palpitation will disappear with the rest of the annoying symptoms.

In the meantime, don't worry about yourself, and, above all else, don't think that you are going to die because your heart has made itself felt.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

HERE WE ARE.

THE THROG OF US.
Here we are, the throng of us,
The clever, wise and strong of us;
The toiler at his bench by day,
The banker with his gold,
The mother with her lullabies,
The dreamer gazing at the skies.
The painter and the poet and
The warrior brave and bold.

Here we are, the crowd of us,
The humble and the proud of us,
Together for a space of years
Upon this good old earth;
Companions on the ship of Time,
All sailing to a brighter clime,
And all of us arriving through
The gateway known as birth.

Here we are the great of us,
The twisted and the straight of us,
The weak, the frail, the muscled arm,
The timid and the brave,
And each of us with work to do
Before the span of life is through,
And each of us to come at last
Unto the silent grave.

Oh, call it life, or what you will,
And choose whatever spot you will,
We stand or fall together
By whatever road we take,
We share alike the joy and pain,
The bitter loss, the golden gain,
For what the world is yet to be
The multitude must make.

We're born alike, we die alike,
For happiness we try alike,
If life shall team with hate and sin
The blow shall crush us all,
The rich, the poor, the great, the low.
Must live up to the best they know,
For should disaster strike the world
Together we shall fall.

MATINEE AT LEGION FETE IS PLANNED

Special Performance Is Arranged in Response to Popular Demand; Queen Contest Will Close Tonight

Armistice Day programs sold on the street Saturday during the Armistice Day parade and exercises will be good for free admission to the Saturday matinee performance of "Yankee Parade," the American Legion entertainment at the Auditorium, according to announcements made yesterday at Legion headquarters. The Saturday matinee has been arranged in response to thousands of requests on the part of those who find themselves unable to attend the evening performances.

Although the conclusion of the Queen contest will mark the program for this evening, three fraternal organizations, the Woodmen of the World, the Moose and the Native Sons, will offer special features. The evening promises to be one of the liveliest of the week. Friday evening will witness the coronation of the Queen with special ceremonies and the show will be brought to a conclusion Saturday evening with an "All Nations Mardi Gras."

CROWDS DEFTY WEATHER.

Reports from the executive committee indicate that the attendance in spite of inclement weather has exceeded expectations.

"We are particularly pleased to find that many persons are attending every night in the week," explained Al Chase, commander of American Legion Post No. 5, which has charge of the event. "We are trying to give the public more genuine entertainment for its money than it ever has been given before and the fact that the same person comes back night after night is convincing demonstration of the fact that we are making good in our attempt."

A complete change of vaudeville numbers will be offered this evening. This part of the entertainment starts at 8 o'clock and will continue until 11 and includes twelve numbers.

"Happy Jack" Walker is scoring a big success in a series of character impersonations. Walker gives a different impersonation each evening and is accounted one of the big hits of the show. He is assisted in his act by Helen Walker, who will appear this evening in a Holland character impersonation and also in a singing act. Felix Schriber, of the Sons and Daughters of Washington, announces that "The American Melodrama" will be sung at the close of each performance.

WAR BRIDES INVITED.

As a special feature for Saturday evening all of the French war brides are asked to attend as the guests of the Legion. The Armistice Day salute will be fired Saturday by Battery B, the Oakland artillery unit which was organized for border duty and which saw service in the Argonne. The guns of the battery are now on exhibition at Yankee Parade and a drive for recruits for the Battery is being conducted by First Lieutenant H. A. F. Thenberg and Sergeant Fahy.

The standing of the Queen contestants as announced last evening follows: Arieta Welch, 101,000; Esther Kline, 95,660; Mildred Alarie, 46,100; Rose Morgan, 41,000; Myrtle Sullivan, 29,650; Jane Smith, 21,930.

FAMOUS HOSTELRY SOLD.
DENVER, Colo., Nov. 5.—Sale of the Brown Palace, one of the leading hotels in Denver, for $1,600,000 is reported today, although official announcement of the transaction has not been made. Charles Bootcher and Horace W. Bennett, real estate men, are said to be the purchasers. The hotel, once the property of Winfield Scott Stratton, Cripple Creek multimillionaire, was built 30 years ago by H. P. Brown, at an estimated cost of $1,500,000.

Broadway Lures Her Back

CAPTAIN RHEBA CRAWFORD, (Broadway's Salvation Nell.) who is going back to continue her work along the "gay white way."

'Salvation Nell' Is Going Back to Old Broadway

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—"Savings is a heap more profitable than saving dollars. If I can do any good where I am, money will never take me away."

This was the statement today of Captain Rheba Crawford of the Salvation Army, known to thousands as "Broadway's Salvation Nell," who is on furlough and visiting her father, Colonel Andrew Crawford, 1514 Walnut street.

"Nell" is going back to the "gay white way, the street of lost souls"—Broadway.

Despite the interference of police at her meetings in the theater district, she's going back. The lass who has been able to hold the crowds with her sidewalk meetings has been singled out by managers as an attraction for the "gay white way."

"I love my people and I need them as much as they need me," she said. "Chorus girls need salvation more than any other class of people."

Captain Crawford denied that there had been any suggestion of her return to Broadway. "My arrest was a mistake. In the first place I was charged with blocking traffic and then when I appeared in police court the charge had been changed to disorderly conduct. The charges against me are dismissed."

LOWER RAIL RATES HERE ARE FOUGHT

Freight Officials of Santa Fe and Southern Pacific Are Heard in Opposition to Oakland Differential Plea

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The Southern Pacific and Santa Fe each had its inning before Examiner J. L. Cassidy of the Interstate Commerce Commission today in an endeavor to contravert the claim of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce that it is entitled to a differential over San Francisco in freight rates.

It is the contention of Oakland and the other Eastbay cities that San Francisco is 68 miles further from many points in the Sacramento, San Joaquin and San Joaquin valleys as well as other Northern California centers by reason of the long haul around the Dumbarton cutoff.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has always held that where there is a bridge or a water haul requiring the transfer of cars, a higher mileage rate should prevail. Today the railroads attempted a justification of their position by arguing that the placing of San Francisco on the same scale as Oakland was the result of water competition.

Bernard Levy, assistant general freight agent of the Santa Fe, was the first witness. He testified that the Oakland rates had been granted to that city at the same time that they had been given to San Francisco, where there was no water competition, due to reduction caused by bay and river competition.

He was followed by Herman Klein, assistant general freight agent of the Southern Pacific, who presented elaborate tables and maps and went into a history of the freight rates, going back to 1891. At that time he showed that the rates from San Francisco to San Jose via Oakland on first-class shipment was 15 cents, while on the coast line it was 10 cents. On February 10, 1897, a general reduction to 7 cents was made, in which Oakland was joined as the result of competition via steamer between San Francisco and Alviso.

Klein stated that later this competition was removed and the railroad had planned to request the State Railroad Commission to increase rates, but had never done so, the commission at that time being engaged in a general tariff investigation. The witness said that the present rate to Sacramento had been reduced by reason of barge competition which carried the freight by water to Vallejo, Martinez bay points and as far as Suisun. In addition there was the regular river competition to Sacramento, and small craft competition reaching as far as Red Bluff.

Gold Is Stolen At Dental Offices

Two dental offices at 1216 Washington street were cited by burglar. The burglaries were discovered this morning by Dr. H. C. Medcraft. From his office the thieves took an upper and lower plate and a three-tooth bridge. Dr. William Sma and Dr. Charles Sma reported to the police that two bridges and a small amount of scrap gold was taken.

BIG CROWD AT WHIST PARTY.
RICHMOND, Nov. 5.—The Monday afternoon whist party held in Musicians' hall brought out a big crowd in spite of the downpour. The affair was given for the benefit of The Fraternal Brotherhood. Mrs. A. A. Cole, chairman, announced that the brotherhood will hold a similar party next Monday afternoon.

Six Ancient Police Autos Sold for $755

Machines Auctioned Off
Being From $23 to

As the result of one of the most impressive auction sales of scrambled hardware in the history of Oakland, the police department treasury is now enriched by $755, and six more or less happy citizens have parted away the six condemned automobiles which were sold at the police garage early yesterday afternoon, in the presence of a large aggregation of curious citizens.

The prize exhibit at the auction sale was a machine which had to be carted from the corporation yard on a truck in order to be present at the last rites. The aged wreck, hardly able to stand on its four wheels, went for $23.

The second most remarkable car, a heavy 1913 model which not only would not "run" but refused to even limp, went for $41. Its mate, of 1914 vintage, was able to creek the nine blocks from the corporation yard, except for a few stops now and then, and brought $100. The same sum was reached by a machine which, bolted together for this special occasion, was able to get a few wheezes out of its engine and made such an encouraging noise and smell that the auctioneer was able to get slightly enthused about it.

A third machine whose engine was alleged to have "dormant possibilities" went for $31. It was carted away behind a touring car, still dormant when last seen. The seat upholstery, however, was in good shape, and it was whispered that there was a good bearing somewhere. A 1920 model "big six" touring car brought $400, and was the feature of the sale. The car, according to the police officials, "looks good."

"Everything considered," says Police Chief James T. Drew, "we are fairly well satisfied with the result of the sale."

Greco-Turk Crisis Lecture Subject

Captain J. M. Elliott, U. S. N., retired, will speak on "The Balkan States and the Greco-Turkish Crisis," at St. John's Guild hall, Eighth and Grove streets, this evening at 8 o'clock. This is to be the first of a series of informative lectures which the rector and vestrymen of St. John's church have arranged for men during the fall and winter months.

Captain Elliott was at one time lecturer on history and other subjects at the U. S. naval war college and has first hand knowledge of the Greeks and Turks, having traveled extensively in those lands.

U. C. PLANS FOR STADIUM INDORSED

Students For Strawberry Canyon Site; Berkeley City Council Is Expected To Give Full Approval

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—Endorsement of the plans for the $1,000,000 stadium of the University of California to be located in Strawberry Canyon was given today by the student body on the campus.

The plans will come up for official consideration tomorrow by members of the Berkeley city council to whom copies were submitted this week by Comptroller Robert G. Sprout of the university. While informally discussed yesterday, members of the council delayed official action until a full board could be present at tomorrow's meeting. It is expected that unanimous endorsement will be given the plans.

Opposition to the location of the stadium in Strawberry Canyon because of the fire risk involved in the parking of thousands of automobiles during games was voiced by the council when the site was first decided upon. According to Sprout these difficulties have been eliminated, and no parking of automobiles will be allowed in congested areas. Adequate provisions to care for traffic have been made by experts engineers employed by the regents, according to Sprout.

Work on the stadium is expected to start immediately. In accordance with a promise made by college officials the plans for the big concrete bowl will remain on public display at the architecture building on the campus from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. tomorrow.

PLANS ARE ENDORSED.

In endorsing the plans as adopted by the regents Editor Robert B. Coombs of the Daily Californian speaking in behalf of the student body, says this morning:

"The site, taking all into consideration, is undoubtedly the most advantageous for such a structure. Although there may be some obvious objections it has been found that this site, of all the possible locations within a reasonable radius of the campus center, is the most logical and best fitted."

Duck Catering Not Easy Task, Moans Kerfoot

Manager at Lake Merritt
"Cafe" Trying to Find Way
To Get Guests to Table.

Contrary to the accepted practice of restaurants, where impatient customers clamor to be served, Manager Lee Kerfoot, of the wild duck feeding cafe on Lake Merritt, is now trying to devise a way to give the best service to customers who do not want to be served.

The novelty is being watched with keen interest. All the established precedents of restaurants are violated. In the first place, the customers are suspicious of good service and dodge away when the waiter approaches. This, according to restaurant men, is quite all their experience. Secondly, the waiters are told to serve the customers whether the latter object or not. The waiters are asked to go out of their way to force the food upon the customers.

"It's a problem," admits Kerfoot. "There are thousands of ducks out in the middle of Lake Merritt who will not come near shore for meals. They are wild. They prefer to forage for themselves. But, as a problem of conserving the ducks of the lake, these should be as well fed as the others. But how can we get the food out to them?"

It has been suggested that a boat with grain be shoved off shore, accompanied by decoy ducks. Or, possibly, a "grain sack" could be floated out to the middle of the lake, equipped with a time-fuse so that the sack could scatter the grain all over the lake. But Kerfoot asserts that the latter suggestion cannot be taken seriously.

"We must evolve some better way for feeding the ducks without scaring them," says Kerfoot. "But I don't know what we are stumped."

Piedmont Parlor To Give Whist Party

Members of Piedmont Parlor No. 87, Native Daughters of the Golden West, will give a special whist party at Corinthian hall, Pacific building, Sixteenth and Jefferson streets, Thursday night, November 15. President Augusta Ruxsel is in charge of the affair. Grand President Mattie M. Steinhilber of Lodi, paid an official visit to the parlor and reviewed the work of the drill corps. She and other grand officers were entertained at a banquet following the meeting.

10 COUNTIES SUPPLY MILK TO OAKLAND

Dairy Inspection For City Is Extended to 123 Dairies; Cut in Price Increases Consumption 6000 Gallons

The milk inspection job of the city of Oakland has now expanded to include 123 dairies in ten counties, and each dairy is inspected every six weeks, according to a report submitted today by Dr. C. C. Wing, city veterinarian and milk inspector.

No dairy can sell its product in Oakland unless it first gets an Oakland permit. Thus, according to Dr. Wing, often gives the "Oakland inspectors" wonderful scenic rides. At present a dairy trucking in the wilds near distant Black Point, in Marin county, wants inspection; but nobody can get there because of the road, and so Oakland must, for the time, struggle along without this milk.

According to Dr. Wing Oakland now consumes 6000 gallons per day more than it did before the price was lowered to 10 cents.

The area inspected by the Oakland officials has now expanded until its furthest dairy is now at Oakland, Stanislaus county, and its farthest north is Sacramento.

EAST OAKLAND INVITES BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

Optimism Is Confirmed In Prosperous District

Evidence is fast accumulating to the effect that Oakland's optimism of finance as a whole have come to the conclusion long ago reached by many students and observers of city growth, that the portion of East Fourteenth street which is known as the "Heart of East Oakland" is on the way to a business development of considerable magnitude.

The first stores in this section were established to serve the village people who had settled in Fruitvale because of climate and productivity. These stores were supported by the additional trade of those who came here to live though working in outside localities. In this way a home trade developed before the other two factors of business growth began to be effective.

From early times the San Leandro road carried much travel by horse and horse-drawn vehicles. East Fourteenth street did not develop over night, but its remarkable volume of travel is the result of natural growth which was at first and gradually increased until today it is one of the big problems of city planning that confronts officials and publicists of the great city of Oakland.

GREAT TRAVEL ARTERY.

After automobile travel became prevalent, East Fourteenth developed into an automobile highway which is now said to be the greatest artery of travel in the state of California. Crowds variously estimated at from one hundred to one hundred and fifty thousand cars along this thoroughfare through the "Heart of East Oakland" on the busiest days.

Coincident with the increase in automobile travel came factory development along the inner harbor and tidal canal, and on the level lands lying between them, on the one hand, and land transportation by train and auto truck on the other. During recent years, there has developed a strong tendency for selection of factory sites in this vicinity by the representatives of large eastern institutions seeking a Pacific coast site.

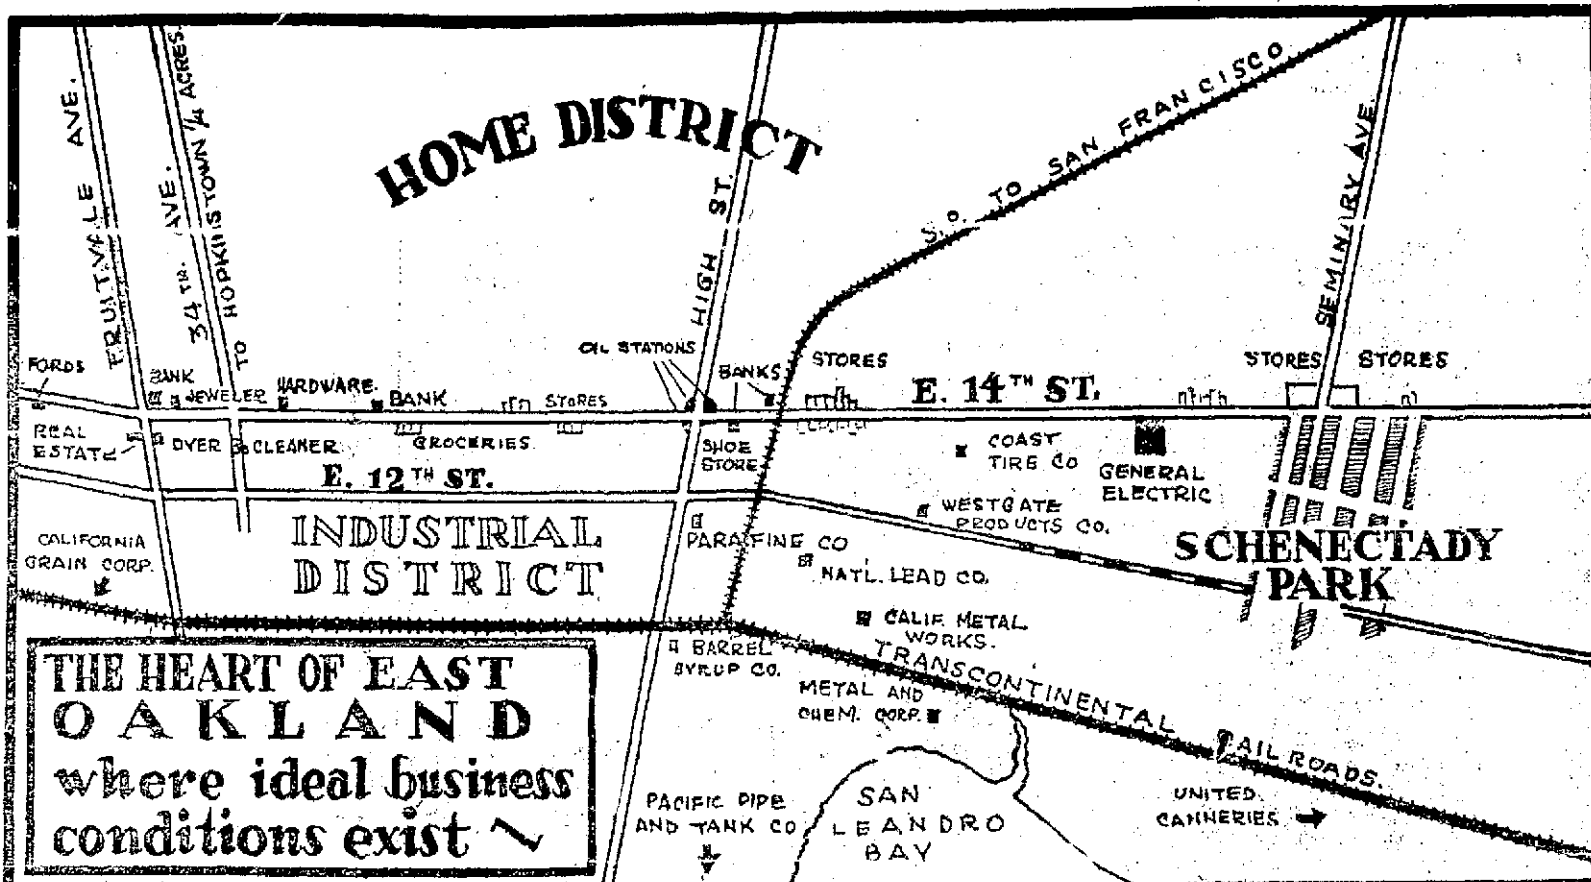

These three factors—home building, through travel and industrial development which in its turn encourages home building—may be said to have formed a complete circle for business and intensive business growth in the section of this remarkable city section where "traffic lanes converge," thus establishing beyond doubt the evolution of a second city within the limits of Greater Oakland, the new city to be the main source of supply and center of trade for a large section of Oakland east of Lake Merritt and for the people of Alameda county outside of Oakland.

Almost without exception, business men who have studied the situation at Fruitvale and east of there to San Leandro and Schenectady Park, are of the opinion that this section of business street only requires the establishment there of a few well-selected and complete stocks of certain lines of goods to cause it to take on an overnight transformation to a business center of metropolitan proportions, second only to the main business district of Oakland.

It is thought that the "Heart of East Oakland" has felt less of the pinch of readjustment, the past two years than most business sections of Oakland. The fact that not a store is vacant in the local centers and that new stores are constantly being built, confirms the highest optimism for this section.

The action of three of Oakland's big banks in establishing a number of branches, making this the best served locality outside central Oakland, in this respect, may be said to set the seal of most competent judgment on the highly prosperous future that is immediately in sight for East Fourteenth street and sections of other streets in the locality referred to.

Business section of the "Heart of East Oakland." Residences built on higher ground to the north and east; industries established on ideal locations to south and southeast; convergence of local traffic lanes; and enormous volume of automobile travel make this a future business section of outstanding importance.

DEMAND SEEN FOR PROPERTY

Extension of East Twelfth street is thought by many to offer additional incentive to purchase property in the heart of the big Schenectady Park tract, the east of the new General Electric plant. Travel on East Fourteenth street has already become so great as to demand some relief and there seems to be no question that this total volume of travel is more than sufficient to tax the capacity of two streets through the "Heart of East Oakland," particularly as the four-lane highway which is now being commenced, becomes an important item.

All East Fourteenth street frontage in Schenectady Park was disposed of some weeks since and many residence lots have been sold to investors and home builders. Some lots are being bought for the erection of houses and apartments for rent and re-sale. The proposed extension of East Twelfth street will afford business locations convenient to a large volume of travel and at prices as low as $500 a lot with free lumber and on terms. All these lots have sewer, water, sidewalks and finished streets in and paid for, insuring immunity from further expense on the part of purchasers.

East Twelfth May Be Opened During Spring

The long hoped for opening of East Twelfth street, from Pothill boulevard (Twenty-fourth avenue) east, is to be consummated during the coming spring. Property is now being assessed to raise the $70,000 estimated to be necessary to purchase right-of-way for the street extension.

It is thought that sufficient of the assessment money will have become available to insure opening of the street to Fifty-fourth avenue by early spring, following which steps will be taken for grading, paving, sidewalks, water, sewer, etc., with the expectation of having the entire street open for travel by late summer of 1923.

Park is convinced that all these lots will be taken before the commencement of operations by General Electric Company at the new plant and that many will be sold at an advance to officials and operatives of the company.

Slightly Residence Section Is Offered

Tradition has it that in the early days, redwood trees stood where Hopkinstown Quarter Acres is now being sold to prospective home owners. The redwoods were all cut off, first by axes and later by cross cut saws, after which the stumps were rooted out and much of them used for fire wood.

Today Hopkinstown Quarter Acres offers a slightly residence locality where sewers, water, gas, electric light and telephones may be had and where the comforts of a city home are combined with suburban environment and space sufficient to provide for garden, fruit trees, pets and room for the children to play on the home grounds, out of danger.

This tract is in one of the best sections of the East Oakland warm belt, where there are few fogs, but where gentle breezes prevail in summer. It has long been known as a desirable residence locality. The ground is free from stones and susceptible of easy cultivation. The California Subdivision Company is making exceptionally easy terms on this property and sites for homes are being taken fast.

DRAW PLANS FOR BRANCH BANK

Officials of the Oakland Bank announced today that a branch of that institution is to be established in temporary quarters at 4453 East Fourteenth street. The branch will be formally opened to the public next Monday.

The Oakland Bank has purchased the property at the northwest corner of East Fourteenth street and Forty-fifth avenue as a site for a permanent bank building.

Plans for the structure are now being drawn by the architects for the bank and work on the erection of the building is expected to start immediately.

With the new branch bank, known as the Melrose branch, the Oakland bank has three branches in the district east of the lake. The other east of the lake branches are those at East Fourteenth street and Twenty-third avenue, and 3004 Thirty-eighth avenue.

Establishment of the Melrose branch came as a result of a general demand from the rapidly growing Melrose section. In recent years, the district has developed as a business and residential section.

BEAUTY TALKS

THE "TYPE" is a word often quoted. We hear of blonde types and brunette types, and so is the type that should wear vivid colors, etc.

I wonder how many of us take in the full meaning of this word "type," and all that it stands for. And especially I wonder whether you realize what a full understanding of dressing to your own type means in its effect on your beauty.

This thought was impressed upon me while conversing with a friend who had recently attended a smart social function, which took the form of a ball. The decorations of the ballroom and its effective decorations of corn shocks and autumn leaves. She told me of the smart people who were there and of the simple gingham dresses and calicoes that they wore.

"Do you know, the thing that impressed me most was how much prettier and more attractive many of the women looked in these simple things than in the jewel-bedecked costumes they usually wear to evening parties," she confessed.

"Why, do you suppose?" I asked, for I wanted to get her opinion on the subject.

"Simply because in their usual mode of dress many of them are slaves to fashion and persist in wearing things that are not becoming at all," she said, by way of explanation.

"Of course, fashions in the past few seasons have moved often and rapidly," she continued.

"Yes," I agreed, "since plain little gingham frocks and Paisley print dresses have come into fashion, many women I know have looked ten years younger."

"That youthful appearance was what impressed me about several of my friends at the party last night," my friend continued. "For, though most things are simple, there are sophisticated styles to be had by those who look them up, and several women I have in mind will wear them whether or no."

"Now, Mary Parsons looked years younger in her simple, blue, checked gingham frock and sun-bonnet," she continued.

"That's because she's essentially the girlish type, and shouldn't wear the vampish clothes she always affects," I analyzed.

"On the other hand, Adele Symons wore pink gingham, and looked older and positively skinnier."

"Adele's figure is slim and stunning in the clinging greens and blacks she always wears," I said. "But I can't imagine her auburn hair offset by pink or her type as being suited to gingham and girl-ships."

"Adele knows her type, and made a concession to be a good sport and got into the spirit of the party," my friend said, loyally.

"And for the opposite example, Mary Parsons probably thought she was sacrificing much in giving up her characteristic style, and in reality stumbled on the mode that best suits her," I supplemented.

If you don't know the type of clothes nor the colors that most effectively enhance your beauty, your dressmaker and your friends can help you solve an interesting problem.

The Lost Art.

My books tell me—
In ancient times—
When racy romance rambled—
And knights and kings fought hand-to-hand—
To gain a lady's favor—
That men who got the most applause—
When life was full of color—
Were those who slung a trenchant quill—
I have no records edged in gold—
And bound in soft morocco—
Of menial man in days of old—
If there indeed were any—
For every one I've read about—
Rode dappled nag—and fought and bled—
They never seemed to worry—
About the cost of living then—
Nor who brought home the doughnuts—
Their favorite outdoor sport, it seems—
Was charging on some man encased in armor—
And landing on his throbbing bean—
Until he beat it for the timber—
And oftentimes when things were dull—
They used to pick up dripping quill—
And write their pulse-beats to some lady—
"His Lady Fayre"—or someone else's—
And they could throw some wicked sentiment—
But now no more—the art is lost—
For we have tied a can on romance—
And bow to things commercial—
For he who writes the liting lines—
Is side-tracked in the offing—
The busy man is pressed for minutes—
He has no time to hesitate—
Or kid along with halting meaning—
So when you owe some dough to him—
He dictates you a note like this:
"My dear beloved Mr. Steww—
Your love is due—COME THROUGH—
With note and very great affection—
Diddleback and Pettigrew.
DWD—PPP—
Now when the modern young man goes—
Up in the mountains for vacation—
And leaves behind some bobbed-haired Jane—
To watch with anxious eyes for letters—
From her dear Fox-trot Frankie—
He'll put her soul right in a trance—
By sending this sweet song and dance—
"My sweetest patootie mama girl—
There's nothin' stirrin' in this dump—
I was a dimpled-darling chump—
To come where hoot-owls holler—
And when I hear them hoot-owls hoot—
I miss my jazy sweet patoot—
You bet a slippery dollar—
Your ever-lovin' daddie man"—
No wonder Romance hides her head.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY by Ad Schuster

THEY will tell you in Minden that the high-brow worm is one of the slowest to turn and then, if you are persistent, you may hear the story of Fontaine Forsythe, his lecture course and his dignified departure. The men-folk of Minden, particularly those who voiced objections when they attended the meetings of the Culture Club, regard the story with more love than they do the town clock or the new filling station.

Fontaine Forsythe brought with him to Minden an imposing appearance and a press agent. He took a suite of rooms at the Minden house and was told he was about to let the townsfolk in on a new secret of long life, wealth and happiness. And it was going to be free.

At the time of his coming the men of Minden had been through one series of lectures which had been generally regarded as mentally disturbing and a serious handicap to the more inviting checker and pool tournaments. They had been told that the new series of lectures was to be a hundred or more. He had the secrets of right living and right thinking and he had in his heart an overflowing love of humanity. The first three lectures, he let it be known, would cost nothing. After that, if there were any who cared to go deeper in the subject, he would be persuaded to open a study class.

But more of that later, for the present he was prepared to sacrifice his time and his effort for the good of the men and women of Minden.

After the second lecture Adrian Hobbs, a worried landlord of the hall, approached Forsythe apologetically.

"This is the only hall in town that is any good," he said, "and there are many demands for it. I've been thinking if you are planning to hold your classes here you ought to make arrangements in advance to join. Otherwise some one else is certain to cut in on your days." Few towns had responded to his eloquence as had Minden. Forsythe paid $80 for four months' rent and considered he had made a bargain.

Before the third lecture Jack Emmett, the printer, was made happy by an order for outlines of the courses. He gaped when he saw that Forsythe was going to charge $15 a term and that two terms were planned for the four months' stay. "Only hope," the printer sighed, "that my wife won't insist on my going to the time arrived for the lecturer to explain his plans for courses of more intensive study. He had finished his last free talk and stood before the crowded hall smiling benignly. This was going to be easy.

Philomena Adams, town trustee, took advantage of the pause to straighten his long limbs. "Mr. Chairman," he said, "I mean Brother Forsythe. I know I am a little out of order, but is a dang hard job to corral the whole town in one pen like this, and, if there are no objections, I would like to make an announcement. It pertains to the town memorial. We have less than $200 to raise and I move we take up a collection."

Forsythe frowned an instant, then made the most of the situation. "An excellent idea," he said, "a memorial. I take it, for the soldiers of the war. Allow me to subscribe $25." There was a burst of applause as he dropped the bills in Adams' hat.

The lesson course was explained to an attentive audience, after which Forsythe passed around the cards for membership. Adams again took the floor.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "I am sure we have all benefited by the inspiring lectures of Mr. Forsythe and I move we give him a standing vote of thanks. We will take these cards home with us and he can be assured we will give them our best consideration. Let us all stand in token of our appreciation, and then adjourn."

Again Frank Adams had interfered with the program and the crowd dispersed without leaving a dollar or a signature. Forsythe, at the door, shook hands with all who passed and decided that 75 per cent would be back in his classes.

The Men's Club of Minden held a meeting that night and before adjournment pledged themselves to determined action. "There have been eight of these long-haired men here in the last two years," said Adams, "and each has taken hundreds of dollars out of town. We have been told eight different ways to live long and prosper and it's time we considered ourselves educated. It is up to each one of you to go home and put down your respective feet. The $25 for the memorial, which is already over-subscribed, will go to the Women's Club, and that will help."

The next night two women who would not take orders attended the class, which adjourned early. Forsythe, on the train, checked up his expense list, which included rent, the contribution to the fund and a general "thank you" bill.

Geraldine's Shoulder

Listen, World! I KNOW a man who paints beautiful pictures. He is also an acknowledged authority on etchings. But he couldn't fix a window screen to save his soul. He couldn't dig a ditch, or skin a pig, or sink a shaft, or plough a field, or write a book, or judge a case, or sew a button on his own shirt. However, this does not deter him from sitting in judgment on the rest of humanity and having a great contempt for all people who prefer the Sunday comic page to Zorn's etchings.

I know a woman who is past mistress at housekeeping. Her house is as spotless as a shrine, her pie is as masterpieces as her laundry a fine art. But the dearest book she ever read was "The Sheik." She cannot talk intelligently on a single contemporary topic of public interest. She knows nothing of industrial conditions, educational methods, governmental issues. But she feels that housekeepers are the backbone of the nation and that all who do not housekeep are a menace.

And there's still another woman. She can neither paint pictures nor bake pies. But she is beautiful and she knows everything that is to be known about making herself beautiful. You should see her when she meets a woman who does not use a good cold cream!

And yet another man. He sells ads. He has no use for anything which cannot be sold. I am positive that he is planning on getting the concession where they refile the harps in heaven.

I know these people. You know them, too, or people like them. As a matter of fact, you and I are like them. We live down upon the people who cannot do the things in which we are proficient. We feel that they are lacking in something. But it never occurs to us that they may be lacking in something we cannot do the things which THEY do well.

The truth is that we're all only brags in spots. And no one's brag is any better than the next. The world needs beautiful pictures but it needs beautiful pies. It needs strong, lasting books but also strong, lasting plumbing. And it needs a truly great soul in its humility about the things it cannot do.

(Copyright 1922.)

The baby bonuses are bursting all over the baby market. Last Sunday the Geraldine page was given over to a discussion of a problem which the wives of the professors of the University of California are having in regard to having babies. "Why don't you say they and straighten it out," they say, "and straighten it out and tell them that they can and why they can't."

The following letters were written before the general discussion of November 2, and the points in them have already been covered in this article.

There is one point which I believe calls for renewed emphasis, namely, the problem of University wives' seem to be a misapprehension concerning this and a tendency to place such activities on a par with the little amusements of the leisure class, as if it were a fair. A large amount of entertaining is a part of a University woman's life as the making of beds or the cooking of food. Unless she does it, with a husband, she must enter into it, and her position is a most undervalued one without a realization of this basic fact.

Dear Jerry: With Jack on Helen Emery Aoki's remarks? You state "hard facts and common sense are more important than lofty theories." Well, Jerry, you make me think you have never been a mother. It is certainly a hard fact that children do not ordinarily cost $500. In some cases where the mother is of the wealthy class this amount might have been expended or in the event that the mother was not well normally and surgical aid was necessary, but this is rare.

For the average mother that amount is exorbitant. Now, I am the mother of three (5, 2 1/2, and 8 months old). I'll tell you the world's babies in particular that cost as anywhere near that sum. In each instance I had all the professional care necessary for the occasion. The first was born in a hotel, the second in a hospital at a cost of $75, including doctor and the latter two were born at home with doctor in attendance and a professional nurse at a cost of $125. In after the usual two weeks of convalescence, and feel as well as ever. Now, Jerry, that is far from $500, and I wasn't neglected by a good deal.

The baby's favorite would have cost a possible $10, but I had the good fortune to be the recipient of a few showers which brought that expense down to practically nothing, but even if I had had to get it myself, I could have done it and still faced the world without a debt. I have never had more than $1800 per year to maintain the household on, yet we eat well, dress well, but not extravagantly, maintain a nice Ford for family pleasure and have an electric washing machine and many other electric appliances necessary to my convenience. Now, Jerry, these are facts, but I'll frankly admit we don't entertain nor go to fancy dress affairs as it is a useless diversion when one has three little ones. We often have guests to stay over with us, but there is no attempt to put on airs, and we live within our means.

Now, Jerry, be consistent. If it is necessary for the Prof's wife to entertain, act as chaperon, and attend so many social events, please let me know so she would have time to have babies, anyhow? You know, Jerry, it can't be done. There are no more babies to be had.

Presentable as a chaperon (when raising a family) nor even as a guest at family affairs. So it would seem that if these social events are so necessary to retain the position of the husband professor, then the WARNING: Witches keep off the boys' section. Pirate Robert is on the job—and the Pirates won't be defeated twice!

ROBERT FAIRWEATHER 1140 Peach St., Alameda.

FOOLED. One night a band of pirates dug a deep pit to catch the witches. They put sticks with grass over them and so hid the pit so that the witches could not see where they were going.

The next day twenty witches were going to their meeting in the hollow tree, and while walking along they fell into the pit.

The pirates were hiding behind some trees and saw the witches fall. They hollered "We got them at last!"

Now one of the witches was a very old witch and she pulled a magic wand from her head and said a few magic words, and low, there came twenty black cats, each on a broomstick. They came down in the cave and each witch jumped on an old broomstick and away she sailed, leaving the pirates behind.

Now the pirates were sure mad and they went down and had a great battle with the black cats and witches. The cats scratched the pirates' faces and the pirates pulled the cats' tails and whiskers. The witches and cats won the battle and the pirates went home defeated and said they WOULD GET THEM NEXT TIME.

THE HAUNTED HOUSE. Once there was a boy named Tom. He was a detective.

There was a town about ten miles away. In this town there was a haunted house. Tom went to sleep in the house about midnight. He heard a noise and he saw some men coming up the stairs. Tom hid behind the bed.

Then Tom went out in the hall. He saw some men with some bottles in their hands. Tom went out in the last room. When he went in the room he saw some bottles. He went and smelt them and said "Whiskey!"

Tom was going out when he was hit over the head with a club and knocked unconscious. When he soon awoke he found himself bound. He struggled but could not get loose.

A little rat was running along when he was hit over the head with a club and knocked unconscious. When he soon awoke he found himself bound. He struggled but could not get loose.

THE MAGICIAN. Once there was a beautiful princess. The princess was kidnapped by some robbers, who the people feared.

Here's a Lincoln Chan, with two more stories for us:

JOE'S SLOOP. Joe was a boy of sixteen. He had a small sailing boat named the Half Moon. One day Joe and some of his friends went out for a ride.

They were out in a fog. They saw a little speck and they said it was a young man about Joe's age. They put him in blankets and he went to sleep.

The next day the fog lifted and they found him about a mile away. They took him to the shore and found a city. They found out the boy had rescued was named Frank and his father was a millionaire and would give him a reward.

Uncle Wiggly Stories

UNCLE WIGGLY'S PAPER BASKET.

"UNCLE WIGGLY, I don't like to find fault," said Nurse Jane, "but one day, as she looked at the bunnies, she said, 'What about this?' asked Uncle Wiggly. 'Do you want me to stand my room on my head so the ceiling is where the floor ought to be?'"

"Nonsense! Of course not!" laughed Nurse Jane. "But I mean you'll have to pick up some of these." It's a perfect nest of papers—your room is—and you must pick them up. Put them in a paper basket, bring them out in the yard and burn them."

"I will," cried Uncle Wiggly. "I'll clean my room. I'll set fire to them and in the fire I'll roast some potatoes. Thus shall I combine business and pleasure!"

"Oh, dear! There's no use trying to make you grow up!" sighed the mischievous house-keeper.

Uncle Wiggly only laughed and twinkled his pink nose. Then he hopped up to his room and saw that, indeed, as Nurse Jane had said, the floor was covered with waste paper and trash. Uncle Wiggly had a habit, when he finished reading a paper, of dropping it on the floor. In time the floor was covered with papers.

"What basket shall I put the papers in to carry down stairs?" Uncle Wiggly called to Nurse Jane.

"Get the big clothes basket from the laundry, and use it."

all the odds and ends of paper from his room.

"My! The basket is nearly full!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly, as he picked it up to carry down. "I had no idea there were so many papers in my room!"

Then the basket was full. It was not heavy, for papers are light, you know. Down the stairs Uncle Wiggly hopped with the paper basket, and, setting it in the kitchen, the bunny got some matches and also a few potatoes.

"For if I make a fire to burn the papers I may as well roast some potatoes in the basket," thought Uncle Wiggly.

Out into the yard hopped the bunny. He started down toward the end of the yard where there was a bare place on which it would be safe to burn the papers.

Setting the basket of papers down on the ground Uncle Wiggly turned his pink nose this way and that. He wanted to see in what direction the wind was blowing, or, rather, he wanted to feel the wind. For his pink, twinkling nose was very tender and he could feel the least wind with it.

"The wind is in the west," said Uncle Wiggly. "I must light my fire on the west side."

You must always light a bonfire, you know, on the side where the wind is blowing. Then the wind carries the flames into the heart of the pile of wood and paper and makes a much better blaze.

Uncle Wiggly was about to tip up the paper basket and spill the papers out on the ground, when, all of a sudden, there was a rustling in the bushes and a voice said:

"I think we can catch him now! I looked in the kitchen a moment ago, and he was putting some potatoes in his pocket. I think he is going off in the weeds to have a potato roast, and there we'll get him."

"That will be fun!" growled a second voice behind the bush.

"Ha! Fun for you, but not for me!" whispered Uncle Wiggly. "That's the Fox and Wolf!" went on the bunny. "I know their voices. They must have seen me through the kitchen window. They're waiting for me to come out. They haven't seen me here and don't know that I'm so near them. Oh, what shall I do?"

Then the bunny saw the big basket of papers he had brought out.

"I'll hide in that, pulling the papers over my head," said Uncle Wiggly. Into the basket of papers the bunny crawled, hiding beneath them. Luckily the wind was blowing so hard, rustling the trees and the bushes, that the Fox and Wolf did not hear the rustling and rattling of papers as Uncle Wiggly hid in the basket.

When the bunny was well hidden the Fox and Wolf stalked out. They looked at the paper basket, but they did not so much as dream that Uncle Wiggly was hiding in it.

"Oh, he'll be out soon, with his potatoes," said the Wolf.

"I'm here now!" silently chuckled the bunny to himself as he peered through the cracks in the basket and saw the Fox and Wolf standing with their backs toward him. Then a daring plan came into Uncle Wiggly's head.

He took some of the papers, twisted them into a torch and lit one end. Then he reached out, taking care not to set the papers around him in the basket on fire, and held the lighted and burning paper torch under the tails of the Fox and Wolf.

"Oh, wow! Wow! Double wow!" howled the bad chaps. "Fire! Fire!" and away they ran, not once looking behind to see what had scorched them. Then Uncle Wiggly crawled out of the paper basket, made a fire of the papers and roasted his potatoes.

So all ended happily, you see, and if the gas store doesn't bring

FOURTH DAY OF CLOSED CAR SHOW IS SUCCESSFUL

Revived Interest Exhibited in Exhibitions of Enclosed Models

The closed car is getting a full measure of attention this week, which is devoted to its exhibition. The fourth day of Closed Car Display Week saw a renewed interest in the displays being presented to the public by the Oakland automobile dealers.

The exhibitions are being held in the individual show rooms of thirty-five automobile dealers of the city. The displays are for the purpose of bringing to the attention of automobile owners the advantages presented by the enclosed car over other types of machines.

Dealers have gone to no little trouble in decorating their show rooms and in preparing to demonstrate the value of the closed models to the public. Special lighting features have been provided in practically all of the automobile establishments.

Oakland dealers are presenting the closed car as an all-year-round car, to be used for either business or pleasure in any climate and under any condition. They point out that the closed car is especially adapted to the climate of the East Bay, as it is a protection against either heat or cold in summer or winter. With the body of the car closed the occupant is comfortable regardless of fog, cold or rain.

When the summer months bring warm days, the windows of the enclosed car can be thrown open admitting the cool, refreshing breeze. In addition to this, all of the enclosed models are equipped with ventilating devices, which make possible perfect ventilation of the car at all times.

The demand for closed cars is growing rapidly, with the result that manufacturers now have many orders on hand and are working to full capacity. Interest displayed by the automobile public of Oakland indicates that there is to be an even greater demand during the coming months, according to Oakland dealers.

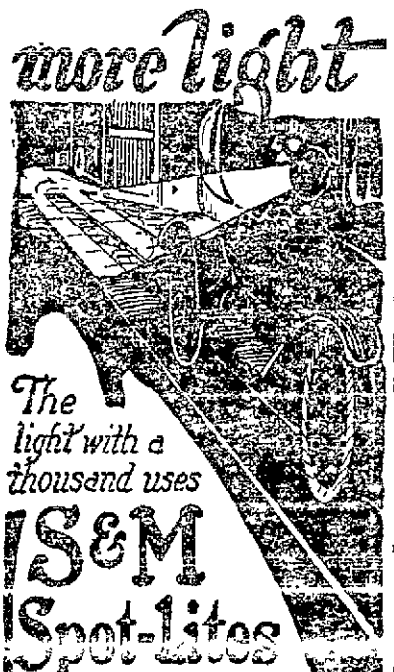

During the remainder of the week and through Sunday evening, show rooms of the individual automobile dealers will be open until 9:30 o'clock for the convenience of visitors.

NEW MODELS TO GO TO SO. CALIF.

Three more days and the new Chevrolet sedan and coupe will be en route to the Auto Show in Los Angeles, which opens shortly.

Each dealer has been given a chance to display these models during closed car week and many people have flocked to see them.

The Collier and Brooker organization will have them on display Friday, Saturday and Sunday and by Monday they will be on their way to the southern coast.

People who have seen the new enclosed models report many improvements over the last year models. They have a much better appearance and there are many added refinements.

According to Brooker many orders for the new closed cars have come in and in each case the party who was placing the order did not even ask to see pictures of the car. He points out that the arrival of the new superior touring cars created sales for all models.

Swedish Auto Tax Is for Better Roads

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 9.—Swedish motorists will begin to pay taxes on their vehicles and tires on January 1, 1933. Tourists from foreign countries, however, may still bring their own cars into the country and roam about at will for as much as twelve months without any charge whatsoever.

The new auto tax, which is to be applied to the repairing and improvements of roads in Sweden, is levied on cars and tires according to their weight. Each car using rubber tires is taxed eight kronor for every hundred kilograms or fraction thereof, which amounts to about $1 per hundred pounds. The tires are taxed 1.50 krona for every kilogram of weight. Tires in use at the beginning of next year will be exempt and in the case of pneumatic tires, two exams will be exempt.

Too Many Collegians Are Not Enough

SCHOOL MUSIC ADVOCATED AS MISCHIEF BAR

Oakland's Work Already Becoming Famed Abroad, Declares Woods.

Music as a means for keeping school children out of trouble was advocated by Glenn H. Woods, director of music in the public schools, who yesterday spoke to members of the Progressive Business club at their luncheon at the Hotel Oakland.

Woods declared that $33,000,000 is spent each year on state prisons and one thirty-third of this amount expended on the education of pupils in music would increase the musical appreciation of the state 75 per cent.

"If our children could be taught to appreciate music," said the speaker, "they would give their time to playing some instrument instead of getting into trouble. They would not have time to get into trouble then."

"The city and county appropriated $5000 for the purchase of musical instruments to be used in educating children in the Oakland schools in music. Oakland leads in providing its school children with musical instruments."

OAKLAND'S WORK FAMOUS. So famous has Oakland become for its work in educating its school children in music that the assistant superintendent of schools of Boston wrote me a few days ago asking for a detailed paper on what Oakland schools are doing along musical lines.

"One of our great difficulties is the scarcity of musical instruments. We could use twice as many instruments to advantage if we had them."

"That Oakland schools need to find some public spirited citizen who has some money he wishes to give for a splendid cause. And such a man could not do a greater service to Oakland than to give a goodly sum for the purchase of instruments so that the school children could be properly educated in music."

"Such an education has a great psychological influence," continued Woods. "By learning to play an instrument and by hearing good music often, the child's appreciation of music is raised. As a result the public requirement is gradually being met and our theaters and bands are gradually being called upon to play better music."

"Anyone in Oakland having musical instruments which are not in use could do the schools a great service by donating them to the pupils."

FOREIGN CULTURE SUPERIOR. "In their superior culture in music the foreigners who come to Oakland give us as much in music as we have to give them in other things. The foreign immigrant with his high appreciation of music, brings to this country something that should be highly valued."

"In European countries music is cheap. It is not an uncommon thing for theaters to charge twenty or twenty-five cents for grand opera in country such as Italy, Germany, Russia and France. As the result the people of these countries become highly cultured along musical lines."

"Take your ordinary gathering of people and you will find that about sixty per cent of those present are of foreign birth. There is only one way that these people can be brought to one frame of mind and that is through folk songs. Such songs amalgamate the persons present into one way of thinking, no matter what their religious, political or social differences may be."

GREAT FIELD OFFERED. "Music offers the greatest field for broadening our system of education and amalgamating our foreign peoples."

"To quote a New York publication, 'New York has more Italians than Naples, more Russians than Warsaw, and more foreign born than Chicago, Detroit and Boston.' 'Think of the musical culture these people, trained to love music from childhood, are bringing to the United States.'"

DAUGHERTY SOON TO OPEN WAR ON STOCK SWINDLES

Approximately 500 Cases in Hands of U. S. Attorneys
Throughout Nation.

By H. K. REYNOLDS,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Attorney General Daugherty has completed plans and issued orders for prosecution in the federal courts of hundreds of alleged stock swindlers who are charged with "plundering the homes of the poor" of nearly $150,000,000 through fraudulent use of the United States mails. It was learned officially at the Department of Justice today.

Approximately 500 cases were said to be in the hands of United States attorneys throughout the country for consideration for institution of criminal procedure. Nearly 900 persons have been arrested or indicted in connection with the cases now before the courts. These cases represent a total loss to the public through postal swindlers of $140,011,231. According to government records, 3552 government cases are distributed among fifteen divisions of the Department of Justice as follows:

Atlanta, 140; Austin, Texas, 446; Boston, 124; Chattanooga, 123; Denver, 70; Kansas City, 233; New York, 121; Philadelphia, 218; St. Louis, 141; St. Paul, 89; San Francisco, 174; Spokane, 61; and Washington, 201.

The largest number of stock swindle cases have been filed in the western district of Missouri. Neoraska is second.

Jury to Decide Rail Injunction Asked. CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—(E) International News Service.—A request that the question of making the famous Chicago rail injunction permanent be given to a jury to decide was made today by Attorney Donald Kenworthy, representing the former stockholders of the Chicago & North Western Railway.

The temporary injunction before Federal Judge James S. Wilkeson, Judge Wilkeson asked Attorney Kenworthy to ask the court to prepare a writ in support of his request and the same amount of time was granted counsel representing the government in which to file an opposing brief.

BAZAAR BENEFIT. The Monday Universal club will hold a bazaar on the afternoon and evening of November 13 at 670 Wabash avenue. Bell, candy, fortune telling and fancy work booths will be open and there will be a raffle and a drawing. The proceeds will go toward making a happy Thanksgiving and Christmas for the needy. Admission will be free. The public is invited.

CREW OF BURNED LINED BOAT

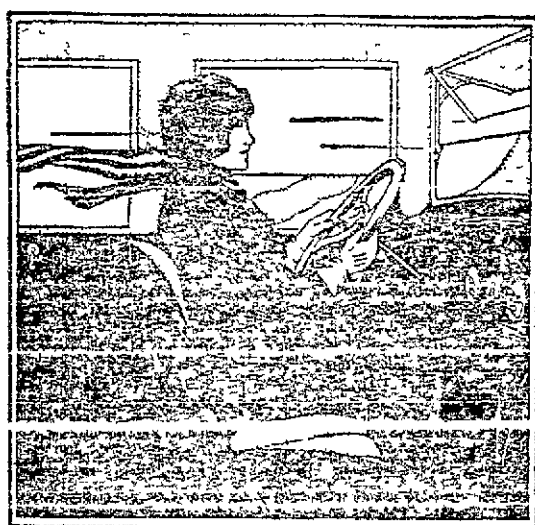

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9. (By International News Service).—The United States Shipping board today approved the reports of the board of inquiry which investigated the burning of the steamer City of Honolulu in the Pacific Ocean on October 25. The crew of the vessel was acquitted of all blame and praised for their conduct during the fire. The board said the cause of the fire has not been determined.

Fuller Released on Habeas Corpus Writ

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 9.—Edgar Fuller, former clerk of the local Ku Klux Klan, was released yesterday afternoon on a writ of habeas corpus in the Abel case. W. C. Cook, candidate in the primary for sheriff, sued Fuller for libel, following publication of a story in Fuller's 100 Per Cent American Klan paper, attacking Cook.

BRUINS WILL NOT PLAY NEW YEAR'S GAME IN THE SOUTH

STANFORD AND CALIFORNIA FRESHMEN MAY PROVIDE THE CLOSEST GAME OF RECENT YEARS

CARDINAL FRESHMEN EXPECTED TO GIVE BEAR CUBS A BATTLE

Rival Freshman Elevens Hold Sway at Berkeley Saturday; California Has Slight Edge in Line

By DOUG. MONTELL

With both Stanford and California claiming victory for their Freshman football elevens the "Little Big Game" at California Field next Saturday resolves itself into a matter of breaks. Both Freshman teams are good. Neither has been defeated, although the California Freshmen are one point nearer to a defeat for their season's work than are their Cardinal clad rivals. The Trojan Babes and California Frosh battled to a 3-3 tie in a poor exhibition of headwork on California Field a week ago Saturday while the men in charge of Coach Hunt invaded the south last Saturday and nosed the U. S. C. yearlings out in the last quarter 10-9. Not much to choose between the two if these two games are to be used as a means of comparison.

But with varsity dope going up the spout right and left this season, hard games, in the case of estimates, resulting in easy walks over and apparent easy wins resulting in nip and tuck games with the favorite losing, one is led to believe that anything will be possible when two Freshmen teams, both in condition, full of fight and undefeated, meet in their annual scrap.

U. C. Freshmen Are Best in Many Years

The California Freshmen of 1922 are unquestionably the best aggregation of assembled high school talent that have ever been seen on California field. And the same statement goes for the Cardinal Frosh. This is a year of excellent entering football material, future varsity men being seen on the California, Stanford and U. S. C. Freshman squads. If anything, California is a slight favorite for the Bear Cubs know how to play a superior brand of football. IF THEY WILL.

Coach Hunt may make his aggregation fight at times but at others they have less ambition than the Mayor of Zanzibar. The Blue and Gold Babe backs can plunge any ordinary team to death and then toss a bloomer in the punch, such as against the U. S. C. Freshmen when they bucked the ball to the five yard line only to throw a forward pass when the Trojan youngsters in the forward line were all flying the distress signal. Cubs Improving In Latest Starts.

Since that exhibition of ivory the Bear Cubs have been put on the pan aplenty by Messrs. Barnes and Toomey, Inc. Freshman coaches. The showing of the Bear yearlings last Saturday against Berkeley high, when they showed sufficient to make any All-Freshman team in the country, showed what they can do. Dixon, a good punter and passer, is capable of playing great football if he doesn't attempt to do it all. While Carlson, former Everett high youngster, has been starting at quarterback, the work of "Scott" Tate, Oakland lad, his substitute, has been manifestly successful.

'Buck' Faust--Can Bear Cubs Stop Him?

"BUCK" FAUST, one of the reasons the Cardinal Freshmen defeated the U. S. C. yearlings a week ago at Los Angeles, will be a real problem for the Bear Cubs to cope with at the meeting of the two rival Freshmen elevens next Saturday at Berkeley. "Buck" has built up a reputation of hitting hard and is held in reserve until needed before being allowed to wreck havoc against his opponents.

ANDY KERR CONCEDES TROJAN ELEVEN ONE TOUCHDOWN ON DOPE

U. S. C. Will Enter Game Slight Favorite Over the Cardinal Warriors in Meeting Saturday On Farm

By TOM IRWIN.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 9.—While Andy Kerr is not at all pessimistic about the outcome of his game with the Trojans Saturday, he admitted last night that everything pointed toward at least a seven-point advantage for the Southern. "U. S. C. has the edge," he declared after practice last night, "but Stanford nevertheless has not only a chance to win but if she follows the balls and gets more than her share of the breaks, she may come out on top."

The Card mentor is not alone in his assumption that Gloomy Gus will bring down a team that is one or two touchdowns better, at least on paper, than the Stanford eleven. Tiny Thornhill, Graduate Manager Fletcher, and Dud DeGroot concede the Trojans the gonfalon for potential scoring power. And when the comparative strength of the two elevens, man for man, is computed it is readily seen that these beliefs have some justification.

It is common knowledge that the Trojans have the stronger backfield of the two. When men like Tiernan are kept on the bench most of the season, there is reason to think that Gus Henderson is nursing human dynamite in his backfield gang. Campbell, who will probably start at fullback Saturday is considered the best all-around ground-runner for the Southerners. Unless Anderson has recovered sufficiently, Campbell will probably do the punting, in which case he will have to make up a lot of ground, for any one of the three Card backs—Wilcox, Cleveland or Cudeback—can boot rings around him. Campbell's specialty lies in shaking off the first three tacklers. His twists and turns and straight-arms are so effective that more tacklers are in-

Many Bears Will Be Lost This Year

BERKELEY, Nov. 9.—Next year

"wonder team." It will then be shown whether Andy Smith's system is the real producer of such teams. This year California lost its former line. Now even if it loses the backfield, it will lose the middle to both ends. Stanford's great disadvantage in the backfield is the lack of a consistent line plunger. Both Cudeback and Cleveland are good while they last, but Kincaid with his equal talent and additional weight, has it all over either of them. The lack of this threat from the Card backs will materially strengthen the Trojan defense and throw the balance of favor all with the men from the south.

Southern Eleven Leaving Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—Thirty-five players of the University of Southern California football team will leave here tonight for San Francisco on the way to Palo Alto where they will play the Stanford university eleven armistice day in the Stanford stadium. The Trojan team is in good shape for the struggle, except for over-confidence on the part of several players. Coach Elmer C. ("Gloomy Gus") Henderson, announced today. Nearly 100 students of U. S. C. will witness the game.

CALIFORNIA WAIVES RIGHT TO BE NAMED FOR PASADENA GAME

Executive Committee Sends Resolution to Conference Asking That Bears Be Left Out of Consideration

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Nov. 9.—The University of California football team, whether champions of the Coast Conference or not, does not seek to play at Pasadena against Penn State on New Year's Day. This startling announcement came as a bolt from the blue last night at a meeting of the executive committee of the Associated Students, which, acting upon the recommendation of the athletic council, voted not to have the California Bears make a third trip to Pasadena to play a post season game.

It has been freely rumored about the campus during the week previous that California would not accept the nomination of the Coast Conference to be the western representative, even though this invitation were to be forthcoming as the result of a mail vote which is to be taken late in November. Andy Smith squashed these rumors personally before leaving for the north by stating that California had not refused to play at Pasadena and that it would be impossible for the Blue and Gold to turn down an offer which had not, as yet, been extended.

It appears that since Andy Smith departed with the team for the north things have happened which make his statement null and void, inasmuch as the action taken by the executive committee last night is final and leaves no room for argument, even though the coast conference colleges unanimously nominate the Bears as standard-bearers of the body against Penn State.

The action of the California executive committee took the form of a resolution to the members of the conference asking them not to consider the California team in making its selection. Three reasons were presented by the committee in announcing its decision, as follows: 1. For the past two years the California football squad has given up the Christmas holidays in order to make the game possible, returning to training immediately after final examinations. It was felt that it would be asking too much to demand this a third time.

2. The post-season game would continue the season to a point which would make it a nuisance to the team itself. The experience gained by the one game is not considered to offset the bad effects of long-continued training.

3. California recommended that selection made by the conference this year could be called "representative," feeling that there are several other teams capable of representing the West.

It was furthermore added that the decision, reached in mid-season, would be of assistance to the conference in making its selection immediately after the close of the regular playing season.

Clear Weather in Order in the North

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 8.—A dry field for the California-Washington championship football, which is to be played here Saturday, was reported from the weather bureau.

There was no rainfall in Seattle last night and no storms are reported.

Ray Doughty, Cardinal Back, Out on Injury

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 9.—The loss of Ray Doughty, star back, for at least three weeks, possibly for the season, gave Coach Andy Kerr an additional worry last night in his hurried preparations for the game with U. S. C. here Saturday. Doughty sustained an injury to the shoulder in scrimmage last night and the situation, it was feared, would prevent the return of the halfback in time to participate in the California game.

Gov. Campbell To Be Rooter For St. Mary's

Governor "Tom" Campbell, otherwise Thomas Campbell, governor of the State of Arizona, will be an enthusiastic spectator and rooter when St. Mary's and Arizona University meet on the gridiron at Tucson next Saturday afternoon. It would appear that his honor, the governor, was in a peculiar situation, torn between duty and love of Alma Mater. For it is the same Tom Campbell who wore mole skins and fought his way to many a victory for the Red and Blue of St. Mary's of which he is an alumnus.

To equalize matters Campbell has given definite assurance that he will share his enthusiasm. Duty, coming first, will be served when the governor sits on the Arizona bench and urges on the Wildcats. In the second half it will be Tom Campbell, not "Governor," who sits on the St. Mary's bench alongside of Coach "Ship" Madigan and urges on the athletes of his Alma Mater.

To date Governor Thomas Campbell has not been heard to make any predictions about the outcome of the game.

Missionites Meet Marines At Santa Clara

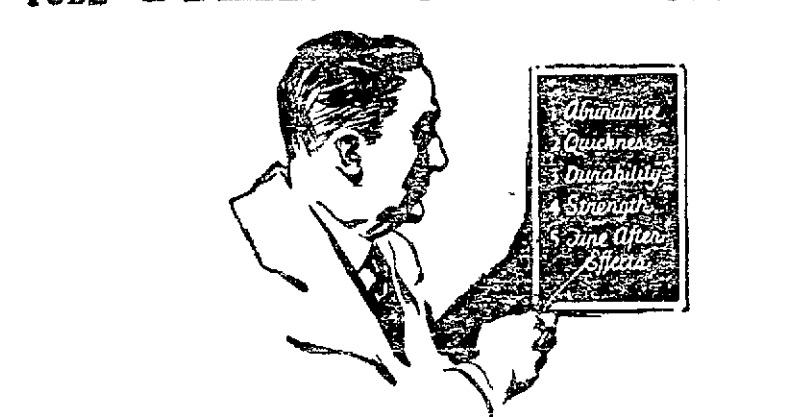

Game Switched From Ewing Field; Buckingham Has Two Stars Injured

SANTA CLARA UNIVERSITY, Nov. 8.—Although holding the record of more than a close season's work, the Missionites will likely prove a tough nut to crack for the Marines. The game was switched from Ewing Field to Santa Clara, where the game had been scheduled. The change was made by the university authorities in order that the local followers of the Missionites might have a chance to see their favorites in action. Outside of the two pre-season games which the varsity played on their home field, and which were played before Buckingham had his team in working order, Santa Clara has had no games at home.

In Logan's place in Sunday's game with the Marines will be Malley. Tom Noonan will hold down Halloran's job with Bedolla and Flavin in reserve.

The varsity seems to lack the so-called intangible punch which means touchdowns when the team, after marching spectacularly up the field, fails to get the leather across the opposition line. Whether the team lacks a "punch" or whether the opposition has always been able to strengthen at the opportune moment and prevent the Mission backs to get even, yet the fact remains that particularly in the Arizona and Stanford games Santa Clara lost three touchdowns by failing to make the required yard by inches. In all other departments of the game the team is doing more than has been expected of them.

Five Desires We met in Shaving Cream

Gentlemen:

We asked 1,000 men what they most desired in a Shaving Cream.

Then we set out to meet those desires as no one else had done.

For 60 years we have studied soap making and developed a world-wide fame. The leading toilet soap in existence—Palmolive—is one of our creations. So we are qualified.

We spent 18 months on this Shaving Cream. We done our best.

Now we simply ask a trial at our cost.

Five supremacies

In these five ways Palmolive Shaving Cream excels any soap you know.

The lather is abundant. The soap multiplies itself in lather 250 times.

The action is quick. The beard is softened in one minute.

The lather lasts—maintains its creamy fullness for ten minutes on the face.

The bubbles are strong. They support the hairs for cutting, while weak bubbles let hairs fall down.

The after effects are delightful, due to palm and olive oils.

The soap you are using, however well you like it, cannot match Palmolive in those five respects.

We ask you to prove that. Make this free test, in fairness to yourself and us. Cut out the coupon now.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The people of the United States as a whole are accommodating themselves to improved circumstances. They are buying more, selecting better quality of goods and living on the higher plane which universal employment, higher wages, better business conditions and larger investment returns justify.

After a period of strict economy and stubborn opposition to prices demand is broadening to take in the field of luxuries as well as necessities.

The trend has already made itself felt in wholesale and jobbing circles and is beginning to become apparent in the goods now on the counters of the retailers.

This bears none of the earmarks of extravagance, however, for savings deposits are increasing in practically every section. The main demand still is for necessities and articles of strict utility but the call is for a better grade of goods than in the past two years.

Weather changes in the last few days have been most favorable.

Rains have helped the stock growers in the West and Southwest and have added to the efficiency of hydroelectric plants which for a time were taxed to capacity on account of low water. Fall plowing is in full swing and while farmers are buying with caution, their purchases are extensive.

COTTON PROSPEROUS
This has not followed large profits on this year's crops except in the case of the cotton planters. It has resulted from the fact that agriculturists used their cash to clear themselves of debt. As a consequence credit in the farming community is readily extended.

OIL PRODUCTION IS AGAIN ACTIVE

Forty-One National Refineries Reported Operating in Baku and Grozny.

According to information from official Soviet publications, received by the Department of Commerce for the accuracy of which the Department assumes no responsibility, Russia produced in nine months, October, 1921, to June, 1922 inclusive, 1,859,150 tons of refined petroleum and derivatives. From the information in the publications referred to the following statement of the effect of the Russian petroleum industry on the world market is derived:

THIRTY-SIX REFINERIES
In the Baku district there are thirty-six refineries, now nationalized and placed in the groups:

The first group consists of the largest refineries, formerly owned by the Nobel Co., with 2,113 workers.

The second group is formed of the refineries formerly owned by the Caucasus-Black Sea Co., Russo-Caucasian Co., Shibaev and Bykovskiy, altogether eight works with 835 employees.

The third group unites the former Persian refineries, with 462 workers.

The fourth group comprises the former Manashey refinery and

The fifth group is made up of a number of pumping stations and small oil works.

The Gresham district are favored by the producing kerosene, kerosene, gasoline and lubricating oils, the last-named item being produced at the Purba Works only before the war.

The work of the refineries in distilling and refining of petroleum in 1924 for the nine months October 1, 1924, to June, 1925, is summarized as follows: 2,700,000 pounds distilled and 1,500,000 pounds refined.

One pond equals 38.67 barrels.

The work of the refining of various petroleum products was interrupted by chronic shortages of sulphuric acid and caustic soda, as equipment and lack of necessary repair materials chiefly sheet-lead. The lack of sulphuric acid was factually especially acutely! The repercussions of the works were completely neglected to shut down completely already in June and only toward the end of the month were enabled to resume operations—thanks to arrivals of sulphuric acid from the local chemical plants. However, the improvement in the work of the chemical plant is anticipated shortly, due to the completion of the new smelter of Petrograd of special contact material of tantalum impregnated asbestos.

POSTAL SERVICE AT PLEASANTON

BEING IMPROVED DEMO HARBORER BEING IMPROVED

Postoffice Building Leased
For Long Term and Will Receive Additions.

PLEASANTON, Nov. 9.—Extensive improvements in the local postoffice are being made which will assist the office in handling the mail service to greater satisfaction. The government has lately closed a new lease with H. A. Hendt and Company for the office to cover ten years and with an increase in rent. The owners have been able to make the much needed change. The office is being enlarged, a new table for sorting the mail installed, a package rack put in, office furniture and a new safe added to the postmaster's office, new awnings and other improvements made which will make the postoffice more commodious. The changes were made as the result of an inspection recently completed by a postal attaché who visited the office from San Francisco with regard to improving conditions here. The local office has officially notified the people of the Tassajara district that their office has been closed on account of the inability to secure anyone to take care of it. The mail will be henceforth distributed by the carrier between this city and that district. Boxes are being sent by the residents of the district and a effort will be made to give all efficient service.

The board of town trustees held a quiet session an evening the early part of the week and considered the affairs of the municipality. Reports from the town officers for October were heard and all tended to show that the business of Pleasanton was progressing satisfactorily. Fire Chief W. H. Graham discussed a new alarm plan but some of the trustees thought the present one was sufficient to meet local needs, and efficiency in the department might be more necessary. A permit was granted the Revelers to give a ball in the Foresters' hall on Saturday, November 25. The monthly claims were allowed and ordered paid and a few business matters taken up, but nothing of importance transacted.

Pleasanton Chapter of the Eastern Star will meet tomorrow evening in the Odd Fellows hall and elect officers for the new year to be installed in January. Affairs for the year are being concluded and but a few more meetings will complete the activities of the Star for 1922. Miss Anna L. Harms as worthy matron of the Pleasanton chapter and she will be succeeded by Miss Elsie V. Tringham.

The Bank of Pleasanton and the First National Bank have lately returned to their former banking hours of 9 to 3 o'clock, remaining open throughout the noon hour. The local institutions, like so many others in the country district of this state, more than a year and a half ago inaugurated closing during the noon hour, but of late that has been a disadvantage here and the banks decided to revert to the old order.

SCHOOL WINNING FIGHT FOR ROAD

LOS GATOS, Nov. 9.—The Montezuma Mountain Ranch School for Boys stands a fair chance of winning its long fight for a better county road from the Los Gatos-Santa Cruz highway to the school, according to an announcement made by Supervisor C. C. Cooley this week. Cooley says that if a portable rock crusher is purchased by the county he will see to it that the work of improving the Bear Creek road to the summit will be done early in the spring. Rock will be blasted from the mountains in the vicinity of the Montezuma school and crushed by the new machinery and placed on the roadway, which will be entirely regraded and many of the steeper sections done away with.

Mayor of Turlock Sick With Pneumonia

TURLOCK, Nov. 9.—Turlock's mayor, William E. Bridgeport, is confined to his bed a victim of pneumonia. He has been there for two weeks and is likely to remain there for a similar term, according to his physician, Dr. E. Z. Zinn, who states that the patient has passed the crisis, but that his condition is still very low. Tuesday night's city council meeting was postponed on account of the illness of the mayor.

BOY SCOUTS TRAINING

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 9.—Romer Bemis, of Oakland, a Boy Scout executive, has been here conducting a Boy Scout training school and with four of the troops on a week-end camp at Paradise Park at the Powder Mill flat in the San Lorenzo canyon. He was accompanied by his wife.

ANTIOCH NOTES

ANTIOCH, Nov. 9.—Mrs. May Rapp and Mrs. H. E. Deede entertained a number of friends recently in honor of Mrs. Jean Lauritzen, who was their house guest, and Mrs. Estelle Crocker of Los Angeles who were visiting here. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses. Those who enjoyed this delightful affair were Mesdames Jean Lauritzen, Robert Wall, Jack Belshaw, Bedson Juett, Harry Beede, Ralph Beede, Roy Davis, Estelle Crocker, Ada Belshaw and Jake Matheson.

Tuesday services were held Wednesday last week at the Congregational church for the late John Nichols, who died recently at the hospital in Pittsburg. John Nichols was born in England, and was sixty-nine years old at the time of his death. He had been in California for the past forty-five years, practically the whole time spent in the vicinity of Antioch.

George LaMontagne has left for Mexico, where he will be for the rest of the year.

Mrs. Diethelm was operated on at Morton's hospital last week in San Francisco. She is improving nicely and expects to be home within another week or two.

Miss Charlotte Bullock, of Oakland, spent the week end visiting her friend, Miss Roberta Sasley.

Francis Flannery of Martinez is spending this week in Antioch.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. West have returned from a few weeks vacation spent at Pacific Grove.

John W. Vossell, of McPherson, Kansas, is here on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. O. E. Klengel, accompanied by his brother, Robert Young, of Easton, Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Holmberg, and the Rev. Bogert of St. Paul's Episcopal church, all of Reno, are visiting Mrs. Holmberg's sister, Mrs. Ed Sweeney.

HAYWARD

HAYWARD, Nov. 9.—Naval and army veterans of the World war will play baseball Saturday afternoon to decide who won the war, according to the official program for the Armistice day celebration. The announcement was made today by Captain L. W. Peterson, a member of the celebration committee. The celebration will be started at nine with a cannon salute. At 9:30 a parade will be held, and at 11 the official program will be started on the Hayward high school grounds. Samuel Shortridge, United States senator, will be speaker of the day, and will be introduced by W. T. Knightly. Mrs. Mary Dickson will officiate at the ceremonies. Rev. A. W. MacClean will deliver the invocation. Frank Mitchell will deliver gold stars to mothers of soldiers killed as John Fiedlerman, Legion commander, calls the roll of Hayward boys killed overseas.

C. of C. Gets 25 New Members in Drive

HAYWARD, Nov. 9.—The first day of the Chamber of Commerce expansion campaign ended here last night with twenty-five new members added to the chamber. E. A. Hey, chamber president; M. A. V. Lee, secretary; Oscar Brauns and W. S. Freeman, drive leaders, are confident that the campaign will be entirely successful.

The project to construct a toll bridge across San Francisco bay from Little Coyote point to Alameda was outlined last night at a community dinner given by the chamber in connection with its expansion campaign by J. B. Leonard, a leading civil engineer of San Francisco. Major Frank E. Webb, of New York, head of the corporation proposing to construct the bridge, and R. M. Neustadt, of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce were also present at the meeting. Representatives from civic organizations of all towns in lower Alameda county were in attendance at the meeting.

The chamber's drive will be continued through Friday. Roy Goodrich, emer president of the Oakland Lions' club, and a leading member of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, addressed the expansion workers today. Tomorrow Joseph R. Knowland, publisher of The Oakland TRIBUNE, will speak before chamber members and expansion workers at a community luncheon.

Farm Bureau Will Hold Mass Meeting

HAYWARD, Nov. 9.—The membership campaign of the Alameda County Farm Bureau will be opened tonight with a rally meeting of the Hayward Heath farm center, which will be addressed by E. C. Bryant, secretary of the California Farm Bureau federation. H. H. Morrell, campaign manager for the bureau. At this rally no actual business will be transacted.

Members of the center will be invited to the party they should carry in the drive. On November 22, in Farm Bureau hall, W. E. Newlen, of the University of California, will talk on incubation to poultrymen here.

WOODMEN INITIATE.
HAYWARD, Nov. 9.—Six candidates were initiated into the Hayward lodge, Woodmen of the World, last night. It was announced today, Don Nugent, P. H. Froven, Joseph Morris, Neils Nelson, George Christie and Dr. C. P. Higgins were made members of the lodge. The initiatory work was carried out by the lodge's drill team under the direction of Roy Underwood. Following the initiation a banquet was served by the lodge.

NICE—Miss Elsie Regnier, film star, has used her employers for $100,000 because a panther bit her leg in a moving picture production.

ODD FELLOWS OF DISTRICT GATHER

BRENTWOOD, Nov. 9.—One of the most interesting and enthusiastic district meetings ever held by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows took place in Belshar theater, Antioch, Saturday night, when members comprising district 65 assembled to transact business and to confer the first and second degrees on nine neophytes.

Noble Grand C. H. Murray, of San Joaquin lodge called the meeting to order and introduced Grand Warden L. Cohen and D. G. M. H. W. Perkin of District 17. After honors had been offered, etc., chairs were surrendered to the Pittsburg drill team for the conferring of the first degree. At the conclusion the drill team of Byron Lodge No. 325 assumed the chairs and put on the second degree.

John Moore, editor of the California Odd Fellows and New Age, made a few remarks. Herbert West of Antioch made an address of welcome on behalf of the board of trustees.

The program for the initiatory work and throughout the evening was furnished by Charles Duffin, violin; G. Donovan, saxophone and H. Taylor, piano. Remarks were made by Grand Warden Cohen and H. W. Perkin of Stockton, William Savour and Andrew Anderson of Byron Lodge and two Grand Master K. C. Keene of Suisun, District Grand Master Mark Field. District 65 outlined the perceptible increase in membership during the last few months.

At the conclusion of the work adjournment was taken to Union Hall where members of San Joaquin had prepared a spread, spread over and served by Mrs. Frank Stamm, Mrs. Martin Jensen, Miss Elsie Briggs and a number of other Roberts Past Parish George Knowles acted as toastmaster.

Tutor and Student Wed in Woodland

WOODLAND, Nov. 9.—Miss Mae Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, of Arbuckle, and Ellis Patterson, member of the faculty of the Pierce Joint Union High School at College City, married Tuesday, the result of a romance between student and tutor. The bride was a senior in the school in which the groom taught. Patterson is a graduate of the University of California.

Aside from his romance and educational work, Patterson holds the amateur Pacific coast wrestling championship.

Committee Named For Saratoga Bazaar

SARATOGA, Nov. 9.—The following committee was named for the joint fair and bazaar to start today for a three day session under the auspices of the joint parishes of the Sacred Heart church of Saratoga and St. Joseph's church of Cupertino: Mrs. N. Zarevick, chairman; Mrs. J. A. McDonald, Mrs. C. R. Forge, Miss Alice Williams, Miss Kathryn Byrnes, Mrs. Otto Abel, Mrs. R. D. Baker, Mrs. N. J. Ladner, Mrs. J. J. Michaels, Mrs. Paul Mariani, Mrs. Henry Voss, Mrs. N. J. Buck, Mrs. Lena Miretta and Mrs. A. Stockmeir.

Newark Young Folks Plan December Ball

NEWARK, Nov. 9.—On December 9, the young folks of St. Edward's parish will give a ball at the Newark School Auditorium. This will be the closing feature of the bazaar held recently. Music will be furnished by the Dixie Toddle Kids.

NURSERIES ADD TO POSSESSIONS NEAR BRENTWOOD

Kirkman Company Buys
More Land and Brings
Holdings to 1174 Acres.

BRENTWOOD, Nov. 9.—The Kirkman Nurseries Company of Fresno is becoming substantially entrenched in the immediate vicinity of Brentwood.

A few weeks ago the company purchased 257 acres of land from C. E. Sanford and about 180 acres from R. E. Lemoin east of the highway, and recently took over 175 acres from the Balfour-Guthrie Company. The latter part of last week a deal was consummated in which the company purchased 170 acres, and part of the buildings just south of Brentwood belonging to Balfour-Guthrie was added to the Kirkman holdings.

Two hundred acres of this land was put out in orchard invasion and the planting showed 10 per cent growth, a remarkable success. Resident Manager C. B. Weeks says seven tractors, with a force of fifteen men, are working night and day preparing 800 additional acres for tree planting. That acreage will be set out to prunes, pears, apricots, figs and some cherries and peaches, making a comprehensive and select variety of fruit.

The abiding faith the Kirkman Nurseries Company is manifesting in the local invasion is of extreme importance and is indelibly writing the history and growth of Brentwood with an emphasis that is creating a perceptible degree of optimism in the community.

L. the latest possession, will be used in connection with other holdings, which, all told, amount to 1174 acres under the direct supervision of Resident Manager Weeks, who, with Mrs. Weeks and three children, has been in Brentwood for some time.

Tracy Native Sons Keep Armistice Day

TRACY, Nov. 9.—The Native Sons Parlor of Tracy will observe Armistice Day with a special celebration Thursday evening in the I. O. O. F. Hall. It will be an open meeting and the general public will be welcome.

A pleasing musical program will be offered. The speaker of the evening will be Charles McKenny of San Francisco, who is the grand director of the N. S. G. W. He will speak on "Present Day Interpretations of Armistice Day." The program will be followed by a dance. The committee in charge of the evening consists of R. J. Macdonald, Paul Harder and Roy McKenny.

President Elected to Revive Dormant Firm

WOODLAND, Nov. 9.—Supervisor Frank L. Edson has been elected president of the Knights Landing Creamery and Cold Storage company, which has been dormant for ten years. It is planned to revive the concern. Frank L. Morris of this city, interested in the Asa Morris company of Woodland, is one of the prime movers in the new enterprise.

Oakland Man Weds Girl From Stockton

WOODLAND, Nov. 9.—A marriage license was issued here yesterday to Ivan N. Searle, of Oakland, and Alice Jane Bowman, of Stockton. They were married in Woodland and left for the bay section to take up their residence in Oakland.

DANVILLE NOTES

DANVILLE, Nov. 9.—Mrs. W. Ward and brother, Lawrence Easton, of Black Hawk ranch, spent the last week in New York.

Mrs. Ward took a flying trip to meet her husband, who has just returned from Scotland. While in Scotland Ward purchased 20 aristocrats, Miss Elsie Briggs and a number of other Roberts Past Parish George Knowles acted as toastmaster.

At the conclusion of the work adjournment was taken to Union Hall where members of San Joaquin had prepared a spread, spread over and served by Mrs. Frank Stamm, Mrs. Martin Jensen, Miss Elsie Briggs and a number of other Roberts Past Parish George Knowles acted as toastmaster.

NAPA ELECTS BLIND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

NAPA, Nov. 9.—When Charles H. Snow, elected Tuesday, takes office, Napa will have a blind justice of the peace.

Snow won over Martin J. Wittlinger.

Snow's wife will assist him in the conduct of the office. She helped him about from house to house during the recent campaign.

Snow lost his sight in an explosion here several years ago. Despite his handicap, he has studied law for some time past and is unusually well informed on all important legal points.

MAN REPORTED KILLED RETURNS TO HOME TOWN

MANTECA, Nov. 9.—Oscar Olson, a not dead, he is here to prove it, although he is still suffering from the effects of an automobile wreck in which he was reported to have been killed several months ago near Leamouth. He formerly lived here and followed the trade of a cement worker. The car in which he was riding was driven by Edward Sellers, who met instant death when the machine plunged over a bridge. Olson was rushed to a hospital, where he lay for many weeks. He may never fully recover.

Fiftieth Anniversary Of Wedding Observed

MANTECA, Nov. 9.—The sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Graves of Stockton was celebrated at the home of their son, and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Graves at Calla, near this place.

The table appointments were carried out in the bridal color scheme, magnificent white chrysanthemums being used profusely. Around the dinner table the immediate members of the family were gathered.

Mr. and Mrs. Graves were married in 1872, in 1882, and came to California two years later by the overland route. Graves drove an ox team across the plains. They settled in this section and at one time Graves owned 500 acres here, including the present site of Calla. The family moved to Stockton to give the children the benefits of education.

Mr. and Mrs. Graves have five daughters and a son are living. All were present at the reunion. Both Mr. and Mrs. Graves are hale and hearty, despite their advanced age and take a deep interest in all that goes on in the world.

Hilmar Warehouses Packed with Products

HILMAR, Nov. 9.—The two large warehouses at Hilmar are packed to overflowing with beans, wheat, corn and other sacked farm products, and there are still huge quantities on the ranches awaiting such time as the warehouses shall have shipped out part of their contents. A few days ago it became necessary for the managers of the warehouses to refuse to accept further orders, every bit of available space having been filled. A few years ago these same storage structures were not half filled at the end of the harvest season, but so thickly is the district settling up and so bountifully is the rich soil producing that larger storage quarters are urgently needed. The bean crop has been especially large this year and growers will net good profits.

Daughter of Pioneer Yolo Family Married

WOODLAND, Nov. 9.—Miss Edna Ruppert, connected with the local branch of the Bank of Italy and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ruppert, pioneer residents of Woodland, was married at Holy Rosary church yesterday morning to William C. Armstrong, assistant manager of the Morris pasteurizing plant of this city. Rev. Father T. W. Horgan officiated.

"OIL WORKER" EDITOR DEAD.
BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 8.—Robert Francis, 48 years old, a prominent California newspaperman, editor of the California Oil Worker and former editor of the International Oil Worker, died here today following a severe attack of intestinal trouble.

VALLE VISTA

VALLE VISTA, Nov. 9.—The teachers of Valle Vista school, Mrs. I. H. Henderson and Mrs. Bartimus will give a card party at the new Valle Vista improvement club hall, next Saturday evening.

The Valle Vista Improvement club will hold its regular social, Saturday evening, November 18. The committee in charge of the social for that date consists of Mrs. Fred Leonard, Mr. Costa, Mrs. Peters and Mrs. Liebig.

The Valle Vista improvement club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Dixon, the retiring president, on Friday afternoon of last week. The afternoon was devoted to making plans and electing new officers, after which refreshments were served.

The club will hold a bazaar at the new Valle Vista Improvement club hall on Saturday evening, November 18. There will be a large display of fancy work and articles appropriate for holiday gifts, also home cooked food, candies and coffee for sale. During the evening an entertainment will be given by the school children.

Riverside Engineer Returns With Bride

YOLOITE GOES TO TRIAL FOR FIRING AT HIS NEIGHBOR

Sheepherder Faces Court and Jury For Shots Following Row Between Women.

WOODLAND, Nov. 9.—John Hunt, sheepherder, residing in the Beamer addition to Woodland, is on trial here before Superior Judge W. A. Anderson for the alleged firing of two shots at his neighbor, J. C. Chadwick, a Woodland butcher, on the afternoon of May 2, 1922.

The following jury was selected to try the case: Mary E. Weider, I. H. Cover, R. T. Donald, E. E. Anderson, O. B. Wilbur, R. K. Swingle, Charles Wilcox, Victor Nyholm, John Reith, Jr., Ambrose B. Baker, Augusta A. Adams and George Griffin.

According to the story of the alleged shooting, in which Hunt is accused of firing two shots from an automatic revolver at his fleeing neighbor, the wives of both men had quarreled and the men followed later taking it up with near tragic results.

The trial may last for some time, for the reason that there is a sharp conflict in testimony. Chadwick claims the bullets whizzed past his arm and that he could feel them, while Hunt declares that he shot in the air to frighten his neighbor.

Carmel Actress Will Appear at Alcatraz

CARMEL, Nov. 9.—Katherine Cook, one of Carmel's leading actresses and one of the old-timers here, is leaving soon to join Tom Wilke's stock company at the Alcatraz in San Francisco. She expects to go in about three weeks, and after a week's rehearsal, will make her first appearance.

Tom Wilke has come to the large cities in California. His play "The Fool" is now running in New York, where it has made a great success.

Katherine Cook made her first appearance on the Forest Theater stage as Alice in "Alice in Wonderland" which was produced by Garnet Holme in 1912. Since then her greatest success was as the heroine of "The Blue Bird," which she took the role of Galatea. Several years ago she assisted John Northern Hilliard in the second production of "Alice in Wonderland," and in 1921 she put on "Fomander Walk." Other plays that she has taken part in are "A Thousand Years Ago," "The Blue Bird," "The First Born," "The Garden of Cypress" and various other small plays produced both at the Forest Theater and at the Arts and Crafts Hall.

San Benito County C. of C. Reorganization

HOLLISTER, Nov. 3.—The San Benito County Chamber of Commerce has announced today a program of reorganization. J. H. Blackmore, western representative of the American City Bureau, to take charge of the campaign.

The chamber was to have launched the campaign in July, but owing to pressure of business in connection with the bumper crops of the orchardists and farmers, the board of directors, headed by Dr. J. M. O'Donnell, decided to postpone the campaign until this fall.

Great success has attended the chamber's publicity campaign during 1922, the chief feature being the taking of several reels of motion pictures of the county's industries and beauty spots, copies of which are being run regularly by booster bodies in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Crippled Boy Sent to New England Home

STOCKTON, Nov. 9.—Clifford Landry, 17, who lost both legs by falling beneath a freight train in the Tracy yards while heading his way last August, left yesterday for his home in New York. He has been in the Emergency Hospital ever since. His chum, Walter Elkins, accompanied him on his long journey home. Through the Y. M. C. A. and the Lions' club the lads were enabled to make the trip easy. They started out to see the world and return disillusioned.

Patterson Constable Wins By Two Votes

MODESTO, Nov. 9.—Probably the closest race in the state election was the one for constable of Patterson. Ingols Torvond won by a lead of two votes. He defeated J. M. Smith by a count of 325 to 323.

For some time prior to the election it was obvious that the race would be close and a narrow margin was expected.

Woman Defeated for Justice of Peace

MODESTO, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Abbe Knowlton of Waterford, who aspired to be the first woman justice of the peace in the San Joaquin valley, lost by 45 votes. She was defeated by L. D. Chapin. The vote was 344 to 339.

B. J. Horsman was elected constable of Waterford township by a vote of 505 against 251 for L. C. Welton.

Colusa Club Plans Drive for Members

WOODLAND, Nov. 9.—The Colusa Social Club has named the following committee to plan a membership campaign: Mrs. J. N. Boles and C. D. McCormish, A. Fend, A. B. Davison, R. F. Harper, Roy Turner and Dr. E. L. Hickok.

The greatest SUIT OR OVERCOAT in AMERICA!

The one tremendous purpose of Foreman and Clark, which success hasn't altered, growth hasn't changed, which time can't budge and which all the money in the world will never buy, is just exactly this:

To buy and sell clothing in such a way that any man, anywhere, can buy it, and that any garment, in any of our upstairs stores from coast to coast, represents less selling cost and more value by at least $10 than any other brand of clothes, in any other selling institution in the world.

Such a purpose, backed by coast to coast facilities, enables Foreman and Clark to do more with a suit of clothes than any other manufacturer producing clothes to sell at $10 to $30 higher!

Who else can put $50 woolsens into clothes at $25, $30 and $35? Who else can put 36 hand operations into the construction of a suit or overcoat? Who else can sew with the finest silk and linen threads, trim with the finest Skinners' Satin, line with the richest genuine mohair, and style in New York's newest and most exclusive models?

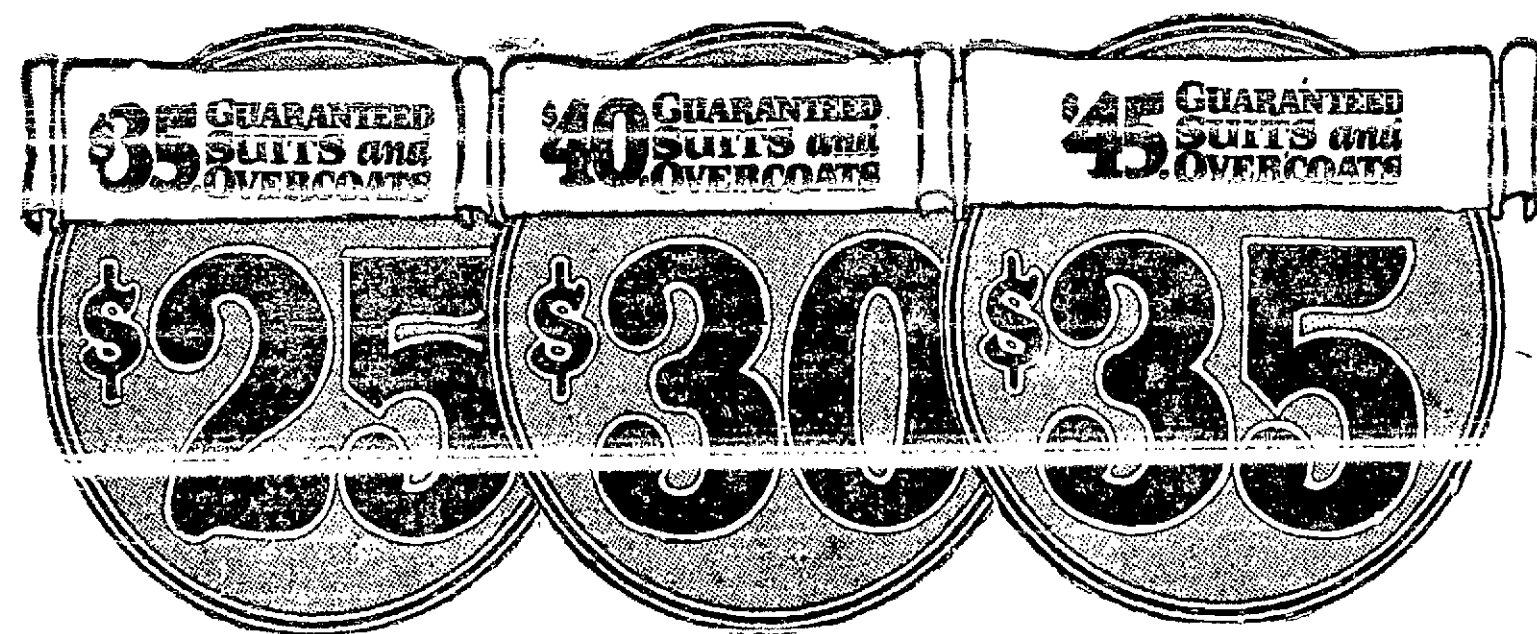

Who else can personally build each inner front to fit each individual garment — instead of buying fronts in bunches and "making" them fit, willy nilly? Who else can rip out every inch of cheap cotton canvas and replace it with genuine white linen canvas? Who else can put silver Hymo inside the lapels and pure Belgian haircloth into the front?

Who else can hand-fit every garment, hand-press every seam, hand-shape every shoulder, hand-cut every edge, hand-fell every collar, hand-set every sleeve, hand-cut and hand-stitch every button hole? Just ask any clothing merchant what these seven operations . . . out of a total of 36 hand operations in making F. & C. clothes . . . would make the average garment cost!

Foreman and Clark climbed to the top by making friends. We have built this business with 83 per cent repeat customers. We started with $310 and a little upstairs room. Today we do a $10,000,000 annual business in a chain of upstairs stores from coast to coast!

Today the same personal warmth and friendly interest that lifted our first little store into this nation-wide success . . . prevails in all our dealing with the public. A member of the firm is on the floor at all times. We meet every customer personally, treat him courteously, regard him as our friend. We must make you BOOST for us or we cannot profit on your purchase. We will never be too big to remember that the future of this business hinges on each individual sale. And that goes as long as Foreman and Clark are Foreman and Clark!

Note: These Foreman and Clark prices are guaranteed prices. They do not fluctuate or vary. They are never boosted up or marked down. They will be the same next January as they are today. You do not have to WAIT for rock-bottom prices at Foreman and Clark. We give every man the same treatment and value whether he buys at the beginning of the season or the end. That's our idea of fair play.
